RANSOM IS PAID BUT BABY NOT RETURNED

Colonel Lindbergh Pays $50,000 Demanded, But Baby Is Still Missing

STATEMENT IS ISSUED

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has paid a ransom of $50,000 for his kidnaped son, but the baby has not been returned.

This was disclosed Saturday night in a statement issued by the famous New Jersey state police.

The ransom was paid, the statement said, "on the kidnapers, properly identified as such, on their agreement to notify him as to the exact whereabouts of the baby, but the baby was not found at the appointed place.

"Several days were permitted to elapse to give the kidnapers an opportunity to keep their agreement. It was not intended to put the matter on the specific (currency) in which the ransom was paid, but the kidnapers have failed to keep their agreement and have not communicated since the ransom was paid it is felt that every reasonable effort should now be utilized to accomplish the return of the baby and to lead to the apprehension of the federal government was requested to help in the search.

"The statement lends itself to two theories. One, that the ransom has been paid to the real kidnapers and they 'double crossed' Colonel Lindbergh because fearful of completing negotiations for some unknown reason decided not to complete the transaction.

"The other was that clever criminals had succeeded in forging a satisfactory identification of themselves as the kidnapers and seized the opportunity to extort $50,000.

In consideration of these theories it was revealed tonight that Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh have publicly pledged themselves not to be a party to any compromise with the kidnapers, or to any action contrary to the wishes of the authorities, from the start of the world-wide search and private search certain intimate characteristics of the baby have been withheld for the purpose of clinching identification of the child at the proper time.

The dispatch of the money circular by the office of Walter O. Wood, treasurer of the United States, became known Saturday but no news was withheld by press associations on the ground that it seemed it might be injurious to the search for the child.

The serial numbers given in the Woods money circular were for bills totaling $40,000, but in currency, $15,000 in tens and $10,000 in fives.

Russell Sullivan, Lindbergh attorney, authorized a statement that means of identification set forth in the original note left in the nursery had been used to trap those who had presumably shaped and had the ransom money paid $50,000 ransom were the kidnapers.

"At the time the baby was kidnaped and a ransom note was left in the nursery. For obvious reasons it was necessary to withhold the ransom concerning the ransom note. A means was offered by the kidnapping identification of the kidnapers therefor. Subsequent notes were identified by this means and at the time the ransom was paid over the authorities had the same means to positively identify them as the men who had carried off the baby," the statement said.

Arkansas Students Claim They Were Beaten By Band

Exhibiting welts across their backs, which they charged, were inflicted by sticks in the hands of Harlan county "vigilantes," five students and instructors from Cumberland College, Lebanon, Mrs. Ayres, were safe in Virginia Sunday after being summarily ejected from Kentucky. The students, who made their cross-country trip from a coupe with an improvised rumble seat, said they had come into Kentucky to "inquire into the strike area, distribute food and clothing to the less coal miners and make speeches on the Bill of Rights, copies of which they took along.

Fortune In Jewelry Stolen From Trunk

Police officers at Winchester Tuesday disclosed one of the largest robberies Clark county has known in many recent years. The loot included jewelry of great value, consisting of several diamond solitaire rings, gold watches, gold, silver, currency and clothing.

Elijah Ervin, owner of the valuables, reported the robbery to the police office ten days ago, and due to a number of apparently unrelated clues, public report of the theft was withheld. He told officers a trunk in his bachelor's shop room was broken from his home on the Iron Works road, 15 miles from Winchester, was broken into and robbed of the valuables.

Many pieces of the jewelry were heirlooms of the Ervin family. Around $50 in gold coins and currency was stolen. The balance of the loot included pearls, sapphires, rubies, diamonds, gold and silver.

One of the four watches stolen was platinum.

