The Election Will Be Held on Monday, August 2nd, 1880.

THE campaign opens lively at Cincinnati, but whether it will end CAIN PAYNE remains to be seen. We bet on FIELDS, as we can SWAYZE it in a dark horse race. TILDEN is out of the race.

SAMUEL J. TILDEN tenders his resignation to the New York delegation and begs leave to retire with one term. He says four years is enough for any man to serve, and we furthermore that he is too old to accept a renomination.

CINCINNATI CONVENTION.

The greatest of the greatest party in the world will meet in Cincinnati next Tuesday, and through the kindness of Judge IRELAND, delegate from this district, the MERCURY is promised a ticket of admission. Cincinnati hotel has been employed and the great organ in the hall will also be played at intervals, and this mingled with great Democratic voices and loud hurrahs will make the occasion memorable, and we predict that the man nominated here will be our next President. We think that man will be HANCOCK; SEYMOUR, and if so he will be triumphantly elected. He personally dislikes the nomination, but the Democrats should nominate a man who does not seek the nomination. It is thought ex-Governor LUCIUS WALKER, of Kentucky, will be Chairman.

LUCIUS GARFIELD.

While the editors were at White sulphur Spring, Col. MCCARTHY, of the Elizabethtown News, came down to meet them, and in conversation with him he said that JAMES A. and LUCIUS GARFIELD are cousins. The latter was once a citizen of Carlisle, being a Reform minister and politician. He married MISS FANT, of Fleming, and was afterward appointed Assistant Postmaster at Washington Territory by President BUCHANAN, where he made a good deal of money and lost it in stock speculation. He has been for the last three years in Washington City, where he owns and runs a large gambling house. No doubt this will be a surprise to his cousins. He never appears in public, and having made money, proposes now to retire from his lucrative calling. Senator BILL CHANDLER called for speeches with ROAR HAWES were the finest he ever heard. LUCIUS GARFIELD was the youngest member of the CONVENTION which formed the present constitution of Kentucky.

THE LATEST NEWS.

We give the following heads from Tuesday's dailies as a fair criterion of the situation of things at the meeting of the Democratic party at Cincinnati:

Commercial: Rooms for all—what will the harvest be—the day opens in misty uncertainty, and—Tilden's name appears—Tilden's letter of renunciation accepted at its face—New York in a solid body—Hancock and Payne boom and squeeze—an Ohio official—Ohio's claim—Ohio's official claim—Ohio entitled to [illegible] man—the greenback ghost rises to prominence—Hendricks's name presented by Mr. McDonald—the fairfield of the Committee on Resolutions—Hendricks's [illegible] Hancock's name presented by Mr. Lowry filled with enthusiasm—Hancock recognizes the Fremont Hall delegation—Thurman's name presented by Mr. Gray—the dust—a majority of the Ohio delegation for Payne—Mr. Thurman withdraws and out of the race—prospects of a boom for General CLEVELAND—a decided impetus given to the Payne movement by the events—Hoadley's name presented by Mr. Lincoln—how opposed to Western opinion—Mr. Hoadley withdraws—New York's solid.

KENTUCKY CONVENTION.

The State Convention at Lexington, on Thursday, was largely attended, 400 minus lastly, G. E. SNYDER, of Clark, through temporary organization, and Secretary, was made Temporary Chairman and Colonel LYLES BOSS, of Harrison, was chosen Permanent Chairman. Pending reports of committees General WILLIAM PRESTON, W. C. P. BRECKINRIDGE and HENRY WATTERSON, Editor of the Courier-Journal, and the name of the sage of Cranmore Park elicited much applause, but it was left for Judge WM. LINDSEY to convulse the assembly. He said he was glad that grand old farmer of New York, HORACE GREELEY, was dead.

Many prominent gentlemen were on the floor, among them CASSIUS CLAY, J. W. STEVENSON, ex-Governor J. B. MCCREARY, State officers LEE, HARRISON, HEWITT, PRESTON, and others; Judge HARDIN, J. B. BECKHAM, ex-Judge PRICHARD, MAJOR J. DURHAM and a host of others. The delegates from the Nicholas County was loaded from, but she did not carry off any honors.

The Committee on Resolutions made their report, which was adopted, as follows: Freedom of the ballot; home rule; supremacy of civil authority; a mixed protective tariff, for revenue; expressing faith in the ability of TILDEN; pledging the delegates free to exercise their discretion; adopting the usual rule; selection of the two-thirds rule.

