A TRUE FISH STORY

(Maysville Independent)

Dr. W. S. Reeves, prominent physician of Hillsboro, Ky., received the thrill of his life Thursday just before the severe wind and rain storm broke when he caught a nice and one-half pound white perch in Fox Creek, a little stream passing near the Fleming county village. The fish measured 27 inches and was caught on a hand pole. Dr. Reeves was very proud of his catch and was exhibiting it to friends in the county yesterday.

Farmers Ask About Trying New Crops

Inquiries have been received at the Experiment Stations at the University of Kentucky concerning Berlesca lespedeza and Sericea lespedeza. Berlesca is a comparatively new perennial lespedeza which is receiving attention of southern farmers because of its ability to grow on acid soil. It is still in an experimental stage and so far has been grown mostly on tests and cultivated, so far as known at present, as annuals. Chemical analyses have shown that the leaves and stems of mature plants are unusually high in protein.

Sericea lespedeza seed will not germinate more than 5 to 8 per cent, in most cases, unless scarified. Stands will likely be poor unless the seed is rubbed between sandpaper or other means used to remove hulls and scratch the crust of the seed sufficiently to make them grow.

Sericea which has spread in regions of Grobema is one of the grain sorghum delicacies, which seems to grow in a sale crop. There is no reason for considering it a pest, as has happened in Kentucky, where they are difficult to grow and yield less than corn. The grain of earth sorghums has a lower feeding value than corn, and the juice of the stalk is only slightly sweet.

Heavy Mulch May Injure Berries

Due to wet, warm weather, heavy mulching of strawberries this winter may result in injury to the berry plants, says a statement from the Department of Horticulture at the Agricultural College, University of Kentucky. Farmers who used a large coat of straw on their berries are advised to examine them and to make off some of the mulch if and damage is found. Mulching may be delayed a few weeks before the plants begin to grow, but should be light if the weather continues mild.

Disease-Free Flocks Produces More Eggs

The elimination of pullorum disease from flocks of baby chicks and hatching chicks on clean ground, according to Walt Byers, a Grayson county farm woman, to reduce the mortality from 25 per cent to less than 5 per cent, is a fine accomplishment. Mr. Byers, a Graduate of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, adds that in 1929 she hatched 326 chicks and raised only 81 or 28 per cent of them. Fifty-four per cent of her hens were found to be pullorum reactors. She lost only 12 per cent of the chicks hatched and raised 83 per cent. This is the record made by the chicks received by the B. W. D. test.

Last year Mr. Byers hatched 243 of her own chicks. Only 4 per cent died in the brooder stove. Mr. W. D. Lewis, extension poultry specialist, reports that no chickens hatched in November or December of one year, between the 1st of April, another Lerman store will be opened at Franklin, Ky.

Lerman Bros. picked out the "spot" in Carlisle, when they leased the store formally occupied by Mr. Hurst.

The Mercury joins in wishing Lerman Bros. much success.

ALFALFA

Alfalfa needs more lime than any other common forage crop. All soils in the East except those of limestone origin need lime for alfalfa, and even many limestone soils, such as those in the Shenandoah Valley, are either acid in the surface and need lime. Except for the soils of the Pacific slope in the Northwest, most soils west of the ninety-fifth meridian do not need lime. The form of lime makes little difference provided it supplies enough calcium oxide. Soils that have been previously been limed will usually require about half as much lime as are its equivalent to the acre.

MILLERSBURG MAN KILLED IN TEXAS

W. M. Miller, Student Flver, Found With Bullet In Temple In Texas

WAS AT KELLY FIELD

W—M Miller, 25 years old, of Millersburg, cadet in the flying corps of the U. S. Army at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Texas, was found in his automobile inside the field reservation early this morning, near death from a bullet wound in his left temple. A pistol was found in the seat beside him.

Miller died at the military hospital Monday afternoon without regaining consciousness.

Authorities at first believed the young man killed himself, but have abandoned that theory and believe he was murdered, robbery being the motive. Miller is known to have carried a considerable amount of money.

Officers at Kelly Field said Miller was on a furlough and had been visiting friends at the cadet barracks a few minutes before his death. Miller was a member of the class to graduate from the flying school next Friday. He was graduated from West Point last year, left his home at Muir in Marion county, Kentucky, to enter the messenger announcing his shooting condition. His mother, Mrs. Ethel Miller, is a teacher at the University of Maryland, College Park, Md.

Mr. Miller and his brother, Hunt Miller, both are graduates of the University of Kentucky and were prominent in campus and social activities. Their father was a member Dr. W. M. Miller, of Millersburg, and members of a prominent Bourbon county family.

PATTON BUILDING IS SCENE OF ACTIVITY

Carlisle Store To Be One Of Finest Of Fifteen Stores Op-Yated By Lerman Bros.

While one hears views pro and con regarding business activity in other old State of Kentucky, were you to visit the main office of Lerman Bros. at 327 West Main street in Lexington you would certainly be assured the depression was over.

The first three floors are busily filling orders daily for the new fifteen stores owned by this progressive company. On the fourth floor the advertising department is working overtime preparing copy for the new fifteen service stores.