"POLLYANNA" FARMERS
(The Swine World)
It was a cold, blustry day, the trip had been far from pleasant and as Frank came into the office flakes of the snow flakes from 1½ hat his face were melting and he (radiated good fellowship.
"How's everything Mr. Farmer?" we asked the same.
"Fine, fine," came the answer with a pleasant smile.
"Lots of your neighbors seem to be down in the dumps because of down sale of hogs."
For a moment the smile passed from his face. "They just imagine they're down and out," he said "If they only knew it, now is the time to get out and make the money. But you can't convince them. 'I've tried.'"
"Recently I had some hogs down to market; sold them at 4 cents. Last year about this time I sold some for more than twice as a lot more money. And do you know, I made more off my hogs at that price 4 cents this year than I did last year. Why? That's simple. Last year I fed my hogs on corn that sold at 75 cents a bushel. This year corn is worth about 35 cents. It stands to reason that I did make more profit.
"There's a better feeling sweeping over the country right now. I can notice it. If only the farmers and breeders could realize that now is the time for them to come and out—they just think they are."
"Look like we're in for a day of snow," some one remarked.
"Oh, I don't know," he shook his head and smiled. "The sun may shine before noon." It did, at 11:30 the sun came out!
There are a few "Polly Annas" in the world. It must say.

HOW MUCH IS READ?
(Lexington Herald)
Although a great show is being made of economies, it seems to indicate that much of the economy that is being planned in January and surely economy such as has been practiced during the past years has been nothing more than a myth. The economists had the fiscal year 1933 will show a reduction of $319,000,000 under the fiscal year of 1932 and well informed observers to be grossly misleading. It is true that the total of actual expenditures of 1933 may be even larger than for 1932.
It is pointed out that "savings" are being made in the form of reductions in adjusted compensation, the farm relief, removing funds and the shipping boards construction fund. The reductions are actual, do mean a net total cost of government but they do not represent a reduction in actual governmental administrative costs in the manner in which the public has been demanded that economies should be made.
Virtually every cabinet officer has stood out against reductions in his department. Representatives Byrns of Tennessee, recently wrote to the administrative officers throughout the government, asking for suggestions as to how savings might be out. After receiving 120 replies he wrote back saying that he had not asked why they should be cut but how they could be cut.

President Offers To Become $1 Year Man

President Hoover has offered to become a $1 a year man.

Minutes after the House adjourned Saturday, protracted economy conference at the White House reported that Mr. Hoover stated he would veto his constitutional right against a salary cut and accept whatever reductions congress may.

Chairman McDuffie, of the House economy committee, said he had pointed out to the President the unconstitutionality of such action and proposed and had suggested as an alternative that whatever he might receive must not be returned.

A president receives $75,000 a year. This sum can not be reduced while he is in office. Those at the conference however, said Mr. Hoover asserted any objection to such an action constitutionally would come from him and that he would interpose no objection to a cut of $74,999.

TUREMAN'S ALMOST OLD AS CARLISLE

Further Records Found Prove That Store Was Established By Early As November 29, 1817

Additional proof that Turemans Retail One Cent Sale Store, after the establishment of the town of Carlisle, was established in 1817 is found by Mr. J. C. Tureman, the present owner, who has been unbound an old bill of sale of goods to his grandfather, Jacob Tureman, by the town of Carlisle was established in June, 1818 and it is quite reasonable that Mr. Joseph F. Tureman, who established Tureman's Pharmacy, was one of the town's first merchants. Recently Mr. Tureman uncovered old records of the store which showed sales of goods as far back as 1823.

The old sale bill found last week by Mr. Tureman proves conclusively that the first store was a drug store by reason of the articles listed. The articles listed in the bill were as follows: "8 larger glass jars, $2.75; 13 small glass jars, $6.50; 8 dozen earthen ink bottles, $3.60; 6 dozen earthen tin tops, $1.50; 4 tincture bottles, $4.00; 3 small tincture bottles, $1.25."

AGED MAN KILLED IN CLARK COUNTY

Widow, Brother-in-Law And Two Negroes Held In Connection With Murder

The body of A. B. Newkirk, 70-year-old farmer, found on the kitchen floor at his home on Lulbegrud creek in Clark county, was discovered to be one of a number of murders who escaped the notice of officers. The body was discovered Saturday by cashing a government pension check.

Blood was discovered by his 20-year-old wife, Mrs. Daisy Dale Newkirk, who returned to the home Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from Winchester where she had left her father in the neighborhood.

Coroner Clarence Bean, of Winchester, found a hatchet, with the handle burned off, in a fireplace in the home and said that this instrument was used in knocking Mr. Newkirk in the head. Mr. Newkirk was stabbed a gash over the right ear.

