LAWSON GETS DEATH SENTENCE

NEGRO CHARGED WITH MURDER AT SHELBYVILLE IS CONVICTED ON SHORT NOTICE.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY SESSION

Harrodsburg Entertains the Second Annual Meeting of the Women's Missionary Society — Interesting Talks Are Delivered.

Shelbyville—Within thirty minutes after Commonwealth's Attorney Sam Ford had concluded his argument in the trial of Tom Lawson, charged with the murder of Hardin Ingram, a negroid character, the jury, the judge imposed a death sentence. On the first ballot all of the jurors were found agreed for conviction, and on the second, to determine the degree of punishment, eleven voted for death and one for life imprisonment. On the third ballot a unanimous verdict was reached. Lawson's attorneys will appeal to the court, the ground being for their contention being that one of the jurors, Harry Gaines, had previously expressed an opinion that a defendant deserved the death penalty. As affidavit to that effect was filed at the conclusion of the testimony, and a motion made to discharge the jury, which was overruled by the court. The trials of Tom Martin, alias "Bud" Dickerson, and Warren Wade, under indictment for the same crime, were set for hearing recently, but the prosecution in that case and both will be continued. At this time it would be almost impossible to secure a jury to try either without summoning a special venire, because of the precautions taken by Judge Marshall in placing guards at the jail averted the danger of lynching, which was the reason so apprehend, and the night before the sentence of Martin and Lawson and Martin were both returned to the Louisville jail for safekeeping.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

There were three sessions daily, the reports of the various secretaries having been most encouraging. Mrs. Thomas Boyle, of Nashville, manager of the central division of the Women's Home Mission society, spoke on "Our Forward Movement." The Rev. J. C. Morrison, president of Asbury College, delivered an educational service. His address, The World Is Our Parish, was replete with interesting and instructive. About 100 delegates were present, all of them from the district covered by the Kentucky conference. Mrs. Boyle, of Nashville, vice president, Miss Maud Hain, Lexington, secretary, Miss Mrs. H. H. Lowry, Nicholasville, fourth vice president, Mrs. J. J. Harrison, Lexington.

One of the persons thus intimidated, it is said, have threatened was Sidney Offutt, who recently was shot from ambush and horsed barn. When Lancaster met Offutt he is alleged to have slapped one hand on his hip pocket as if to draw a weapon. This led to the issuance of an order for Lancaster's arrest. When Deputy Sheriff Milligan Fleming and Deputy Sheriff Jones did attempted to make the arrest on a continuance, the defendant was violently resisted, the grand jury and circuit judge interested. The Lancaster's community is wrought up over this affair, and state Senator Marshall Dennis is said to have had the burning of Lancaster's barn in his mind when he

The recommendation, Mr. Speck said the teachers in Louisville salaries are of great merit, and the cost of the teaching force is well up to the good average in other cities. The salaries in Louisville are lower than in any other city of the same size. It was also announced that there has been no general raise in the salaries of teachers for years. The cost of living has increased materially in the last ten years, and it is only fair to allow the teachers a raise.
