Nearly 200 Farm Ponds Are Nearing Completion

Construction of nearly 200 farm ponds for drouth relief in Kentucky and Tennessee will be completed by October 15, J. D. Parsons, agriculture engineer, Soil Conservation Service, announced today. Parsons, who is in immediate charge of the work, returned to Dayton yesterday after spending 10 days supervising the projects.

Of the reservoirs under construction, 92 are in Kentucky and 95 in Tennessee. The ponds are small, usually from four to six feet deep, and are constructed with earth-fill dams and vegetative, masonry, or concrete spillways. Some will have only about one-acre-foot capacity, although Parsons reports that one dam will back up water more than a mile in a small intermittent stream.

Majority of the water conservation ponds are being built in communities which are dependent upon surface water, Parsons said. Farmers supply tractors and teams where possible, with the Soil Conservation Service providing technical supervision for hand labor. Approximately 1,400 relief laborers are now at work on these projects in the two states. The ponds are built on private farms, but landowners must agree to public use of water so impounded in time of emergency.

"Construction of these farm ponds may save hundreds of farmers from destitution," Parsons said. "Some counties in Tennessee have had no rains since April. Although rains in July provided temporary relief to most sections, the second drouth period has really proved more serious than the first."

Where possible, the reservoirs are being constructed below woodlots or meadows to prevent silting, Parsons explained.

Never Before Could You Telephone "Long Distance" So Cheaply as Now

The latest long distance rate reduction, effective September 1, was the seventh reduction voluntarily made by the Company in the past ten years, and will save telephone users many millions of dollars.

You can now talk on station-to-station service a distance of 50 miles for as little as 35c or 1000 miles for $1.85 and greater or less distances at a correspondingly low cost.

Telephoning is the quick, easy, economical and personal way to keep in close touch with out-of-town relatives and friends. There is no more satisfactory and pleasing way to extend sympathy or congratulations, greetings or invitations to out-of-town friends and acquaintances, than by long distance telephone.

Isn't there someone, somewhere, father, mother, brother, sister or friend who would be made happier by hearing your voice and talking to you tonight? Ask "Long Distance" for rates.

Hello Neighbor

Why shouldn't you, and we—THE LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE RAILROAD—call each other Neighbor? Isn't your town, our town? Your problems and your welfare identical with ours?

Our family is a large one—26,000 of us spending over $40,000,000 in wages annually among you. Perhaps some of us live near you. Perhaps you or your friends sell us supplies, the equipment and other materials for which we spend additional millions of dollars yearly.

Like you, we pay taxes—taxes that help support your schools, your institutions and other functions of government. Coal? We buy hundreds of thousands of tons every year. Furniture? Food? Household gadgets? We buy all of these, so that we can give service and make our guests feel fully at home.

You strive for a good home. So do we—a "Home Sweet Home on the Rails"—a cool, clean, comfortable, courteous, safe home, to which thousands of travelers turn every day.

We aren't just buildings and steel and trains. We aren't just the roaring locomotive sounding its kindly whistle to make you careful at dangerous crossings. We aren't just the most comfortable and safest means of travel. We are home folk, spending our money with you... for your products, in your community... furnishing a necessary service and asking your patronage only if we merit it. We are your Neighbor... Let's be better friends.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE RAILROAD

She's TRAVELING ON THE Safest CARRIER IN THE WORLD

Perhaps you saw in front-page headlines, last year's record of railroad safety. Yet this was only the peak record of many years' like achievement. The American railroads have been the safest form of transportation, public or private, for many years; insurance statistics prove that you are actually far less likely to suffer harm on a modern railroad train than even in your own home. This doesn't just happen. The railroads are safe because they pioneered and have practiced Safety First for thirty years. They are safe even at their present stepped-up speeds, because they are modern.
ASSOCIATION of AMERICAN RAILROADS

Not a passenger has been killed in an L & N train accident in over 18 years.

Use Good Sense In Feeding Cows

In the use of high-priced feeds, no rule can take the place of common sense, remarks Prof. Fordyce Ely, head of the dairy department of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture in a circular called, "Feeding Dairy Cows."

A half-grain ration, that is a pound of grain to 5 or 6 pounds of milk, may be the practical solution to a problem of high-priced feed, he says. Full-feeding of grain calls for a pound to 2 1-2 to 4 pounds of milk.