Robert Boner, 21, of Clark county, Tuesday afternoon made a confession to Clark county officers in which he named Jack White, 35, negro, as the murderer of A. D. Newkirk, 70-year-old farmer, at his lonely cabin on Lulbegrud creek in Clark county. Mrs. Lulbegrud wife, Hope, who is a brother of Newkirk's 30-year-old wife, implicated himself.

Rose, White, Earl Stuart, 17, negro, and Mrs. Hazel Blanche Newkirk, widow of the victim, were lodged in jail at Winchester Tuesday pending investigation.

Rose told authorities that he accompanied the two negro men to Newkirk's home Saturday night that White robbed the aged man of $19 after striking him on the head with a hatchet. Rose said he did not receive any of the money. Mrs. Newkirk and her son-in-law are arrested at their home and the negro press agents say that she is guilty. Mrs. Newkirk, when questioned by officers, said her brother had a part in the murder.

PARIS GETS FACTORY

A committee representing the Bourbon Business Mens Club closed a deal at Lexington Monday with the Strickler Manufacturing Company, of that city, whereby the company will move its furniture factory to Paris and be ready for business by June 1. The company will employ 25 persons to start with and intends to enlarge the plant. Only local labor will be employed. The company will manufacture all lines of overstuffed furniture.

STATE GOES INTO ROOSEVELT CAMP

Democrats Endorse New York Governor. Young, Wootton Are Elected

COX IS ON DELEGATION

The Democratic state convention at Louisville Tuesday night instructed Kentucky's 26 delegates to the national convention to vote for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt for the Presidential nomination as long as his name is kept before the convention at Chicago. The action was taken unanimously.

State Senator Allie W. Young, of Morehead, was elected national committeeman to succeed Joseph E. Robinson, of Lancaster, and Mrs. Samuel Coomer, of Nelson county, was elected national committeewoman. Ten delegates-at-large were also elected by convention, each with two-fifths of a vote, were chosen as follows: Governor Laffoon, Senator Barkley, Senator Logan, James H. Richardson, of Louisville, E. D. Stephenson, of Pikeville, Mrs. Thomas R. Ross, of Louisville, Mrs. H. H. Jeffries, of Bell county, Dixy Woodson, of Owensboro, Frank Brackinridge, of Lexington, and Miss Myra Johnson, of McLean county.

Attorney General Bailey Wootton was elected chairman of the state central executive committee over State Senator Joseph G. Franklin. Mr. Wootton succeeds Judge Charles A. Hardin, of Hopkinsville.

In the organization of the Ninth district, which is now the Eighth district, Mrs. Ethel Wright Duffy, of Cynthiana, was elected over H. Sebastian, of West Point. Newly elected committeemen, and Mrs. J. A. Monohan, Brooksville, and Miss Mary Goodpaster, Owingsville, were elected committeewomen, members of the state central executive committee. They succeeded Lindsey Douglas, Mr. Sterling, Allie W. Young, Morehead, Mrs. Davis Howerton, Ashland, and Mrs. Stanley Reed, Maysville.

Foster V. Cox, of Carlisle, was named as one of the delegates from the Ninth district to the national convention at Chicago. The other delegates are H. M. Bagby, Grayson; M. J. Hennessey, Maysville, and R. J. Stamper, Morehead. Alternates are J. Thaxter Sims, Mt. Olivet; Charles Linton, Champion; J. C. Walker, Vanceburg, and W. E. Mobley, Bandy Hook.

April 30 Closing Date For Federal Farm Loans

H. H. Lucas, Regional Manager of the Crop Production Division, has written letters to County Agents calling attention to the fact that April 30 is the closing date for receiving applications for Federal Farm loans. Mr. Lucas urges farmers who must secure farm loans to finance the production of this year's crop to make application at once, as no more applications will be taken after the end of this month.

Rabbit Racket Latest Scheme Being Worked

The rabbit raising racket is one of the latest "cures" offered for the unemployed, underfed and the agricultural depression. The College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, has been warned by the Department of Agriculture at Washington that organizations operating in southern states are selling rabbits at high prices and promising to buy back meat or fur, or both.

According to the College, rabbit raising may be made profitable by persons who understand it, but the business is not a way to get rich quick. Investment in breeding stock should be small, until the inexperienced raiser learns the ropes. Profitably raise rabbits on a large scale.

