KENTUCKY NEWS BRIEFS

Woodford county is to vote on a $200,000 bond issue to erect a new court house.

Republican leaders will gather in Lexington today to launch the campaign of Senator Ernst for re-election.

E. F. Simms' Xalapa Farm yearlings sold at Saratoga Springs last week for $152,400, an average of $2,694.

Official figures of the Republican primary in the Tenth district show that Mrs. Langley won by 4,454 votes.

Fire which damaged the plant of the Danville Ice Cream Company Monday caused a loss estimated at $25,000.

Hugh Bunker, a farmer living near Paris, was killed last week in an automobile accident at Westerville, Ohio.

Lyman Carter, 31, of Lexington, was instantly killed when his automobile collided with another machine on a bridge between Louisville and Livingston last Thursday.

Oldham county voted a $350,000 road bond issue Saturday by an overwhelming vote. 1,411 votes were cast for the bonds and 187 against.

Pushers of Garrard county endeavored at their meeting Saturday the plan of their director, Joseph E. Robinson, to sell the 1926 crop on the green stalk.

Fire at the plant of the Southern Bedding Co., makers of mattresses and pillows, in Lexington, Saturday morning, resulted in a $25,000 loss.

The Blue Grass Fair is drawing large crowds this week and promises to be one of the most successful meetings in the history of the association.

Price quotations on Russian crown jewels dropped rapidly in Boston this week, after three lots bringing from $62 to $1,500 were found to be of the five and ten cent variety.

Every rainy day each member of a congregation at Junction City puts a nickel some for a church building fund. The Lord has been with the builders during the last ten days.

William Stevens and Henry Carpenter were held to the grand jury at Somerville, N. J., charged with the murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills in 1922.

Reports from virtually all counties in the Blue Grass indicate that the tobacco crop has been damaged to a considerable extent by wet cut and rust, due to the recent rains.

A temporary injunction was granted two Cincinnati plaintiffs in the Kentucky circuit court Monday restraining the Kentucky Tax Commission from enforcing the train mileter license law.

Mrs. Annette Mitchell, 58, of Fort Thomas, was drowned near Frankfort Monday, when the automobile in which she was a passenger was caught in a swirling torrent of water as a creek was being forded.

In a temporary order handed down by Judge M. M. Benedum, of the United States court of appeals, Cincinnati, a temporary injunction against W. H. Phelps, state auditor, to restrain him from issuing a tax notice pending final decision by the Franklin court.

W. M. Martin, a Lexington carbinter, was killed when an L. & N. train struck the automobile he was driving at the crossing on the old Frankfort pike, near Lemons, Thursday. It is believed that he was trying to beat the train to the crossing, as the track may be seen for a long distance, and he was killed at the point for a distance of a quarter of a mile.

A new type of clover, known as alsike, or swedish clover was shown members of the Fayette Farmers Union last week by J. W. Adams, a prominent farmer of that county. It was first discovered in Idaho. It is said to make another bloom in October feeding of cattle and it has been successfully grown in Bourbon county.

Members of the Martin county board of education and the superintendent of schools today have filed a bill by the state board of education to appear in Prestonsburg at its school Tuesday morning, September 7, to show cause why they should not be removed from office. Allegations made to comply with the law in keeping financial and other records and employment of teachers not approved by the board are given among the reasons for the order.

Million Kentucky Acres To Alfalfa

State Fair Exhibit Will Show Foundation Has Been Laid

An exhibit which the extension division of the College of Agriculture is preparing for the Kentucky State Fair September 13,18 will declare that the foundation has been laid for a million acres of alfalfa in Kentucky.

Among the arguments in favor of alfalfa growing will appear the following: Kentucky's corn crop averages 26¾ bushels per acre. This amount of corn is approximately equivalent in cash or feeding value to three-fourths of a ton of alfalfa hay. The same acre that produces 26¾ bushels of corn easily can be made to grow 2¾ tons of good alfalfa hay,approximately equivalent in cash or feeding value to 87 bushels of corn.

The exhibit will urge farmers to so manage their land that their crops will make maximum yields, require a minimum of labor costs, make a maximum return for the time and fertilizers used, and be of a nature as to minimize the danger of overproduction. Alfalfa is the crop that does all these things, according to those in charge of preparing the exhibit.

The exhibit will picture what lime and phosphate have done to increase crop yields on experiment fields established over the State by the Experiment Station. Where these fertilizers have been applied soil fertility has been built up and maintained and crop yields greatly increased.

