Another Arrested In Boy's Hanging; Two Now In Pen

Information given the state by Sheriff Andy Day, prior to his removal to the state reformatory to serve a life term for the murder of Roy Rickey, 16 years old, resulted in the arrest of Charles Carter, 34, of Bolder, Carter county.

Carter, charged with alleged aiding and abetting in the youth's slaying, was lodged in jail at Grayson Friday.

Carter was a neighbor and a milkman on the Rickey farm. It was said Day, upon his plea of guilty, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the murder of the boy. Mrs. Eliza Rickey, the slain boy's stepmother, was convicted by a circuit court jury on a murder charge and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Clyde Rickey, 52, the boy's father, will go on trial during the November circuit court term on a murder indictment.

The boy's body was found suspended from a tree near his home last August. The state contended the boy was choked to death and his body hung in the tree to indicate suicide.

ship and friendly advice. Many of them considered his counsel invaluable in their coal ventures.

One of the greatest services rendered to the state by Mr. Dudley was in 1926 following the floods in Eastern Kentucky that devastated a number of counties.

He was most energetic in forming a committee in Lexington at the Lexington Board of Commerce to raise funds for relief of the distress in the mountain counties by furnishing food, clothing, shelter and medical aid. He also was a most generous contributor personally and through his effort largely others were led to contribute generously as he presented to them the needs of the flood victims.

Former Gov. Edward J. Stanponn offered Mr. Dudley an appointment on the state board of charities and corrections, but Mr. Dudley refused this honor.

Colonel Dudley is survived by one brother, Gaines S. Dudley, of Carlisle four sisters, Mrs. H. A. Kackley, Mrs. Ella D. Rennert and Misses Anna Mavis, all of Lexington, and Mrs. Letton Vimont, of Millersburg; one aunt, Mrs. Ella Calhoun, of Cincinnati; and the following nieces and nephews: W. D. Rennert, of Louisville; H. A. Kackley, Jr., George B. Rennert, Mrs. Claude Rankins, Mrs. Elizabeth Kackley, Miss Rose Mayes and Miss Mary Ellen Vimont.

The body was removed to the home of Mr. Dudley's brother at Carlisle Thursday morning.

Funeral services were held Friday morning at 11 o'clock at the home of his brother, B. D. Dudley on Stymoore street, conducted by Dr. T. C. Ireon, pastor of the Christian church in Lexington, and burial followed in the family lot in the Carlisle cemetery.

cradle party" in regard to the Eighteenth Amendment.

Reviewing the records of the previous Republican administrations, as well as that of President Hoover, Senator Barkley charged that the present plight of business and the industry were the direct outgrowth of Republican administrations and maladministration.

Operations of the federal farm board was blamed by Senator Barkley for the loss of $250,000,000 from the treasury of the United States, and a shrinkage of $4,000,000 in the value of farm crops during the four years of the Hoover administration and Congress.

Barkley was cheered when he assured the crowd that the Democratic platform and declared "the American people are entitled again to pass on the question" whether they desire the Eighteenth Amendment.

"I have no apology to make to anyone for my record on thirty years," said Barkley. "I voted for enforcement and made speeches in favor of enforcement."

Senator Barkley said that 12 years ago he voted for submitting to the question of adopting the Eighteenth Amendment.

"I would be ashamed of myself as Senator if I were not willing to let the people pass on that controversial question again," he remarked. The Democratic platform pledges "repeal to return of the saloon."

Barkley said the Republican platform would permit the Constitution to apply to part of the state, by repealing the Eighteenth Amendment for states that desired.

"I believe the Constitution should apply to every state in the union," he said. "I believe it should be remarked, Barkley, referring to the Eighteenth Amendment, said.

"The results of that experiment have been a source of amusement to those who believed in it and who still believe in it."

Attacking the Smoot—Hawley tariff act, Barkley charged it stifled trade and described it as a "monstrous tariff act" which the Hoover in whose behalf Joseph R. Grundy raised a million-dollar campaign fund."

Governor Laffoon declared his administration saved $6,000,000 in the first eight months of 1932 and, "that spoke a system inaugurated by the Governor warrants with these states at 75 cents on the dollar, instead of paid for 95 cents."

The Governor added, "That self alone saves over three millions." He predicted his administration would have "such a magnificent surplus that when it is concluded we will not beg from the Republican party that made this state for a quarter century."

Senator Barkley was introduced by Congressman Fred Vinson, who, carrying for time sound the "forty" series game ended, so the Barkley speech could go on the air. Barkley at length administration, policies. He charged "Hoover wanted to increase the tobacco tax at your expense."

PROSPECT FOR LEAF MARKET IS REPORTED TO BE ENCOURAGING

Much Interest In Proposal Being Taken, Warehousemen Here Declare

SAVE HAULING COSTS

Members of the board of directors of the Farmers Tobacco Warehouse Company are encouraged over the encouragement over their plan to open warehouses here this year for the sale of loose leaf tobacco. Only the farmers can keep the Carlisle market from being a success this year, one director told The Mercury this week.

