CITY SCHOOL NEWS

Glee Club

In the program given by the Glee Club Tuesday night, two eighth grade girls competed for the piano solo, Annabelle Hamilton won and represented the school at Maysville Friday. The other competitor was Geraldine Linville. They played Rondo by Beethoven.

General News

On account of absence, several seniors failed to get their pictures taken last week. The photographer came back Wednesday and finished taking them.

Approximately thirty-five high school pupils went to Maysville Friday day participating in the district music contest, account of which appears elsewhere in this copy of the Mercury. Cars for transportation were furnished by Mr. Lennon Wm. Allen Hopkins, Mr. Plunkett, Mrs. George Linville, Mrs. Bess Wood, Mrs. Clyde Beaton, Mr. I. B. Hoss, Mr. Ben Bisanz and Mrs. Stearns, all of whom were among those present for the contests.

Personals

We are very sorry to hear that one of our students, Jack Rankin, continues ill. He is at present in St. Joseph's hospital, Lexington.

Sterling Saunders entered the oratorical Declamation Contest held in the high school auditorium Friday night of last week. Tuesday, March 27, his subject was "The Guilded Cup," which he recited quite well for a difficult tournament.

The senior class is very sorry that one of its members, Maggie Lee Stephens, is ill at her home near Ellisville and has not been able to attend school this week.

Dramatics

An interesting one act comedy was given by the high school Tuesday evening, March 20. Jean Holder played the part of Maud, Lollie Wells the part of Miss West, Leona Smith the part of Mr. Jackson, Sam Owings the part of Mr. Elsevay, and Harold Brown the part of the errand boy. The play was very humorous and was enjoyed by all who attended the program.

The Freshman English class will give a play entitled "Good English Pressure" soon. The first part of the play is a minstrel with Bad Speech and Good English as end men, Sarah Bryant and part in a mock trial of Bad Speech.

Sports

The class tournament was held in the high school gymnasium last week. Only the upper six grades entered into the tournament. The presidents of each class did the refereeing. The Juniors defeated the Seniors in the first game 16-8. The Sophomores defeated the Freshmen 23-9. The tournament was won by the Juniors after they had defeated the Sophomores 15-11.

Band

Band and violin work was resumed Wednesday. Four young men, two having charge of the violins and two in charge of other band instruments are to come Monday and Wednesday afternoon of each week. It is hoped to give each pupil two lessons during the afternoon. Work is under the direction of Jack Bryden who has had several years of experience in directing band work in one of the schools of Chicago. The band is also assisting the Transylvania College band and Orchestra and some with the Kentucky Wesleyan in tions from the authorities of that institution.

It is believed few schools duplicate such an arrangement. The amount charged for instruction. Each pupil receives 16 lessons in a month at a cost to the parents of less than ten cents a lesson. The remainder of the instruction cost is born from another fund. It is not that there is an opportunity for instrumental instruction as such a moderate price that many parents and children will want to take advantage of it. At any rate the school extends the opportunity. The response is left to those who will benefit.

Wynne Named Athletic Director At U. Of Ky

Chet Wynne, signed as head football coach at the University of Kentucky three months ago to succeed Harry Gamage, was appointed director of athletics and S. A. Boles, who has served in that capacity, has named graduate manager by the Athletic council of the University Saturday night. Coach Wynne will supervise all athletic activities of the association, and will have charge of employing all coaches. He will be directly accountable to the athletic council, which will continue as the governing body.

Coach Wynne held a similar position at Auburn for four years before coming to Lexington. "Daddy" Boles has been director of athletics at the University for 18 years.

THERE'S SOMETHING TO THIS!

Edward E. Bodle, publisher of the Oregon City (Oregon) Enterprise, comments as follows on advertising and there's something in what he says:

"The merchant who consistently carries on in the columns of his newspaper is the merchant who stays in business.

"The merchant who, in times of depression, cuts his advertising appropriation first of all is in the worst shape when it comes the time of adversity of prosperity. The wise merchant is the one who goes on the theory that the public forget him.

"Advertising is a quiet business in the period when the careful buyers—those who are conservative—are those who follow it. But there are merchants who will not advertise when it rains. There are others who are downright lazy or sleepy. And there are some who are so bashful and timid and who will always be in the 2x4 business.

"The opportunity for individualism in business has not left us. This is a free country, where people pass and do not stop, as the place for enterprising business."

