Childrens Pics Taken Free Friday

Friday, February 26 is the big day for the picture taking of your youngsters! The Carlisle Mercury is having pictures taken of all children who are brought by their parents or other guardian to the Bourbon Laundry between 10 a. m. and 5 p. m. absolutely free of charge. The Weitz Studios of Des Moines, Iowa, nationally known children's photographers who have taken these pictures for us in previous years will again be in charge of the photography.

The Mercury wants a picture of your child to print in its forthcoming feature "Citizens of Tomorrow", a series of photographic studies of local children. The more we get the better the feature will be, so the cooperation of the mothers and fathers are urged.

It often seems to parents that children are little one minute and are grown up the next, so fast does a child's growing stage pass. Here is a splendid opportunity to catch a likeness of your child or children at the present stage for the pleasure you will get out of it in future years and for the pleasure you will enjoy in seeing it in print. You will want to clip it from this, your home town newspaper, and preserve it for the youngster when he or she grows up.

There is absolutely no charge or obligation for taking the pictures. Parents don't even have to be a subscriber to The Mercury nor even a reader. You do not have to purchase pictures either, though you may obtain additional prints by arranging direct with the Studio representative if you want them. That is entirely up to you!

ACP Report Deadline Extended

The time for accepting Kentucky farmers' performance reports on conservation practices carried out in the 1953 Agricultural Conservation Program has been extended to March 1, 1954, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation state committee announced here today.

Receipts for materials used are required as a part of farmers' reports on practices carried out in the 1953 program which closed on December 31.

On materials supplied through the ACP — such as lime and phosphate, a report is required whether a payment is due the farmer or not.

The original closing date for reports on 1953 practices in the program was February 15 but a two-week extension has been granted because of the heavy workload at this time on acreage allotments and other programs.

Approximately 140,000 Kentucky farmers participated in the program last year. A record total of 179,356 enrolled but it is estimated that about 20 percent did not adopt approved practices.

Farmer Has Big Stock In Highway Safety Program

Rural areas of the United States will be major proving grounds for a nationwide attack on automobile accidents, it has become evident in the discussions at the White House Conference on Highway Safety, which convened in Washington, D. C., Wednesday, Feb. 10.

President Eisenhower opened the Conference sessions, stressing the need for urgent action, and for effective citizen leader hip.

An estimated 3,000 people, representing every state in the Union, are attending sessions lasting through Friday. Their aim is to develop a program aimed at reducing the traffic accident toll by 40 per cent during 1954. On the basis of the 1952 and 1953 death totals of more than 38,000 per year, this would mean a saving of nearly 15,000 lives.

Reports to the delegates, based upon carefully-conducted studies, indicated that more than two out of every three highway deaths are occurring on rural roads, and in small towns and villages.

One of the seven basic groups holding panel sessions to determine what can be done to reduce accidents on the highways is the Agriculture Group.

In pledging support to the safety program, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson pointed out that no one has a bigger stake in highway safety than the farmer. He said:

"He must use the highways in all kinds of weather, in all kinds of traffic and in all kinds of vehicles — the automobile, the truck, the tractor. And I can't think of any business whose production and distribution is hampered or disrupted more by an accident than the farm industry. The farmer traditionally is almost always short of help. An accident to himself or to one of his helpers can really hurt.

"And yet farm residents suffer more fatal motor vehicle accidents than any other type of accident. Some of these tragedies are caused by farm people themselves. Many others are caused by non-farm residents who use the highways that go by farms.

"The huge waste of vital farm manpower and material resources caused by accidents must be stopped. I am sure I can pledge the active help of the farm people of America in stopping them."

The death toll of rural highway accidents, including those in suburban areas, is more than 27,000 — more than 2½ times the number killed in urban sections, according to studies by safety organizations.

Hello folks,

"February is a big month for Beauty . . . February 21-28 marks the 4th observance of National Beauty Salon Week.

Beauty is a morale Builder—medical authorities place great importance on beauty as a morale builder for institutionalized women and girls. One of the most worthwhile N. B. S. Week projects, is a program of professional beauty services for residents of hospitals, orphanages, homes for aged and mental institutions. Some of the Beauticians of Carlisle will go to the Nicholas Co. Convalescent Home and give free "hair-do's" to the patients there.

I have just attended the annual Convention of National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association in Louisville and profited much by watching hairstylists and make up artists from New York and Hollywood "do their stuff" on models from our group of Kentucky beauticians.

Be sure to come in the shop for your favorite beauty treatment whether it be hair do-manicure-facial-arch or any of the many services your professional Beautician can render during the week of Feb. 21-28. You will be served with refreshments and also get to register for a chance on a free Helene Curtis Cold Wave.

Call 44-J Now for appointment.

Well groomed women every where depend on Professional Beauty Care.