Expect Wool Pool To Handle 600,000 Pounds

Because such satisfactory returns were made on the 1931 wool pool, Mrs. Hazel Boland, producers to the National Wool Marketing corporation at Boston, this year has decided to the big cooperative marketing association, will handle more than that of last year.

This is the estimate made on preliminary surveys by the Kentucky Wool Growers Cooperative association of Lexington. This year the Hopkinsville pool of 30,000 pounds and the Falmouth pool of 20,000 pounds have joined the cooperative movement.

Kentucky's wool pool last year was 300,000 pounds and because the results were so satisfactory the Marketing corporation brought growers additional 300,000 pounds to make 600,000 pounds this year, officials of the Kentucky Wool Growers association estimated.

NEW SERIAL STORY

"Cared," By Courtney Ryley Cooper, Begins This Week

In response to a number of requests, The Mercury begins this week the first installment of a serial story which will be continued in this paper during the next several weeks.

This is the first serial story The Mercury has carried for several months and we have selected for our current serial that striking new story by Courtney Ryley Cooper, "Cared."

Ryley Cooper is one of the most famous of American writers. He begins the story of his life he is at his best. Since learning his trade in Kansas City when he was fifteen years old to become a clown in a circus, the author has been a newsboy, trunk-liner, roustabout, circus press agent, actor, monologuist, "buck and wing" dancer in vaudeville, newspaper man, house organizer, general manager of the world's largest laundry circus—and he is generous because he is author of national magazine articles.

PREACHER CHARGED WITH AUTO THEFT

Rev. W. E. Sharpe In Robertson County Jail Pending Investigation

Rev. W. E. Sharpe, 35 years old, assumed the duties of pastor of the Baptist church at Mt. Olivet Saturday, in the Robertson county jail on a federal charge involving the theft of a Ford automobile in Indiana and other charges, which officials at the department of justice, Cincinnati, are investigating.

Rev. Sharpe, who has a wife and four children, was taken into custody by a federal officer from Cincinnati at Mt. Olivet Friday and placed in the Nicholas county jail at Carlisle. He was taken from Mt. Olivet to Maysville and at one time was located in Louisville.

The automobile with Rev. Sharpe was driving bore the name of Scott county license stolen from an automobile owned by Roy Clark, according to information from Georgetown police.

Rev. Sharpe is alleged to have stolen an automobile at South Bend, Ind.

NEW EIGHT FORD ATTRACTS CROWDS

Several Hundred People View New Model Car At Harpers Garage Monday—Several Orders Taken

Several hundred people visited Harpers Garage Monday to inspect the new V-8 Ford which was on exhibition at the garage during the day. The model exhibited was a coupe.

The new car came up to all expectations, expressions of the crowd, and was much admired.

The Ford is definitely in the lead in appearance from the present model. Noticeable improvements are a longer and more roomy body, a beautifully designed radiator, adjustable front seat and other improvements.

Several orders were booked during the day. The model brought here was taken away Saturday. The garage expects to be able to fill orders within a short time.

First Day Of May Rural Life Sunday

The first Sunday in May will be known as Rural Life Sunday, and will be observed by special programs in churches in the open country, officials announced.

The observance of the announcement says that "Rural Life Sunday finds its roots in the Bible. Two Days, days set apart by the Christian church for the purpose of special special prayers to God for His blessing on the fruits of the field.

"It is particularly fitting that special prayers be made to the Creator that rural people have made to the cause of the nation, as Fred Boyd of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, "Rural people have always maintained a reverence for God, and have always had a pronounced religious background to the development of the United States."

Kentucky's wool pool last year was 300,000 pounds and because the results were so satisfactory the Marketing corporation brought growers additional 300,000 pounds to make 600,000 pounds this year, officials of the Kentucky Wool Growers association estimated.

Long Service With L. & N. On The Maysville Branch

For a combined total of 175 years in the service of Ferguson, Fleming and Sherwood have held the destinies of the L. & N. Railroad agencies at Flemingsburg Junction, Cowan and Ewing, Ky., all situated within a five mile stretch of track on the Maysville Branch of that road.

