RELIGIOUS

PRATHER HALL

Water baptism was designed to take the place of all the Jewish rituals and ceremonies of the Mosaic law. A close student of the Scriptures must concede that not a single genuine was baptized in the day of Pentecost, for it was against their traditions to even touch a gentile. Peter had a vision repeated three times before he could understand that the Lord had asked him to go to a Jewish Prosylite. While Paul was knocked down and smitten with blindness for three days before he could believe or accept the grace that saves all men who believe in a risen Lord. Come at 9:30 and worship with us.

WHY "AMEN" IS USED

The word "amen" is probably one of the oldest words in our lexicon. It comes from the Hebrew through Biblicum eis to the Greek when Bacuriat was a spoken language.

Directly, however, we get the word from the Hebrew. It means "truth," modify from the Sanskrit or the Greek which derives it from Sanskrit, and with its idegical meaning. Because the word denotes "truth," the Hebrews used it at the end of prayers as an affirmation of the truth of what was said.

This usage has prevailed to this very day in prayers of all denominations; but the word "amen" has taken on the added meaning of "So may it be." "So be it."—Kansas City Times.

FARMING FOR FARMERS

(Lincoln Herald-Post)

"Do you know what the chief cause of the black-belt-to-flat movement, why it involves schooling parents who go from farming to take up that difficult and arduous profession?

It is true that a man who knows how to farm and has been a reasonably successful farmer, will generally hold on the farm than to remain stolidly in a city.

Some advocates of the movement, Carlisle adolescent is the main contemplation. They say, and man will love to work, who can, as a boy, learn to cultivate an area, a row, a couple of pigs and a few chickens, should be able to support his family in comparative comfort.

Farming knows no short hours, it involves constant application.

Young men go to agricultural colleges to learn the scientific methods, the chemistry yet some benefit out of their instruction.

The city man, whose ambition is to "have an little place of my own," is entitled to the best information, he can ever realized, it helps him through the years of experimentation and trial.

He will find, if he ever gets that place, that there are drawbacks as well as advantages in rural life. He may have to use oil lamps instead of electric lights. The ice cream freezer turned by manual power operates just as pleasing results, but the labor involved is arduous.

City people are better off than they think. There are two sides to the picture. Look before you leap.

JULIAN ATKINSON TO HEAD 4H CLUBS

Local Boy Elected President Of State Organization At Junior Week

MISS HOWARD WINNER

Julian Atkinson, of this county, was elected president of the Kentucky Association of Junior 4-H Clubs at the close of the twelfth annual Junior Week at the University of Kentucky Friday. He succeeded George Kurtz, of Garrard county, who defeated John Ricketts, of Gallatin county.

Election of president of 4H Clubs is one of the outstanding honors conferred upon a 4H Club member.

Young Atkinson has been an outstanding 4H Club member for the past eight years, specializing in baby beef clubs. For the past year he has sold baby beeves to the fat cattle shows in Louisville and has won numerous prizes.

Atkinson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Atkinson, of near Carlisle, and will be a senior in the Carlisle high school next term. He is president of the Future Farmers Association, which is composed of the agricultural class. He is carrying four projects in the Future Farmers organization as well as in the club. Julian has been an outstanding student and has taken a central part in athletics. He is a member of both the football and basketball teams. He is one of the most popular students in the Carlisle high school.

In the judge show, a feature of Junior Week, Margaret Logan Howard, of the Paris high school, won first prize in class B.

In the other demonstration contests, the Nicholas county demonstration team, composed of James and Everett Stephenson, of the East Union high school, won third place to a field of 23 farm crops demonstration teams.

County Agent R. J. Matson and Mrs. Clark, who chaperoned the Nicholas county club boys and girls, reported that Junior Week this year was one of the most successful ever held. The entire program was conducted in the Dormitories of the University of Kentucky without additional expense and with no outside entertainment.

State Democratic Headquarters Move

This move was in accord with the decision of the Democratic State Central and Executive Committee in its last meeting in Louisville, a committee authorized such a move to be open the year round.

Headquarters will be in charge of Kevin Johnson, recently elected Secretary of the Democratic party, and Margaret B. Pearson, who has been chosen as Assistant Secretary.

Democrats of the state are invited to use the facilities of the State Headquarters at all times. The Party Law as adopted at the last session of the Legislature provides for primary and will soon be available for distribution to those who may desire a copy.

Schools Entitled To Millage Tax Is Ruling

An opinion expressed by Assistant Attorney General Sam R. Brown Thursday makes more certain the continuation of the University of Kentucky next year," Dr. Frank L. McVey, president, declared upon being appraised of news dispatches from Frankfort.

The opinion was to the effect that the University of Kentucky is entitled to the proceeds of the ad valorem and the common schools ad valorem taxes in proportion to the average diversion of the millage tax for operating and maintenance expenses.

It had been requested at a meeting at Frankfort Wednesday which was attended by Dr. McVey, James Park, Louisville, president of the board, Louisville, trustees of the University; S. Pelham Johnson, Lexington, trustee, the institution's attorney; State Auditor J. Dan Talbott and Atty. Gen. Bailey P. Wooton.

The question arose as the result of the veto by Gov. Ruby Laffoon of lump-sum appropriations to the educational institutions in the 1932 budget act, in the face of the fact that the budget ordered the discontinuance of all continuing appropriations and then, in fact, provided for a reversion to the millage-tax diversion of the veto of the lump-sum appropriations, would have no income at all from the state.

In his opinion, Brown pointed out that the governor had vetoed another and separate measure providing that money thereafter diverted to the schools should go into the general fund and that, in his veto message, he had expressed the belief that the discontinuance clause in the budget act would not affect the division.