Another feature of the exhibit will show what can be done by simple drainage methods. In more than one instance, increased yield in the first crop has paid for the drainage.

THE LOST WAS FOUND

"When I was a little boy," sweetly piped the hard-boiled sergeant, "I had a set of wooden soldiers the day I lost those soldiers, and I cried very much but my mother said, 'Never mind, Johny! Some day you will get your wooden soldiers back.' And believe me, you march if we also hooded doughboys that day has come."

CLARK COUNTY COMPANY SEEKS $124,918 IN SUIT

The Clark County Construction Company, which was owned by the late David S. Gay, of Winchester, has filed suit in the Franklin Circuit Court against the State Highway Commission to recover $124,918 alleged to be due on an old contract which was let May 11, 1926.

A special act of the legislature was passed at the last session of the General Assembly permitting the company to sue the state.

The case has been in litigation for several years, and is one the only case of its kind ever to come to the courts of the Commonwealth. The case arose over thickness of the macadam layer on the road. The specifications called for two inches of macadam without rolling, while the blue prints called for two inches of macadam after rolling.

The Clark County Construction Company followed the specifications, and the State Highway Commission held that the layer must be two inches in thickness and additional macadam was placed on the road to make it according to the contract, for which the company claimed it was first discovered in Idaho. It is used to make another bloom in October feeding of cattle and it has been successfully grown in Bourbon county.

LIME, PHOSPHATE TESTS

Tests Show Great Value Of These Fertilizers

How limestone and acid phosphate will increase crop yields in certain kinds of soils is shown in the Experiment Station report of tests made at the experimental field maintained in Taylor county.

In a relation of corn, wheat and clover, for average yield of wheat undertaken and was worst on soils to per acre, while on red fertilizer with acid phosphate and limestone on land treated with both lime and acid phosphate the yield was received 29 bushels.

In a relation of tobacco, wheat and clover, the average yield on untreated land was 28 bushels of wheat per acre, while on land fertilized with acid phosphate the yield was 35 bushels, and on land treated with both lime and acid phosphate the yield went to 42 bushels per acre.

The average increase for 100 pounds of wheat, which was produced by the fertilizer was about 20 cents. The average increase for potash added to the fertilizer was about two bushels per acre. The potash was applied at the rate of 100 pounds of muriate of potash per acre in the corn and tobacco preceding the wheat. Acid phosphate was used at the rate of 200 pounds per acre, and limestone at the rate of two tons per acre on corn and tobacco preceding the wheat.

GREEK GOVERNMENT IS OVERTHROWN

The dictatorship of General Theodoras Pangalos, of Greece, was overthrown in a quick and bloodless revolution headed by General Condylis, former Minister of War, last week.

The "Greek Mussolini" himself was arrested this morning and plots of aboard the destroyer Pangamos for conveyance to Athens.

The coup was engineered without disturbances, both Army and Navy rallying to the Condylis standard.

Court Of Appeals To Rule On Law

Harlan Judge Rules Truck Tax is Unreasonable And Discriminatory

Circuit Judge J. D. Forrester rulled the state motor license tax as interpreted by the state tax commissioners, unreasonable and invalid, in refusing to dissolve a temporary injunction granted to A. J. Duncan, of Claiborne county, Tennessee, enjoining the tax commissioners from forcing him to pay a license tax on a truck he operated in Kentucky, at Harlan last week.

A hearing is to be asked by the defendants before the court of appeals.

Judge Forrester ruled that the five imposed a burden upon interstate commerce and was unreasonable and discriminatory.

It was announced at Frankfort that the Kentucky tax commission's enforcement of the law requiring truck owners and operators to secure Kentucky licenses when operating in this state would remain the same and that Judge Forrester's ruling is only local in effect.

Should a majority of the court of appeals sustain his ruling, however, the decision would be sweeping.

LIFE SENTENCE FOR TWO MURDERS

Delbert Gary, aged 27, one of the trio alleged to have killed Rev. Archie M. Moss, evangelist, and his choir singer, Mrs. Jerome Johnson with a single bullet, was sentenced to life imprisonment at Morgantown last Saturday.

The two were murdered on August 2, one bullet killing both as they sang "When the Roll In Call of Up Yonder I'll Be There."

The murdered evangelist's wife and two youngsters was held by the prosecution to have caused the shooting. The jury was out for 2 hours.