The adoption of the unit rule was intended to act as instructions, and a vigorous kick was made by those against TILDEN'S availability. The previous question was moved to cut off debate, pending which an adjournment was made, and after supper WATTERSON moved to withdraw the seventh resolution. This called forth a very animated debate between the Hon. WATTERSON, W. C. P. B. said he would not be [illegible] against it, but he was astonished to see Democrats following the example of GARFIELD. His heated feelings subsided when Mr. [illegible] moved to lay the motion on the table, which was carried by a large majority. The resolutions were then adopted, and the Convention adjourned.

ASHLAND.

Further Sayings and Incidents of the Fiery Convention.

MRS. NELLIE Marshall McCarthy, daughter of Gen. Marshall, delivered the oration on the occasion of the unveiling of three columns erected from patriotism to the Mother of Washington. The address was a masterpiece of the kind, and was listened to by a large audience. The speaker was introduced by Hon. Henry Barnett, Jr. Besides Mrs. McCarthy, Gen. Marshall, Mrs. J. F. Wallace, J. F. Hopper, W. H. Wallace, W. T. Hopper, Mrs. Dawson, and Gen. after the ceremonies, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hopper.

Thanks to the people of Lexington for the efficient manner in which they managed the affairs of the occasion.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION.

We publish in this issue the text of the new school law so that the people may understand its provisions. The substance of the bill is as follows: It is contemplated by it that a graded school is of the utmost importance to cities or many reasons, and that the people of such cities would improve the town intellectually and materially; that it would benefit it as a business point of view by attracting capital to it, and more people; also by it that it would make property advance in value, and more sought after; that while the property holders would be principally benefited by the system, they would be benefited by the value of their property, and by the intellectual, moral and material advantages it would bring.

The bill tried to impose the tax, if voted, in line with established school districts, but the present Commissioners' Tax, which has been manipulated by all departments of the State government, would not allow it.

The friends of the tax claim that if it can be established that there will be an average attendance of children from 150 to 175 in town, that that number properly will require a principal and at least three assistants. The principal will require a salary of $1,000, and the assistants a salary of $500 to $540 each. The suitable building, price of land and other expenses will reach $20,000. The number of school children of pupils for six months will not exceed 300. Therefore, exceed 417 for two years. It is arranged that the tax shall not exceed 50 cents on the $100 worth of property, and 1 50 for each poll in the higher branches. It not exceed the average price less than the lowest of none per month. The friends of it gives an opportunity to all. If the tax is voted it will yield $2,500 to $3,000 on the property, and the capitation tax will yield say $250. Then the Trustees will have the handling of about $3,000. School fund, which will amount to about $500, making in all about $3,000, having a month's tuition fee to be made up, if possible, by the patrons of the school. Some of the friends of the bill favor free tuition entirely, but the majority of them will be modified after the first year. The Trustees propose to have the school in session. The Trustees propose to rent a school house for the first year, and have it ready for the opening of the proposed term. The Trustees propose to rent a school house for the first year, and have it ready for the opening of the proposed term. The Trustees propose to rent a school house for the first year, and have it ready for the opening of the proposed term.

We would propose to see a first-class school in every district of the county, and the citizens of the district not only willing but enthusiastic in its support.

FOURTH OF JULY.

Grand County Social and Inspirational and Musical Jubilee.

The arrangements are complete for a grand gala day on anniversary of American independence at Dorting Grove on the 5th of July. The speakers selected, who will be kindly welcomed by all others, have the matter in charge, and propose to make the occasion a grand success. If possible, the enthusiasm of the 5th of July of the last year at the same place. If the weather is favorable, as it probably will be, it will be similar to the character to that of last year, will fairly blaze with genuine patriotism and beautiful, and will be rendered by the very best artists that the musical talent can afford. The speakers and other creative conduits, such as will be present, will be entertained, served in the best style, and the whole will be furnished to the vast crowd which it is hoped will grace the occasion with their presence, and is now issued the exclamation: "How in the world can all this be done for so little money?" No one will begrudge the price of the single admission fee, for such a great enjoyment will cost, particularly when we consider that the net receipts are to go in aid of paying for the greatly needed improvements just being completed upon the Court House Grounds of Carlisle.

Arrangements have been made with the railroad company by which parties will be carried to and from the grounds from all along the line of the road from Paris to Maysville at greatly reduced excursion rates. As the Fourth falls upon a Sunday, the day before Saturday, the 3d has been fixed for the celebration.

