HERE'S HOW . . .

MAKE A TELEVISION TURN-TABLE

A television table with revolving top allows the set to be turned to best advantage.

All lumber used is 1-inch stock. The legs are shaped from 1 by 4-inch boards, as are the leg supports. A slot is cut in the center of each leg support and the corners are joined by right-angle cross. The dowel holes are ⅜-inch in diameter.

Complete the leg assembly by inserting and gluing the dowels and clamping it until the glue sets. Then bore a ⅜-inch hole down through the center of the leg support.

The turn-table plates are 18 inches in diameter, with a ⅜-inch center hole. Edge give narrower stock to produce a surface from which the plates may be cut. Sand the stock smooth on both faces.

Place the lazy Susan bearing bolt in the center of one plate. Bore a hole in the center of the under side of the table for the bolt head. Fasten the plate between the table top with glue and 1¼-inch screws, countersunk.

Mount the other plate on the leg assembly with glue and screws.

The table-top assembly is placed on the leg assembly with the bolt serving as a pivot. Lubricate the plates with soap.

"Different" Gift

By Sandra Endicott

Everyone yearns to find original Christmas gifts that will give their receivers pleasure and satisfaction and their donors pride. It is axiomatic that the best present is the most thoughtful one; while an ample budget simplifies gift giving and saves time, it doesn't follow that the most splendid offering is the most satisfying. Thought is the priceless ingredient of every present. So if you will analyze the nature of each person on your Christmas list and try to suit the gift to his tastes, you are almost certain to be successful.

The following suggestions are to stimulate your own imagination.

For a family

1. American flag for holiday use
2. A weather vane—an old one or one of the new moderns designs
3. A sturdy mailbox deep blue bearing family name or street address
4. A cool lamp over card table or breakfast table, installed
5. A set of beautiful cast-iron, enameled kitchenware, in orange, powder blue, or green

For the man in your life

1. A necktie with a design to suit his trade or background—Guidoreni for a doctor, scales for a lawyer, ink bottle and quill for a journalist. For a person of Irish extraction, neckties with clan symbols and a short history of the insignia and the motto are available, as are neckties for Scots.
2. A shirt with a pleated bosom for dress occasions available in soft fabrics in white or blue
3. Cuff links made from antique coins or old buttons. Some coins bear the initials of kings, which may match your man's
4. His family history, with special attention to the area in which he was born, neatly typed, illustrated with as many old photographs as you can garner from his relatives and placed in a leather notebook. This project takes research, and you may have to start in now and give the notebook to him for a Christmas 1955.

For a beloved woman

1. A beautiful enameled European decoration, order, or medal (usually available in America from antiquarians, coin collectors and sometimes jewelers who handle antiques) to wear as a pendant, on a belt, or as a pin. There is a wide range of sizes, prices and degrees of splendor
2. A slender wallet for dress occasions, of black satin, brocade, or silk faille. Some are decorated with petit point, embroidered flowers, or medallions of black lace. There are matching coin purses to hold mad money, cases for eyeglasses, compact cases, and comb cases
3. A good-sized beaded handbag of bronze beads for all afternoon and evening occasions Bronze seems to go with every color. Such a bag is a classic, lasts forever
4. A mink or ermine collar to wear with a sweater, wool dress, or high-necked suit.

Reminder Given On New Licenses

County Clerk John F. Volz reminded motorists that 1955 motor vehicle license plates should not be displayed prior to December 29, 1954, though the plates have already been placed on sale.

The plates have white numbers on a blue background and again carry the slogan, "Four Kentucky."

University Group Presents 'Messiah'

The University of Kentucky Chorus and Orchestra gave its annual presentation of Handel's "Messiah," this week on the UK campus. This performance was the final Christmas program to be presented at UK, prior to the annual holiday period. Directing the Chorus and Orchestra was Prof. Alimo Kiviniemi of the UK Department of Music.

President Of Co-Op In Good Condition

The president of the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-Operative Association, John W. Jones, of North Middletown, was listed in satisfactory condition last week at Good Samaritan hospital. He underwent surgery at the hospital Monday.