He wrote to the editor: "How can I keep postage stamps from sticking together?"

The editor's reply: "Buy them one at a time."

TO DEPORT REMUS.

Government Issues Warrant For Bootlegger

The department of labor issued a warrant this week for George Remus, "King of Bootleggers" as the first steps towards deportation proceedings.

Deportation is sought on the ground that Remus entered this country by means of false and misleading statements; that he is a person likely to become a public charge and that he has been convicted of a felony or other crime involving moral turpitude.

Remus recently served a term in the Atlanta penitentiary for violation of the prohibition act. He is now serving a one-year term in jail for maintaining a nuisance at a farm in Hamilton county, Ohio. He declares the deportation move is idiotic, claiming his father was naturalized in Cook county, Illinois, years ago.

SKIM-MILK TO GLIDE OVER NIAGARA FALLS

Niagara Falls in miniature, with a veritable sea of skim-milk, will flow over the falls of the United State Department of Agriculture at the National Dairy Exposition to be held in Detroit, October 6 to 12, according to a statement issued made by the department to W. E. Skinner, Secretary of the exposition.

The movie display depicts a bootleg still presently the skim milk that is not fully utilized in the United States. Part of this is now being diverted into factories where it is made into products are made, such as cultural buttermilk, enfatogen, powdered skim milk, skim milk powder, casein, milk-sugar and whey powder. The amount of these products is so small that they are floated to the market in a river of skim-milk that is now wasted.

This exhibit will be but one many which will give a complete picture of the dairy industry. Farm Women's Division, Health Show, Home Appliance Display, Boys' and Girls' judging contest, educational organizations judging contests, and a farmers' pageant will be other features of the premier dairy gathering on the American continent.

RAINS MAY SPREAD RUST IN TOBACCO

Although little damage has resulted to tobacco crops so far from the rainy weather during the past two weeks, there is great danger expected if wind-driven rains appear, according to a report made Monday by Prof. E. J. Kinney, of the agronomy department of the University of Kentucky, who stated that wind-driven rains would spread the rust, which has not yet appeared to any great extent.

There is enough rust present in crops now, Professor Kinney stated, to cause considerable damage should the windy-rainy season, which have been absent so far, appear. Previous years have advised that fairly mature tobacco should be harvested as soon as possible, thus gaining a leaf of good quality and preventing complete loss by change of weather conditions.

IN MEMORY OF

Lucille Myers Gaywood, who departed this life August 22, 1925, aged 10 years, 4 months and 4 days. Only one year has passed since Lucille slipped away from us and but how long the time has seemed. Her bereaved ones may not be with us, but we know she should be taken from them so young, but God's way is best and it is a comforting thought to know that a little child has crossed and she is now in heaven beckoning to us to come. We look to God for guidance till we have safely crossed life's river and be safe in the arms of her Savior she lives.

Wonderful grace to her giver, and that blest home, with her Savior.

Still we may love her in heaven, Feeling none to her spirit shall be.

Tenderly whispering come.

Lovingly guiding us home.

LARGE CROWD SEES AD TOPPERWEIN SATURDAY

Ad Topperwein, the greatest living fancy and flying target shot with rifle, pistol and shotgun, is in the city of Texas, his home being in San Antonio. Texas is a state long noted for its good shots. Being brought up in such an city sphere, it is not surprising that Topperwein was given the stimulus to develope a natural skill for shooting possessed by him in an unusual degree. This is universally displayed in his exhibitions. He uses no special equipment, but ordinary Winchester guns and Winchester ammunition, the regular ammunition such as is sold everywhere. He shoots at objects of varying sizes, such as oranges, apples, bits of coal, walnuts, small wooden, empty cartridge shells, etc., which are thrown into the air and hit while falling from his rifle or revolver, held in every conceivable position. Or thirteen occasions Mr. Topperwein has broken the world's record for shooting flying targets with a rifle. At one time he hit 4,954 1-2 4 inch targets which were thrown into the air at a distance of 25 feet; on another occasion he hit 10,969 out of 10,000 2¾ inch blocks thrown into the air and hit while falling only one out of the entire lot. In the 8,000 shots he missed over 40 times he hit and missed only four out of the entire lot of 72,500. Darkness only is a distance to Mr. Topperwein's skill, he having hit 13,219, 13,292, 13,389 and 13,400 targets at night with rifle, pistol and shotgun his extraordinary skill.