Many farmers interviewed by The Mercury have expressed satisfaction with the method of selling tobacco adopted by the larger markets. Some of the markets sell an average of 100 baskets daily. Hence the baskets are minute. Farmers, generally, do not believe that a buyer has sufficient time to inspect a basket of tobacco before submitting his company baskets to bring less than they are worth. On the local sales the records will be attempted and buyers will have ample opportunity to examine the baskets before submitting their bids.

Another objection of farmers to hauling their tobacco to the larger markets is the expense of stripping, trucking their crops, but in making possibly several trips before their crop is sold. Some farmers told The Mercury their crops were not ready the two weeks after it was delivered. By bringing it to the home town market the expense of delivery would be practically nothing and there are sufficient warehouses to unload the day it is delivered.

The local warehouse company has announced that the selling charges will be lower than charged on other markets last year.

One member of the board stated to The Mercury that there is little doubt but that plenty of buyers will come to Carlisle if the tobacco is delivered here. Manufacturers of tobacco have made a crisis this fall year. No doubt but that these manufacturers will be represented, in which event the larger manufacturers will compete with them.

Another factor, one member of the warehouse said, is that if Carlisle is made a tobacco market the property here will become much more valuable and will be listed higher, sharing with the farmers the burden of taxation.

If farmers of Nicholas county stick together and bring their tobacco to Carlisle, a market the equal of any in the state may be established here.

Relief Work To Start In State This Week

Machinery of the Kentucky relief commission will be in operation in several counties this week, while organization of the remaining counties throughout the state will be perfected as rapidly as possible, it was announced Monday by Frank Bell, director.

Under plans as outlined by Mr. Gatton, field workers will be sent into the various counties from the commission's headquarters in Louisville for selection of local committees, resident disbursing officers and social workers who will co-operate with the commission in the relief program.

A welfare committee, to be selected by city and county officials, professional men and women and civic leaders, is to be appointed in each county to supervise relief activities in the county and make recommendations to the state headquarters, it was said.

After surveys of local conditions are made and committees selected, city units completed, disbursing officers will distribute vouchers which will be presented to merchants in turn for groceries and other supplies. Relief relief work are to be submitted to state headquarters monthly for tabulation, Mr. Gatton said.

Boyle County Farmer Is Slain By Unknown Assassin

A young father was shot to death from ambush by an unknown assassin Monday night as he sat at the dinner table in his tenant farm home near Danville, surrounded by his wife and their four small children. Wilbur Lane, 23, the victim, was killed almost instantly by a shotgun charge that ripped into the back of his head. His slayer apparently had stood outside the dining room window of the farm home for some time, waiting for Lane to finish his supper and move full chair back toward a window through which the fatal shot was fired.

Lane was sitting at the end of the table with his wife at the other, holding a six-months-old baby. The three other children, ranging in age from 5 to 11 years, were seated at their places at the table.

Crawford, Hopkins Acquitted By Jury

Grand Jury Returns 36 Indictments And Adjourns, Trial Report Court To End Term Today

All jurors for the September term of the Nicholas circuit court were dismissed Thursday afternoon. For the first time in several terms no civil cases were tried before juries.

The petit jury was dismissed following trial of Jack Hopkins and Arthur Crawford, charged with holding up and robbing George and Mack Richards at their store at Oakland Mills, this county, on the night of August 27. Hopkins was acquitted upon peremptory instructions of the court and a similar verdict was rendered in the case of Crawford.

The grand jury, which had been in session a total of five days, submitted its final report Thursday afternoon. It was discovered that a total of 121 witnesses had been examined by the 12 indictments returned. The court house and jail were expanded, the report said, and found to be in as good condition as possible. The grand jury recommended that Hopkins be allowed to use the cage at the jail be equipped with a toilet.

Court reconvened Wednesday and will be in session today for trial of equity cases before Judge Dedman.

116 Counties And 33 States Represented In Enrollment For First Semester; 11 From Nicholas

The final enrollment at the University of Kentucky is 2,310 for this semester with 2,310 students from Kentucky. Three foreign countries are represented in the present enrollment.

Fayette county heads the list with 441 students, Jefferson next with 136 and Boone third with 47. All counties are represented excepting Butler, McCreary, Owsley and Spencer.

Butler was the only county not represented last year.

New York has the largest delegation of the other states with 46 students, Ohio second, gaining a clear majority over Illinois for the third week's tabulation.

Roosevelt now has 404,602 votes, or 53.25 per cent of the 759,600 votes counted. Hoover has 325,845, or 40.82 per cent. The remainder are scattered among the other candidates, with Norman Thomas polling 6.63 per cent of the total.

