Candier Loves Horses

Walter Candier, son of Ace G. Candier, the Atlanta (Ga.) millionaire, who is striving to develop the finest racing stable in the South, has just added 11 racing horses to his stable near Decatur, Ga., bringing the total of racing horses up to 60. Although many times a millionaire, Mr. Candier is a con Brand lover of horses. In the photograph is shown Mr. Candier driving "Napoleon," one of his fine racing horses, on his own track at Decatur.

COUNTY CHRISTIAN CHURCHES AND BIBLE SCHOOLS

G. H. Neal, President

The Bible school is without doubt one of the greatest organizations within the church, for through the Bible school the church gets 75 per cent of her converts to Christ. Therefore we see that the Bible school work is the greatest on the world. So brother superintendent and teachers, let us get busy and touch the word of God everywhere we go, for the Christians, who have gone, even though scattered, were almost everywhere preaching the word. Let us all do as they did. If we do it will not be long until our churches are crowded on each Lord's day. Work and pray and invite your neighbors and friends to church and Bible school, and then watch us grow.

There were 76 present and collection of $1.11 at Mt. Zion Sunday. Jacksboro had 63 present, collection $1.57, and Carlisle Christian had 229 present with $27.81 collection.

We will observe next Sunday, June 1, as decision day at Mt. Zion. Bro. Depew will preach for us at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m.

EDUCATED CRIMINALS

There are 7,000 college educated men in this country's jails, according to statistics collected by John Hopkins university. Forgery, confidence schemes, frauds and swindles of various kinds, were the offenses most commonly charged against these educated criminals.

This is a rather small proportion of the college graduates of the country. Still these figures demonstrate that book knowledge and mental training are not enough. Schools and colleges must give training in character as well as theoretical knowledge. A course of study that does not make young folks want to live clean and straight has failed to meet their deepest needs.—Georgetown News.

energy. "It was four of that man who has hounded me for twenty years."

He leaned forward and thrust out his clenched hand toward Mr. Wilt, who rose to his feet slowly.

The lawyer pulled him down and leaped to his feet.

"I object—" he began.

"Not sustained," snapped Crawford. "In what way, and why, has Mr. De Witt hounded you?" inquired Bennett's lawyer "Are you willing to waive privilege and make a full statement in this case?"

"Yes, I'll tell you!" cried Sexton. "That's what I come back for, because I'd rather do a good dog on a gibbet than live the life I have lived since I saw this man last. I've driven a dog. He's driven me from place to place, making me do his dirty work for him. He made me betray the secret of the new amalgam process on the Blettfontein in Johannesburg. He's sent me to jail, and when I've wanted him he was driving one too fast for the law to catch him and he could swing if I preferred to, and by God I would, if I could get him out of hiim—"

"I object to this evidence!" shouted De Witt's lawyer. "These allegations against my client are totally irrelevant, and made to arouse prejudice—"

"Sustained!" shouted Judge Crawford.—"The witness will confine himself to evidence bearing upon the alleged theft of the stones."

"Tell the court the story of your relations with Mr. De Witt in so far as they relate to your theft of the diamonds," said Brown.

"When I came to Malopo," answered Sexton, "my pal had wrote me that Mr. De Witt was gone for good. So I went back. But I met him in the street and he recognized me. He said he thought I was dead there. As the result of an argument between the two of us one morning, after we had arrived Mr. De Witt came to me and offered me a job and I had to get money, and Mr. Garrett got the control, and I asked Mr. De Witt for another job. I knew what was coming, but I was in his power. He said I was getting, even couldn't stop about my work, just couldn't go, I said

MEAT SUPPLY IN U. S. BREAKS RECORD
The amount of meat served at American tables was larger in 1922 than in any other year of the past 10, according to estimates just published by the Bureau of Animal Industry. The greatest increase was in the use of pork, which was a bumper crop, but there was some increase in the consumption of all other kinds of meat. Beef consumption, particularly Germany, in spite of financial troubles, helped to dispose of the enormous supply of pork. The production and consumption of meat for the year was the greatest in our history, though the consumption per head of the population was exceeded once, namely in 1908. When the figure was 170.9 pounds as compared with 167 pounds in 1922.

THE DOLLAR
In one of Professor Irving Fisher's latest computations the purchasing power of the average man's dollar is rated at 66.6 cents, compared with a pre-war value of 100 cents. According to Professor Fisher the dollar was worth 3.9 cents less in the week of April 25, 1924, than in the week of January 1, 1920.

NERVES ALL UNSTRUNG!
Carlisle Folks Should Find the Cause and Correct It.
Are you worn out? Feel tired, nervous, half-sick? Do you have a constant backache, dizzy twinges of pain, too, with dizzy spells and annoying urinary disorders? Then there's cause for worry and more cause to give your weakened kidneys prompt help. Use Doan's Kidney Pills and strengthen the kidneys. Carlisle folks recommend them for just such troubles.
Mrs. A. Ingram, Dorsey Ave., Carlisle, says: "I suffered from pains in my back, sharp pains the small of my back and when I stooped to pick up anything, sharp pains like the thrust of a knife, darted across my kidneys. Finally, I got so bad I couldn't get up or down and I became nervous and worn out. I had a painful dizzy spell and my eyes blurred and, too, my kidneys were weak and acted too often. Two boxes of Doan's Pills, however, put me of kidney trouble." 60c, at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

MORE AND BETTER LAMBS
It is not in numbers but in quality that Kentucky represents the best in sheep. Some 30,000 corn farms raise a few sheep. It is estimated some 10,000 are becoming expert breeders. Kentucky spring lamb is featured on the menus of the leading hotels in the East. Large credit is due to the State College for the effort being put forth looking toward improved quality and to arouse further interest. Louisville's First annual Spring Lamb Club for Junior Agricultural Clubs is set for June 7th. Many attractive cash prizes will be distributed, not to mention a number of special prizes offered by the Louisville newspapers and prominent business concerns. Louisville has for years been recognized as the largest spring lamb market in the country. It is safe to predict that Kentucky as a lamb producing state will make rapid strides in the next few years.