Mr. Ed Ballanger, publicity director of the organization, will visit Carlisle soon to assist Mr. Simon Pulaski, who will be executive manager of the Lerman Bros. store here.

Messrs. Nathan and Edward Lerman owners of the organization, upon their visit here last week, said they were highly pleased with the work of remodeling Patton's old building here and we intend to make the Carlisle store the finest unit of the organization.

No expense will be spared to make this store modern in every respect. The arrangement of the building according to the latest modern ideas plans and departments will contain approx. 2000 sq. feet. Modern fixtures in addition to Piece Goods, Floor Coverings, Ready to Wear and Millinery will be installed in November. A selection of new models arranged for the Spring Opening, which will be held the first week in March, will be ready for the public.

In 1920, in a small store, at Cynthiana, Kentucky, Lerman Bros. started business. Due to strict attention to modern requirements of trade, their business showed a marvelous success, possibly well beyond their early anticipation in the years that followed.

Year by year unit after unit has been added until the latest came to Carlisle. The writer is told that swiftly on the heels of this venture or in other words some time in the early part of April, another Lerman store will be opened at Franklin, Ky.

Lerman Bros. picked out the "spot" in Carlisle, when they leased the store formally occupied by Mr. Hurst.

The Mercury joins in wishing Lerman Bros. much success.

FORGER HAS CASHED WORTHLESS CHECKS

Same Man, Believed From Nicholas, Has Fleeced At Least Twenty Merchant Past Year

A young man who signed "Robert Johnson" to a check drawn on a Paris bank is being sought by J. W. Davis & Company, Paris, who have fleeced out of $15, the amount of the check, last week.

The young man told a member of the firm that his home was in the vicinity of Carlisle, and Sheriff Curry no one named Robert Johnson lives in that vicinity.

Sheriff D. M. Curry, who has been on the trail of the forger, says he has cashed checks in Carlisle, Paris and Cynthiana, and the handwriting on all of the checks is similar, although all are signed with different names.

The man was described by a member of the Davis firm last week as being about 22 years, old, wearing a brown leather coat. He went into the store and purchased a suit of clothing and the check in payment.

Sheriff D. M. Curry believes the man who has given the check is a resident of Nicholas county and suspicions a resident of the county.

The checks vary in amounts from $1 to $25.

ASBURY COLLEGE FOUNDER IS DEAD

Dr. I. W. Hughes, Who Left Carlisle To Establish College, Dies

MINISTER 58 YEARS

Dr. John Wesley Hughes, 79 years old, who left Carlisle to found Asbury College at Wilmore 42 years ago, died at his home at Wilmore Monday following an illness of two weeks, with uraemic poisoning.

A native of Owen county, Dr. Hughes joined the Kentucky Conference of the Methodist Church in 1874. He began a series of evangelistic meetings in his own church and in other churches and was credited with bringing back into wide practice the holding of old-time revivals.

Dr. Hughes was a resident of Carlisle for several years, having built the residence now owned by Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Vaughn on Sycamore street. He went to Wilmore in 1890 and established Asbury College. He remained with the college for fifteen years, also occupying the chair of Bible study and philosophy. In 1906 he went to Kingswood and founded the college there, remaining as president until 1915, when he returned to Wilmore to live.

Mr. Hughes married in 1881 to Miss Mary Wallingford, of Mason county. To them seven eight children were born, four of whom survive. His second wife, one daughter and six grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were held in the memorial chapel at Asbury College Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. W. B. Maxwell, pastor of the Maysville Methodist church, and burial followed in the Wilmore cemetery.

ARRANGES FIVE FARM MEETINGS

Specialists To Discuss Growing Crops At Meetings Scheduled By County Agent

County Agent H. J. Matson is arranging for meetings with farmers to discuss their pasture problems and how and them to know good seed. He has secured two specialists for these meetings that are outstanding men in their lines and should bring much valuable information to the farmers of Nicholas county.

At these meetings Ralph Kinney will talk on grass mixtures for hay and pasture and Korean clover. This clover has made a wonderful showing in Nicholas county last year and with the low cost of seed it will undoubtedly be used extensively during 1932.

Earl Vaughn will address these meetings with a talk on weed control and also on the Kentucky lespedeza and ways to distinguish between Korean lespedeza and common Jap as well as other weeds.

Meetings will be held as follows:

Paris High School, Feb. 25 in the auditorium of the Myers school house, 1 p. m. Friday Feb. 26 in the auditorium of the Myers school house, 10 a. m. Friday Feb. 26 in the court house at Carlisle.

2 p. m. Friday Feb. 26 in the auditorium of the Headquarters school house.

7 p. m. Friday Feb. 26 in the auditorium of the East Union school house.

Mrs. Tinsley Ewell, of Paris, will be present some patriotic numbers, including The Virginia Reel with couples in colonial costume.

This is the first program of this type given by the high school this year, and we hope it will be well attended.

Admission prices will be 20c for school children and 35c for adult tickets.

Relatives Claims Jesse James Fooled Officers

Did Jesse James, America's most notorious outlaw, "outsmart" police and historians and live to a ripe old age.