The grain, of course, is controlled by the amount of pasture and hay available. Dairy farmers with an abundance of pasture and good legume hay sometimes get along with practically no grain. A 1,000-pound cow may be expected to eat 20 to 30 pounds of good alfalfa or other legume hay daily. The more hay she eats the less grain she needs.

Pasture and hay are the principal feeds in milk making. As a rule, the size of the herd should be suited to the farm. Unless butterfat or milk brings relatively high prices, the dairy herd should be limited by the pasture and legume hay the farm can produce.

MILK PRODUCTION

Production of milk on farms in Kentucky totaled 196,110,208 gallons in 1934, a special report of the 1935 federal farm census released a few days ago shows. Shelby county was the leading milk producer, with Jefferson county second. Graves county third.

Butter churned on farms in the state in 1934 totaled 24,349,225 pounds, nearly a million and a half pounds increase over 1929. Pulaski, Pike and Christian were the leading butter making counties.

Fayette, Scott, Franklin, Anderson, Mercer, Jessamine, Shelby and Bourbon all showed decreases in milk production in 1934 from 1929. Boyle and Garrard counties showed increases.

A baby in California only one foot long and weighing less than a pound when born is said to have a good chance to survive. The infant is normal in every way except in size.

Lesson for October 18

THE SPOKEN AND THE WRITTEN WORD

LESSON TEXT—Acts 17:1, 5-11; I Thessalonians 2:7-12.

GOLDEN TEXT—The Word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword. Heb. 4:12.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When People Read the Bible.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Power of Jesus' Name.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How May I Win Others to Christ?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Evangelism and the Bible.

The persecution at Philippi served not to discourage Paul and Silas, but rather to send them forward into new territory with the gospel message. Passing through two cities they came to Thessalonica, then as now a city of considerable importance. After a successful though stormy ministry there they journeyed forty miles to Berea, where the Word was gladly received.

The portion of our lesson from the Book of Acts relates how the Word was preached and received in these two cities, and the excerpt from the letter which Paul later wrote to the Thessalonian church shows what manner of life the preacher sought to live among them.

I. Preaching the Word (Acts 17:1, 5-8).

Paul's experience at Thessalonica presents an excellent illustration of

1. How the Word should be preached (vv. 1, 5-8).

This section is incomplete without verses 2-4, which are omitted from the printed portion but should be included in the study of the lesson. Notice four things concerning his preaching.

a. The place (v. 1). Paul went to the synagogue, not by chance or because it was a great religious holiday, but because it was his "custom." The synagogue was the center of Jewish worship, and there Paul met those who were ready to receive the Word of God.

Some Christians are content to remain comfortably in church and forget to go out into the highways and hedges, but there are others who have become so accustomed to going elsewhere that they neglect the opportunity for spiritual ministry in the church.

b. The method (vv. 2-3). "Reasoning from the Scriptures." No better method has ever been devised. It is God's method. Let us get back to exposition of the Scriptures—"opening" them to men and women, "alleging," or setting it in order the truth.

c. The subject (v. 3). He preached three fundamental doctrines—the atonement, the resurrection, and the deity of Christ. Scripture preaching will be doctrinal.

d. The result (vv. 4-8). Faithful preaching of God's Word brings one of two results in the hearts of men—they are either "persuaded" and converted, or they become angry and persecute. Those who rightly received the truth were glad to join with Paul; the others raised a hue and cry because Paul and Silas were turning "the world upside down." As a matter of fact the world was already wrongside up, and Paul sought to set it right.

It is still upside down in our day.

Coming to Berea, we find Paul's experience there an illustration of

2. How the Word should be received (vv. 9-11).

Good hearers are as important as good preachers. How should the Word be received?

a. With readiness of mind (v. 11). This is a mark of nobility. The world regards the sophisticated doubter as the learned man, but he is not. Noble is the mind and heart that receives God's truth.

b. Carefully and thoughtfully (v. 11). There would be less error and folly in the pulpit if there were more intelligent Bible study in the pew. Do not assume that what some learned professor, or distinguished radio preacher says is true. Check his message by the Word.

In the final portion of our lesson Paul tells the Thessalonians that when he was with them he was concerned not only about preaching the Word, but also about

II. Living the Life (I Thess. 2:7-12).

Paul did not contradict his preaching by his living. His was a

1. Sacrificial service (vv. 7-9).

The man who preaches for his own glory—or gain—is not a true preacher of the gospel.

2. Consistent example (vv. 10-12).

The minister of Christ must behave "holily, righteously, and unblamably" if his people are to "walk worthy of God."
