CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Christ Jesus' dominion over materialism will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christ Jesus" will include the following from Matthew (15:30): "And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (482:19): "Jesus was the highest human concept of the perfect man. He was inseparable from Christ, the Messiah,—the divine idea of God outside the flesh. This enabled Jesus to demonstrate his control over matter. Angels announced to the Wisemen of old this dual appearing, and angels whisper it, through faith, to the hungering heart in every age."

PENSE increased from $16.8 billion to $21.6 billion.

Farm Income. During the same period, receipts from farm marketing dropped almost a billion dollars, cutting the amount farmers had to spend for non-operational purposes from $13.2 billion to $7.6 billion, or almost half. The parity ratio of prices received by farmers dropped 2 points since last year and now stands at 82 per cent.

Even with agriculture in this plight many non-farm people still think that farming is a highly subsidized, inefficient business. Had the same conditions existed in any other major segment of our economy the capitol would be over-run with lobbyists and pressure groups.

Off The Farm They Go. Because of the unfavorable conditions in agriculture there was a net movement of 125,000 people away from Kentucky farms between 1950 and 1954. This migration is desirable from the standpoint of agriculture but is detrimental to the state unless gainful employment can be found in Kentucky for those who are being forced off the farm. Small country towns without industrial payrolls are already feeling the effect of declining population. It is for that reason that industrial education and development is so important to all of us in Kentucky.

The Corn Top's Ripe

In Case Al Portwood's Ballard agents don't know how hot a concoction they're handing when they seize a batch of illegal whiskey, here's Irvin Cobb's description of Kentucky Moonshine "It smells like garrisone starting in a mildewed cellar, it tastes like the wrath to come, and when you absorb a deep snort of it you have all the sensations of having swallowed a lighted kerosene lamp. A sudden violent jolt of it has been known to stop the victim's watch, snapp both his suspenders and crack his glass eye right across—all in the same motion."

. . . . I Recall when the floor of our one-room school was swept with brush gathered in a nearby woods. Also, I recall when a handfull of elder bushes was sometimes placed near food to keep away flies which didn't like the elder smell.—Jane Fay Lexington.

Farm facts FOR KENTUCKY FOLKS

by Wm. C. Johnstone
AGRICULTURAL REPRESENTATIVE
KENTUCKY BANKERS ASSOCIATION

DECEMBER—1956

Now that the big quadrennial show is over it is well to look back at some of the true facts about agriculture. While conditions on the farm may not be as bad as sometimes pictured they are worse than the non-farm population is often led to believe. The main thing that worries the farmer now is how to adjust the rising cost of production to declining income. Typical examples are these:

Production Costs. For each $100 paid for TAXES in 1956 the farmer now pays $163; for each $100 paid in 1947 INTEREST on real estate debts he paid $177 in 1955; and for each $100 owed on SHORT TERM DEBTS then he now owes $226. So when he pays higher interest rates His total interest payments on all debts is expected to reach $1 billion by January 1957. For each $100 needed for LIVING and OPERATING in 1947 he now needs $115. Of all the things that farmers have to buy only those produced on the farm such as seed, feed and livestock have declined in prices. Among manufactured items bought only fertilizer prices have kept in line with farm prices. MACHINERY COSTS are up 40 per cent. Since 1947 the farmer's total PRODUCTION EX-