A Chicago relative of the bandit believes that he did. Andrew T. Trow, staff newspaper representatives at Chicago that Jesse died only recently in Colorado.

"I've always known that the story the historians wrote about Jesse's death was all wrong," asserted Lucien James. "Jesse never was killed by his cousin, Bob Ford. Bob was a fine lad, I know his people and he'd never pull a yellow dog trick like shooting down Jesse while he wasn't looking."

The story of Jesse James' death, as told by the Chicago cousin, was founded on the fact that Tom Hoskins, a friend of Jesse, died of typhoid fever just when the hue and cry for the bandit leader was strongest. To give James a chance to escape, Hoskins's body was made to look like James. Ford shot it in the back, and the government accepted story of Jesse's demise was given out.

The real Jesse James lived in seclusion in Colorado, dying on July 2, 1931, according to the Chicagoan.

Of this amount, $10,000,000 is expected to be raised by members of the Protestant churches throughout the United States during 1932 for mission; any, educational institutions, hospitals in this and foreign land, according to a survey recently completed by the American General Council.

Although Poland occupies fourth place among European coal producing countries, it exports a greater percentage of its output than any of the others.

WOMAN ATTEMPTS TO END HER LIFE

Miss Clara Belle Sapp Drinks Iodine In Front Of Jail Friday Night. Will Recover

Miss Clara Belle Sapp, about 20 years old, of the Bourbon Valley section of the county, made an unsuccessful attempt to end her life Friday night by drinking a small quantity of iodine. Prompt action of Jailer Ewell Jennings probably saved the life of the young woman.

Jailer Ewell Friday night John Owings was attracted to the front door and upon investigation found Miss Sapp staggering on the porch. The young woman told the Jailer she had taken poison and wanted to die, requesting him to send for her mother. Mr. Owings at once sent for Dr. H. F. Brooks. Miss Sapp was taken to the Johnson Memorial hospital, where her condition was reported to be improved when the hospital dictatorship morning. She will recover.

The young woman had been working at the home of Mrs. J. T. Hinkle in Carlisle for several weeks. She refused to make any statement, other than that she wanted to die.

EWE HAS FIVE LAMBS

Three Ewes Of Hamer Miller Has Total Of 11 Lambs

If all of the flock of ewes belonging to Hamer Miller, who resides near Carlisle, were as prolific as those of his flock, Mr. Miller's lambs would be profitable this year, regardless of the price.

According to a story told The Mercury Monday by one of Mr. Miller's ewes have given birth to eleven lambs, all of which are living. One of the ewes has broken all local records with a total of five lambs, and the two others have three lambs each.

If anyone has a flock of ewes which can beat the record of Mr. Miller's ewes The Mercury would be glad to hear from them.

Nicholas county lamb crop this spring will probably be one of the largest in years, according to reports. There are probably twice as many lambs in the county this year as there have been out of the most profitable sources of revenue on farms during the past few years.

The tournament will start on Friday afternoon when Clintonville and North Middletown boys and Center Hill and Little Rock boys clash.

The girls game will be played Saturday night, preceding the finals.

Paris High school, undefeated during the season and leader in the Central Kentucky Conference, is practically assured of winning the tournament championship, in which event it will represent the district in the regional conference to be held at Maysville next week.

QUEEN IS INDICTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Grand Jury Indicts Negro On Final Day Of Term Last Thursday 11 Indictments Returned

The February term of the Nicholas Circuit court which ended late Saturday afternoon and the grand jury submitted its final report to Judge Jesse Bratcher.

In its report the grand jury reported that it had been in session for five days, examined 36 witnesses and returned 12 indictments. An indictment was returned against Will Arthur Queen, negro, charging him with the murder of Walter Dale, negro school teacher, in Minerva on March, 1929. Sam Neal, who is serving a sentence of 21 years in the penitentiary for his connection with the killing of Dale, was brought here from Frankfort and taken before the grand jury.

Neal charges Queen killed Dale in Neal's home. He said to have stated that the reason that he had not accused Queen of the murder before is that Queen had threatened his life. While he was in jail awaiting trial Neal said, Queen visited him and threatened his life if he told who committed the murder. Queen is in jail under the Nicholas county bond.

JUDICIAL DISTRICT CHANGE IS PLANNED

Nicholas Would Be Placed In New District Under Redistricting Plan Being Considered

A bill planning the redistricting of the 37 judicial districts of the state into 32 districts has been drawn up by Democratic leaders of the Kentucky General Assembly and will probably be introduced this week. Leaders claim the elimination of five court districts would save the state $100,000 a year in court cost.

Under the plan Nicholas county would be taken from the present district and put into a district composed of Montgomery, Bowan, Fleming, Bath and Nicholas.

The present district would be composed of Harrison, Pendleton, Robertson, Bracken and Mason.

One of the most important changes would be in the Fayette district. Bourbon would be added to the Fayette county district.

The redistricting is intended to result in the election of 13 Democratic Judges and Commonwealth Attorneys and seven Republican Judges and Attorneys.