First Issue Of Nicholas County Press 39 Years Ago

Mr. Charles O. Dallas brought to The Mercury office last week a copy of the Nicholas County Press, the paper being number 1, volume 1 dated February 22, 1895. The Press was published by Hanley C. Ragan, and the office was over the store of Ratliff Bros. & Ross.

Mr. Ragan, editor of the paper, was married to Miss M. Sterling. The paper later became the Nicholas Courier, and was edited by Wyatt M. Inskn, and later became the Nicholas Advocate, conducted by the late J. W. Powling. Upon the death of Mr. Powling J. H. Tilton conducted the paper until 1917 when publication was suspended and the equipment was taken over by The Mercury.

The first issue of the Courier was crammed with local news. It contained four pages, seven columns wide, two of the pages being "patent pages," or pages printed in Cincinnati.

Among some of the more interesting items taken from the paper are the following:

Residence of Dr. G. W. Grimes practically destroyed by fire.

Mitsugue moves his law office to room over Ratliff Bros. & Ross store.

Harvey C. Lee compelled to resign position as salesman for Buckeye Reposcher Company because of eye trouble; Flemingsburg actually produces one crop of 146 to 154 in special election Tuesday; Born, to Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Henry, on the 20th, a daughter; W. W. Howe, jeweler, moves over to room between Farmers Bank and Heymann's store; Hon. Harry Wheeler of Maysville, lost his eighteenth year and still one of the most active lawyers in the state; Hon. Hanson Gordon, of Paris, Hanson Kennedy appointed member of Demo-press state central committee to succeed G. R. Keiser, resigned; Several hundred members of Knights of Pythias attend celebration of thirty-second anniversary of order here yesterday; Taylor Mathers returns home from State College as Kentucky's one hundred and sixth amateur scientist.

Cole Blease, ex-governor of South Carolina in 1911, said "Whenever the Constitution comes between men and the virtue of white women of South Carolina, I say to hell the Constitution."

Scenes of lynchings are usually left out of history but the general economic and social average. The mob that lynched the two California men recently was recruited from San Jose's upstanding.

Despite a belief that negroes who attack white women are the most common mob victims, records show that since 1889 a total of 1,406 lynchings were for homicide and only 623 were for assault.

3,762 Persons Lynched In U. S. Since 1889

A long trail of lynchings and bloody mob violence leads down through the years of the nation's history, thousands of persons in all parts of the country having met death at the hands of an infuriated public, says a special dispatch from Washington.

Since 1889, when records of lynchings were first kept, 3,762 persons have been killed by mob violence. Also 2,500 of these were negroes.

Although no figures are available, it is known that American lynching history was even darker before 1889. Outbreaks have declined markedly since the Civil War.

Despite a widespread belief that 1933 may set a new record for the number of lynchings, figures show that it will not run far above the average. In 1930 there were 120 lynchings, while the era in 1931 total only 13. There were only 8 in 1932. The 1930 and 1931 totals were 21 and 12, respectively.

Statements similar to that of Governor James Rolph, of California, urging protection to the San Jose lynchers have been made by other state executives, and Gov. Albert C. Ritchie is one of a National Guard battalion to take the Princess Anne lynch suspects into custody after the local authorities had refused to act, both had precedents.

Governor Ritchie's predecessor, Harry Nice, pardoned a lynch mob member, and Governor Ely of Maryland, when he was governor of Massachusetts, refused to call out the National Guard to protect the Sacco and Vanzetti executioners, and Governor Fisher of Pennsylvania, when he was governor, refused to call out the National Guard to protect the Mooney-Billings executioners.

Buying Power Of Leaf Grower Has Increased

In a statement issued in Washington, J. B. Hutson, chief of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, reported that market receipts and benefit payments for the 1933-34 marketing year have given tobacco growers a 45 per cent greater purchasing power in comparison with the cost of commodities, than any year since 1929.

Market receipts alone will total between $185,000,000 and $190,000,000, Hutson said, while benefit payments will be more than $28,300,000. These figures compare with $104,525,000 received by tobacco growers last marketing year and $129,138,000 in 1931-1932.

At the same time, Hutson pointed to the March 15 "intentions to plant" report of the crop reporting board as assurance that farmers intended to co-operate in the acreage reduction program. The board reported the smallest tobacco acreage since 1914 is indicated for 1934. This indicated acreage of 1,205,000 acres would be approximately 25 per cent below the 1933 acreage and 39 per cent below the record average grown in 1932.