In the analysis of "How the states voted, voted in 1928," Roosevelt is shown as gaining less strength than he did last week. The Hoover inroads into the Democratic vote appeared to remain about the same.

Roosevelt won the lead in the New York voting, with 117,582 against Hoover's 106,708, and increased his percentage in Pennsylvania by a small margin.

BELA SHARP IS SHOT WITH SHOTGUN BY LEMOX WILLOUGHBY

Nichols County Farmer Will Recover From Wounds Inflicted By Neighbor

Bela Sharp, Nicholas county farmer, is recovering at a hospital in Paris from wounds inflicted late last Wednesday afternoon by Lemoxe Willoughby, who resides on the same farm near the Bath-Nicholas line.

Sharp was shot on the left side of his face with a shotgun, the discharge tearing away most of his left ear and badly injuring his face. Although painfully injured, his condition was not serious and he will recover.

The shooting occurred in the home of Willoughby, according to details of the affair told by Willoughby to Sheriff D. M. Curry. Willoughby, according to his story, returned to his home in the middle of the afternoon from a field where he had been cutting corn. He was carrying a shotgun which he had taken to the field with him to shoot rabbits. As he entered his house Willoughby said he heard his wife pleading with Sharp to release her and when he opened a door found Sharp struggling with his wife. As Sharp released his wife, Willoughby said, he fired one shot and Sharp fell to the floor. He then went to the home of a neighbor and told of the affair. A physician was notified and Sharp was taken to Sharpsburg and given medical attention, after which he was removed to a hospital in Lexington.

Willoughby then called Sheriff D. M. Curry and waited at the home of a neighbor until the officer arrived. He was brought to Carlisle and lodged in jail, but was released on bond of $250 Thursday afternoon. He will be given an examining trial in county court Saturday.

Sharp and Willoughby both reside on the farm formerly owned by Sharp and his sister Ear the Bath-Nicholas line, a short distance from Sharpsburg, in this county. The farm was sold recently at commissioner's sale to the Kentucky Joint Stock Land Bank and the bank sold the farm a short time ago to A. M. Peed, of Sharpsburg, who will be tenant farmer there for the ensuing March.

Willoughby resided on the farm four years while it was owned by Sharp and said he and Sharp had never had any trouble before. Sharp, he said, was one of his best friends and he expressed regret over the affair. According to Willoughby Sharp was intoxicated. Willoughby has four small children. Sharp is unmarried.

Colonel Richard M. Redd Noted War Veteran, Dies

Colonel Richard Menifee Redd, 92 years old, Confederate veteran and long identified as one of Central Kentucky's most prominent figures died last Thursday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Robert Gaines Ellis near Lexington. The end came peacefully, following an illness of two days. He succumbed while asleep, and to the physician who attended he expressed to "die with his boots on."

Colonel Redd, personifying the typical Kentucky gentleman, his nickname, "Major," inseparable companions for years, often were seen on the streets of Lexington. Few paraders were held without Colonel Redd astride his horse, leading his troop, the Kentucky Confederate reunions with his horse.

Digest's Poll Gives Roosevelt Majority

With nearly 800,000 votes counted in its poll of the presidential race, the Literary Digest, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt increased his lead over President Hoover, gaining a clear majority over his rival in the third week's tabulation.

Roosevelt now has 404,602 votes, or 53.25 per cent of the 759,600 votes counted. Hoover has 325,845, or 40.82 per cent. The remainder are scattered among the other candidates, with Norman Thomas polling 6.63 per cent of the total.

Taxpayers League Is Organized Here

Orie Lebus, Cynthiana, And M. Carlisle Minor, Danville, Address Taxpaye's Here

A group of approximately 150 taxpayers met at the court house Saturday afternoon and after hearing an explanation of the purposes of the Kentucky Taxpayers League formed a local organization to be known as the Nicholas County Chapter of the Kentucky Taxpayers League.

The meeting was addressed by Orie Lebus, Cynthiana, member of the board of directors of the state organization, and M. Carlisle Minor, secretary and treasurer of the state organization. Both speakers cited facts and figures in support of their contention that both federal and state governments are annually increasing costs of operation and declared the purpose of the organization is to keep down the tax burden.

Harry T. Letton was elected president of the organization. Hendy Williams, vice president, and Grady C. Grover was elected secretary and treasurer. An advisory board composed of T. M. Botts, B. T. Conway, Forrest Dalsell, L. M. Goffin, W. T. Stone and Arthur Mullins was also named. The officers of the local organization announced that an effort will be made to enroll every taxpayer in Nicholas county as a member of the organization.

Mr. Lebus said Harry T. Letton and a few other taxpayers attempted to organize a local league here, but with little success. As a result of this organization, a committee was appointed and went to Frankfort, succeeding in securing a reduction of five per cent and prevailing on an increase of 10 per cent in the farm land value of Nicholas county, saving the taxpayers between $6,000 and $10,000. It was stated at the meeting Saturday.