Referring to these families as "The Dynasties of the Maysville Branch" the April L. & N. Employes' Magazine relates that up to the retirement of John W. Ferguson on February 1, 1932 the agency at Flemingsburg Junction had been handled since its opening in the spring of 1870 by three members of the Ferguson family. J. T. Johnson opened the agency in 1870 and held it until 1872 when he was succeeded by his son-in-law B. P. Ferguson who held it until Mr. Ferguson's death in 1918. At that time John W. Ferguson, the son of B. P. Ferguson and the grandson of J. T. Johnson took over the station and held it until his retirement in 1932.

The agency at Ewing, four miles south of Flemingsburg Junction, was opened in 1871, and has been in charge of its present agent, W. D. Sherwood, since January 1, 1880.

At Cowan, one mile south of Ewing, E. Alexander has held the agency since 1920, when it was bequeathed to him by his father, Theodore Alexander, who held it for 49 years beginning with its opening in 1871.

Floyd Court Is Guilty Of Violation Of Law

In the selection of juries, the Floyd circuit court has been guilty of violation of the law, Nat B. Newell, state inspector of examiners, charged in a report on Floyd county filed with Gov. Ruby Laffoon.

The report set out that J. Dan Talbott, state auditor, is holding a jury claim for more than $4,000 for services rendered in Floyd county January 1932. The amount Mr. Newell said, "is larger than is expended in an entire year in all other of 97 counties of the state."

The allegations charged against the Floyd circuit court, of which Judge C. B. Wheeler is presiding officer follow:

"Selection of 40 or more persons for petit jury service instead of the statutory maximum of 30 persons.

"Summoning bystanders as jurors when there are more than three vacancies to be filled.

"Pulling the jury wheel with names from which the assessor's books are required by statute.

"Impaneling three or four petit juries instead of two, the statutory maximum.

"Approving unauthorized jury claims."

The report set out that since Judge Wheeler assumed office, jury costs have increased from $14,000 a year to almost $25,000 a year, or an increase of 200 per cent.

Comparing this cost with other counties, Mr. Newell showed that Pike county had jury claims of $12,729 for the year while Bourbon county, with preliminary survey docket, had claims of $13,434.

"In fact, with the single exception of Jefferson county $26,413.47, Floyd has more than the 120 counties that had jury claims amounting to as much as $20,000 for the year.

COUPLE NARROWLY ESCAPE

A large number of residents of the Bald Eagle community in Bath county were driven from their homes when rising waters of Fork Creek flooded homes in that section last Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mason narrowly escaped drowning during the heavy rainstorm when their automobile became stalled in Bald Eagle. The little stream became a raging torrent and a minute or two after Mr. and Mrs. Mayes had left the automobile the machine was swept down the creek.

Smith Declares He Would Accept The Nomination

Alfred E. Smith stated vigorously Friday he will accept the Democratic presidential nomination if it is tendered to him.

In equally emphatic terms he denied what he called a "whispering campaign" that he is being used as a "stalking horse" to help or hinder some other candidate.

"That is a role I never played, and never will," he said.

He also made it clear he "certainly welcomed" the support of his friends and called it "absurdity" for anyone to state he would repudiate the action of those seeking convention delegates pledged to him.

He explained he did not "deem it necessary" to carry on an active campaign for delegates in the 1932 convention—that he felt the party already knew him and what he stood for.

SON OF JAILER GIVEN 30 DAYS

Allen Howe Owings Finally Sobered Sunday After Defying Officers With Butcher Knife

Allen Howe Owings, 17-year-old son of Jailer Will Owings, was given the alternative of spending 30 days in jail or staying out of the county for a period of 30 days beginning Sunday morning. Young Owings said he had a job in Ohio and would go there if the Judge would suspend a sentence of 30 days in jail. Judge Myers ordered the jail sentence served in the Lexington jail.

Young Owings created considerable commotion at the jail residence Sunday afternoon when, apparently crazed with drink, he ran members of his family from the building. Young Owings was armed with a long butcher knife.

Jailer Owings attempted to prevent his son from leaving home, but flourishing the butcher knife the boy went out, jumped into his automobile and drove around the streets with one hand on the wheel and the other clutching the butcher knife hanging out the window. He finally returned to the jail where his father, Chief Marshal Ernest Sims and Deputy Marshal Leonard Lamb attempted to arrest him. The boy then ran into the hall of the jail and still wa