During the war period Mr. Topperwein was instructor of trap shooting at the Kelly Field Military Academy at Austin, Texas, where he made his home. He has served a great service to the Government.

Every Dining Car Meal is Served at a Loss to the Railroads

Few, if any, railroads in this country fail to suffer a substantial loss in providing food for their patrons, in order that they may save time in travel and be afforded every comfort. During the year 1925, the L. & N served 615,238 meals, at an actual loss of $195,000, or an average of 32 cents each meal. Here are the figures: Expenses—wages, provisions, repairs, etc., $507,500. Revenues from meals, cigars, etc. served, $712,797; Net loss, $195,103.

Each meal, therefore, cost our patrons on an average of only $1.16, or practically the same as they would pay in any first-class hotel or restaurant; yet it cost this Company $1.48 to produce and serve it.

These figures do not include interest on the investment in dining cars, which, fully equipped with linen, china, kitchenware, etc., cost about $62,000 each.

"The Old Reliable" has earned a reputation for the consistent superiority of its dining-car service and the fairness of its prices.

DEATH CLAIMS A VENERABLE CITIZEN

Hon. John G. Blair Succumbs Suddenly To Stroke Of Apoplexy

AT AGE OF 83 YEARS

The community was saddened Friday morning by the news of the sudden death of Mr. Blair, who died at about 8 o'clock, following a stroke of apoplexy.

Mr. Blair had suffered an attack of illness, complaining of dizziness, earlier in the week, but got better and had been able to go out Thursday morning. He became ill again Thursday night and failed to rally from the last attack.

John G. Blair was one of the most prominent citizens of this county and was popular with old and young alike. He was active in all movements for the advancement of the interests of town and county, and was actively identified with the Carlisle Christian church for many years. He was president of the Hazel House Insurance Company, having held that office for a number of years. About eight years ago he was elected to the Republican ticket, near Carlisle, and served in that capacity when he died.

Mr. Blair always took much interest in politics and was identified with the Republican party for greater part of his life. During the popular campaign he was a candidate for the office of governor on that ticket.

During the spring of this year, Mr. Blair who was always hale and hearty, was seriously ill for a time, at intervals, called the attention of Mr. Mercury to the fact that he was the "most defeated man, politically speaking" in Nicholas county, having been candidate for county judge, nominee for representatives, nominee for lieutenant governor and governor and he was winning in a race.

He was a man who loved the vital of doors and who never lost his interest in the affairs of Nicholas. He talked with the writer a few days before his death, saying that "more editorials about birds be printed."

In the passing of this venerable and kindly citizen, the community suffers a distinct loss.

Funeral services were conducted at the residence Sunday afternoon by Rev. F. M. Tinder, pastor of the North Middletown Christian church, assisted by Rev. Henry W. Schwam, the latter a friend of long was in the Carlisle cemetery.

John G. Blair was born on the homestead, near Moorefield, August 20, 1843, to Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Blair; he received a common school education with the addition of attendance upon the Springfield, high school, and was the author of 1859-60, when at the outbreak of the Rebellion he was too young to remain at home to render assistance to his father, who was a father and older brother united their forces with the Federal army; and in June, 1864, he too entered the service, enlisting with Company I, 1st Ky. Cavalry. He served until the end of the war, when he was honorably discharged, and was immediately appointed by the Government to Adjutant General of the 7th District, having charge of Nicholas and adjoining counties of Clark counties; this position he held for a number of years, and the salary, low, requiring that officer, was respected. He then went to Kansas, where he engaged in the real estate business, and was successful, returning each winter and engaging in trading through the South. In 1875, May 6th, he was married to Miss Lydia A. Hall, daughter of Daniel E. and Rachael (Bryant) Thomas. To this marriage four children were born, namely: Gertrude, wife of Mr. John Peters, now of Bethel; Marion C. and J. Gaylord Blair, the former living in this city with his parents and the latter in Louisville. Mrs. Blair survives and it was her great pleasure to have celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary in May, last year.

Mr. Blair was a member of the Grand Lodge of Masons, and was a member of the Christian church.

Funeral services were conducted at the residence Sunday afternoon by Rev. F. M. Tinder, pastor of the North Middletown Christian church, assisted by Rev. Henry W. Schwam, the latter a friend of long standing. Interment was in the Carlisle cemetery.

The pall bearers were Dr. Ed Bonneson, Dr. Ed Hall, Dr. Ed Hall, Dr. Ed Hall
