TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF NICHOLAS COUNTY—GREETING

Carlisle, Ky., July 24, 1929

In my canvass of voters for the Democratic nomination for Tax Commissioner, I have found that I am most impressed upon me that people, having no personal acquaintance with a candidate, want to know of or about his personal character and capabilities—and I consider the highest recommendation of this demand.

So, to establish such acquaintance with those to whom I am not personally known, I am announcing, in fact, I broadcast the following brief history of my life, and how I have used it with such particulars as are germane to the subject:

I was born in Fleming county, and came to Carlisle twenty-one years ago, just after my marriage; and have lived continuously in this good little city since. Here I worked for my living; here I acquired a residential home, reared and educated my children, and in an intimate and zealous way participated in all those phases of citizenship that give themselves upon one who loves his town and its people. Surely I am known personally in some measure, to every inhabitant of Carlisle. I am glad to think so, at least, for whether I will or no, these people have served to me a large part trying the worth and weight (or elsewhere) of my long association with them as a fellow-townsman, whether I and my family have responded to and met the varied obligations of citizenship, and all it implies, knowing their industrious farmers and conscientious ones. I am sure they'll award me always the benefit of a doubt.

J. D. Crutchfield, was awarded the contract to construct a new school building at Bion, Hinkston county, for which his county board of education Saturday. The contract price for the work is $3874.0.

The State Highway Department is oiling the Maysville and Lexington road from the Bourbon county line to the Fleming county line through Nicholas county. Outline of the Headquarters road has about been completed.

Miss Berdine Bonar, a graduate of the Commonwealth Business College, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bonar of Cynthiana, formerly of Carlisle, has taken a position with the demonstration agent in Oldham county.

Due to a lot of last-minute advertisements a number of letters of correspondents and other items are necessarily left out this week. Sorry, readers who expect to have advertisements in next week must submit their copy by Monday noon.

So far as The Mercury has been able to learn, the tobacco crop in this county has not been damaged to angular leaf spot or rust, a condition caused by moist weather. Although the leaf crop was somewhat damaged by heavy rains during the month it is growing up nicely.

Dr. O. S. Kash, County Health Officer, wishes The Mercury to announce that he will give hydrophobia inoculations free to any person living in the recently flooded district, who may call at his office. Taking advantage of this opportunity may prevent very serious, costly, perhaps fatal illness.

The will of the late J. W. Barbarisa was probated in county court Monday. Under the term of the will Mr. Barbarisa bequeathed all of his property to his wife, Mrs. Nannie F. Barbarisa. The will was in the handwriting of deceased and one of the witnesses, as recorded here. It was dated February 6, 1922.

Mrs. Rachel Vice, 18 years old, who resides near Beverdell fell last Wednesday afternoon while visiting at the home of Jeff Vice near Lucas Grove and suffered a fracture of the hip. She was removed to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Rose, in Paris Sunday, accompanied by her family physician, Dr. L. B. Holmes, of Moorefield.

The county board of education, at a meeting Saturday again rejected all bids for the construction of the new consolidated school building at Headquarters. John M. Smithson was the lowest bidder, it was said, although his bids were not made public. The board has revised plans for the building and will hold another meeting this week to receive bids.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Thompson, of this county, have been appointed as teachers in the Red House high school in Madison county for the ensuing school year. Mr. Thompson will be principal of the school and Mrs. Thompson assistant principal. Both graduated from the college department of the Eastern State Teachers College at Richmond in June. The Red House school is a four-year accredited high school.

Charlie Burroughs, well known Millersburg citizen, suffered a badly lacerated hand while putting hay in a barn on the Bourbon farm in the Cynthiana section Monday. A hay fork was being used to lift the hay into the barn. Mr. Burroughs was handling the fork to a pile of hay when the horse pulling the load started suddenly. The fork ran into Mr. Burroughs' hand and before the horse could be stopped he had been lifted several feet off the ground.

Paul Burns, 13 years old, who with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns of Frankfort, Ind., is visiting at the home of T. T. Burgess, suffered painful bruises Monday afternoon when he fell from the side of a cut in the railroad tracks near town. Burns and Frank Burgess and Everett Higgins were walking along the track when they decided to climb on top of what had once been a tunnel. After Burns had climbed about fifteen feet he lost his footing and fell to the track. Although painfully bruised, no bones were broken.

PROGRAM

Tonight, Thursday, comes Nancy Carroll in "THE SIN SISTER," a sure good picture, don't fail to see it.

Friday—William Haines in "ALIAS JIMMY VALENTINE." He outwitted the police of every city, but was captured by the heart of a girl. He went crooked for her, then went straight for love. Be sure and see the great comedy-drama.

"Saturday—Comes Milton Sills in "BURNING DAYLIGHT." Afire with everything but love, until a little girl half girl whirled her way into his heart. If you like action, be sure and see this one. Also a sure big comedy, "THE TWO TAMS." Come and see and laugh.

Monday—Comes Adolph Menjou in "SERVICE FOR LADIES," a romantic comedy of Parisian hotels and Swiss winter sports. A comedy full of mirth. See Elisabeth Foster, the American girl, how she runs things. Don't miss this one.