Immediately after the speaking, which will be found in a few days. Let all turn out and enjoy themselves, and make the hearts of the ladies glad and thankful.

TOM ELECTION.—Quite a contest was had over the office of Judge, which resulted in the election of C. W. Bell by one vote. In Tom Election Ward Moses, John Myers and S. G. Hopper were elected Councilmen without opposition. In the Middle Ward Jas. Fennegan and Judge Allen had a walk-over, notwithstanding opposition. In the Lower Ward the contests for our finest Dick Parks, Jr., and Jas. Fennegan were elected without opposition. We now have a full Board of Councilmen, and we hope to see them get down to business.

The Board of Trustees was elected without opposition. We now have a full Board of Trustees, and we hope to see them get down to business. Those of them, Messrs. Tarleton, Rice and Parks, were members of the old Board of Trustees.

My mother says we shall all go to Mr. Robert Stickney's circus and menagerie on Tuesday, July 6.

In a difficulty, near Paris, between Charley Johnson and Bob Rose, Johnson shot Rose in the neck. The parties are both negroes and drunk.

MASON COUNTY.

The Factions Committing again in Political Matters—Another Democratic Convention.

MAYSVILLE, KY., June 15, 1880.

The Democracy of the various precincts held their meetings on Saturday, and instructed their delegates. In the County Convention on Monday, JUDGE PARRY was nominated for Circuit Clerk and Jas. C. Pickett for re-election as Sheriff. The Convention was unanimous for Clerk, and almost unanimous for Sheriff. The nominations are good, which makes success doubly certain.

Mr. Parry has had large experience in the office as an accomplished clerk and gentleman, and adds strength to the ticket. Mr. Pickett was nominated without opposition, which is sufficient evidence of the ability with which he has discharged the duties of the office, and although a "very modest man," will be selected by a secret ballot as the party over his Republican opponent, Squire Williams, who expects to be elected by the votes of Mayslick and Germantown. The Squire is a clever, close-listed, generous fellow, not even subscribing for his own party paper, and will be decently buried, without the honors of war or the flourishing of trumpets.

Judge Thomas has been in the city for a few days, and the fraternity of the Democracy crew have been together, with whom, we are pleased to say, he is judged by their countenances than in any other manner. Mostly gray and pep-out sneakingly from under his hat as though he was looking for some one to bear a brick at him for some of his past official attitudes, and many of them have been betting on his success are laughing their heads off at his [illegible] tweets, and looking sick generally. They tried to hedge by betting that Cole will not beat Thomas seven hundred and fifty in the district.

Judge Cole was here on Monday, and called the Democrats in the afternoon with a short speech. His chances are very encouraging, and it will [illegible] mined that we will vote with old Nicholas in point of majority, and that will be a decisive majority. So, in the language of the old fellow at the Siberian [illegible] Mr. O'Hooligan, you will have to

"Pull off your coats
And roll up your sleeves
Or we'll beat you on election day."

A gentleman who has been out on a [illegible] warm in the canvas, foresees the result emphatically: "Cole is bound to be elected, and if you see any one [illegible] you can take for one or more of [illegible] from $1 to $1,000 that A. E. Cole will be the next Circuit Judge of the Fourteenth Judicial District." Overcoming cats are pretty rife for fancy [illegible] election, and I do not mention this for the purpose of [illegible] a bet, but as a hint of the opinions of men who [illegible] in the annexation.

I will look into the county and give you the views of the leading men of it in my next.

Old Dessed the Cream Nae.

The cream which has been sold at Uncle Dan's cabin, dismounted and [illegible] at the new Dan, a town on the north of the "Ole Virginny" plantation, and a special train of the [illegible] road grin overspread his black visage as he saluted the party on entry: "I'm the United States census taker," he said, the visitor. Dan opened his eyes wider than ever, while the census taker general as he exclaimed: "Intaker, dye lamb dat Judy look [illegible] been, dad fat?" "We want to put your names in this parlebo and send them to Washington City." "I'm the commercer as he smiled and began to unstrap his blanks. "What's dat you call dat at thing, a portpolger?" "No, no," said the census taker, "it goes behind mischief," "its name is [illegible] parlebo, I'm afraid, you'll have to [illegible] Dan, "I'm a free nigger, I'm a free nigger, I'm a free nigger."
