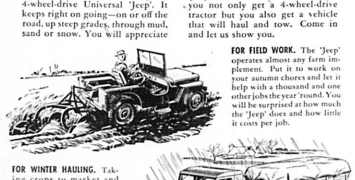
ONE FARM VEHICLE YOU CAN COUNT ON IN ANY WEATHER



Metal top is optional at extra cost

It takes much more than rough weather and bad roads to stop the 4-wheel-drive Universal 'Jeep'. It keeps right on going—on or off the road, up steep grades, through mud, sand or snow. You will appreciate the all-around usefulness of the 'Jeep', too. When you buy a 'Jeep' you not only get a 4-wheel-drive tractor but you also get a vehicle that will haul and tow. Come in and let us show you.

FOR FIELD WORK. The 'Jeep' operates almost any farm implement. Put it to work on your autumn chores and let it help with a thousand and one other jobs the year 'round. You will be surprised at how much the 'Jeep' does and how little it costs per job.

FOR WINTER HAULING. Taking crops to market and bringing supplies out from town is all in a day's work to the Universal 'Jeep'. It carries up to 1,200 pounds in its sturdy steel bed—and it will tow 2½ tons at highway speeds.

LET'S GO MERCY KILLING

How about all those poor incurables who do nothing but suffer and cost a tidy sum for their upkeep. Lets get out our lethal gas and put some of them mercifully "away".

Here's a case in Washington, D. C.—a lady permanently injured when a school girl, lying on her back for more than 50 years, and positively incurable. But hold off the chloroform. Let's lean the record. Fifty years before, this helpless girl had time to think and plan and pray and so founded the Christ Child Society, which from her bed she directed from then on. Branches grew up in more than 30 cities. If 50 years before someone had "mercifully" gassed her, what about those thousands of needy and handicapped children whom her society cares for yearly? Let's let this incurable live on, for surely her's is an exceptional case—

Well here's another one—not nearly so dramatic—quite a common place, in fact. In a home for incurables he lies, flat on his back, unable to move aught but his head. So he has been for 10 years. So he may be for 40 years more. But hold off that poison. I have intimate knowledge of the case. Let me tell you.

Jimmy smiles when you visit him and my, how he enjoys nonsense. He's loath to talk about his illness but should you gain his confidence, he would tell you how gladly he accepts cramps in his immovable legs when he looks at other immovable legs over there on a crucifix on the wall—how readily he accepts the tortures of a fly walking down his face, when he thinks of blood drops trickling down the face of the Redeemer, who also was powerless to move his hands. Jimmy is an outstanding exemplification of the Catholic teaching of the acceptance of the suffering which God permits—or the offering up of our own agonies with Christ's agonies in reparation for ours and the sins of all other men.

No, I'll not mercy kill Jimmy. His example and his prayers mean too much to me. No, I'll not take from any man the right to live and fulfill his destiny as God has planned it. I'll not take from the world one who suffers for the world. And besides "mercy killing" is out and out killing—murder! You can't get around it. It's there in the Bible, your Bible and my Bible—in God's own words. Look it up—Exodus 23:7 —"The innocent and the just person thou shalt not put to death."

Plain enough, isn't it?

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "Rejoice the soul of thy servant; for unto thee, O Lord, do I lift up my soul." (Ps. 86:4)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Now he that hath wrought us for the self-same thing, is God, who also hath given unto us the earnest of the Spirit . . . We are confident, I say, and willing to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord." (II Cor. 5:5,8)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When you say, 'Man's body is material,' I say with Paul: Be 'willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord.' Give up your material belief of mind in matter, and have but one Mind, even God; for this Mind forms its own likeness." (P. 216)

Recipe of the Week

Of course there will be pumpkin pie for the Thanksgiving dinner! But for a delightful change, try this chiffon pumpkin pie recipe from the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky. Salted nuts make a nice accompaniment.

Chiffon Pumpkin Pie
1 tablespoon gelatin
¼ cup cold water
3 egg yolks
2-3 cup brown sugar
1¼ cups cooked pumpkin
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon vanilla
3 egg whites
1-3 cup white sugar
Baked pie shell

Soak the gelatin in cold water. Beat egg yolks, add brown sugar, pumpkin, salt, spices, vanilla, and milk. Cook in double boiler over hot water for about 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from fire and add gelatin. Stir until melted, then cool. Beat egg whites until foamy, then gradually add white sugar. Beat until stiff. Fold into cold pumpkin mixture and pour into baked pie shell or six individual pie shells. Let set in refrigerator for three to four hours. Serve with sweetened whipped cream.

College Radio Schedule

"Meat Canning" is the subject to be discussed Nov. 22, at 12:45 p. m., over radio station WHAS by Mrs. Pearl Haak, canning authority at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky. Succeeding radio programs at that hour will be: Nov. 23, Grady Sellards, "The Home Pork Supply;" Nov. 24, Robert H. Ford, "Farm Newscast," and Nov. 26, "Questions from Farm People." On Nov. 27 at 11:45 a. m., Miss Vivian Curpuil will discuss "Planning Room Color Schemes."

H. C. Campbell of Perry county markets about 50 dozen eggs each week in Hyland.

Boyle county farmers reached their goal of 1,000 acres of alfalfa seedings in their spring and fall plantings.

BIBLE COMMENT

Parables of Jesus Will Always Be Needed in World

A PARABLE is a story told to teach a lesson or illustrate a truth.

The Gospel records show how extensively and effectively it was used by Jesus as He taught the multitudes who pressed to hear His words. But the parable is such an old way of teaching that it was a form widely used in the East, as in Aesop's famous fables.

What is unique in the parables of Jesus is their quality, their simplicity and perfection in expressing what Jesus had to declare, and in the greatness of the truth itself.

"That is a point that cannot be too strongly stressed in appreciating the greatness and power of those parables. I suppose that thousands of sermons have been preached upon such parables as those of The Prodigal Son, and The Good Samaritan, sermons that have used up hundreds of words for each of the comparatively few in the original stories.

But it is doubtful whether all these sermons have added anything to the effectiveness of the simple stories as told by Jesus in making known the message of God's love.

What was it that made these parables of Jesus so effective? And what is it that keeps them fresh and new today?

Perhaps the fact that the stories are true to life. If they had been inventing what couldn't have happened, the stories would have lost their force. But the stories, whether of actual occurrences or of details chosen to make plain the message, are so true to human experience. They live today with a power as real in our modern setting as in their ancient setting.

It is this element of universality that underlies their persistent freshness. The parables are ageless in their relation, as they are universal in their human outreach. At any time, anywhere in the world, among any race or people, they would still have their message. That is why they are unique and why they will always be needed in a world that lags so far behind in the appropriation of their truth.