Governor Flays Courier-Journal In Radio Address

In the first of a series of three addresses expected to be followed by issuance of a call for a special session of the Kentucky general assembly, Governor Ruby Laffoon Sunday night bitterly assailed the Louisville Courier-Journal, terming it "Public Enemy No. 1" and the "Dillinger of the Press."

The Governor spoke from the interiors committee room after adding WHAS, the newspaper's radiopheme station.

He was "Accomplishments of the Recent Session of the General Assembly." Monday night the Governor Frank Lelos spoke on the same subject and Tuesday night the Governor discussed the state's financial condition.

Devoting the first part of his fifteen-minute talk to the attack on the newspaper, Governor Laffoon followed with a resume of accomplishments of the recent legislature in which he indicated he will appoint the legislative measure creating a public service commission.

We never saw it, but last reports have it that a chicken heart has been found alive in a test tube at the Rockefeller Institute for over 20 years.

NEAL BOWMAN, OHIO BAD MAN, CAPTURED IN PULASKI COUNTY

Escaped Convict Is Charged With Murder Of Store Keeper At Camp Nelson

FOUR OTHERS HELD

Neal Bowman, escaped Ohio convict, was arrested near Somerset late Friday night and charged with the killing of P. D. Jasper, of Somerset and Capt. George Blackburn, of the Pulaski county police. Bowman was shot in the right arm and received an injury to the head believed to have been caused by the ricochet of a bullet. The latter injury knocked him unconscious. A companion, Stanley Morris, 21, was injured when the automobile with Bowman, was shot in the left thigh.

Five men were arrested in connection with the slaying. Chief Jasper had Neither of the officers was wounded and the injuries of Bowman and Morris were slight. Bowman and Morris were parked at a service station when the officers, who said they had been on Bowman's trail for several weeks, drove up Bowman began firing.

The men were wanted at Somerset in connection with the slaying of Nicholas county Friday and several other robberies.

Bowman escaped from the hospital for the criminally insane at Lima, Ohio, on Christmas Day and had been the object of a nationwide hunt since that time. He had been reported as seen in various sections of the country, but not officers at Somerset that he had been hiding in the Kentucky mountains since the day after his escape.

Bowman was serving a life sentence for robbery and was sent to the hospital a short time before he escaped for observation. He was head of a bandit gang which committed numerous robberies in Ohio several years ago.

Statements of three women associates, alleged by Pulaski county officers to be Bowman's sweetheart, Blowman and his henchman, Stanley Morris, with the holdup and slaying of Jasper and George Kaufman at his store at Camp Nelson. Kaufman was shot down and his brother, Will Kaufman, was wounded when two bandits attempted to rob their store.

Tue three women, Mrs. Lloyd Copenhaver, Bessie Hall and Margie Meadors, with Lloyd Copenhaver, were taken into custody Saturday and released in jail at Somerset. Copenhaver was named as the driver of the automobile used in the robbery at Camp Nelson. The woman and Mervor Miller George Blackburn, Bowman shot Will Kaufman. Both men deny the charge.

Bowman admitted a large number of robberies since his escape. He said the jailer's guard has been placed around the jail at Somerset to prevent his liberation by friends or his escape.

Kentucky Funds Amply Secured Inspector Says

Funds of the state have amply secured in the various banks used as depositories was the conclusion reached by State Inspector Nat B. Sewell, after an investigation of the affairs of State Treasurer Elam Huddleston.

"It seems little short of miraculous," commented Mr. Sewell, "that the commonwealth has some thirty days period of a depression in which both state and national banks have been in distress, many have closed and various others have gone down without loss to single dollar of state money."

After examining the security by which state money is secured in the depositories Mr. Sewell reported that "state money is amply secured and that the treasurer is using all reasonable precaution to protect public funds deposited in various banks."

In two instances it was found that deposits were perhaps inadequately secured and it was recommended that the deposit be reduced in those banks to come within the security required, or that collateral be increased.

"Such a remarkable condition," he says, "is a very high tribute to the care and judgment that have been exercised by the state treasurer in selecting depositories and in safeguarding the funds placed in them."

Of the 33 state depositories, Sewell said, nine are national banks and 24 are state banks.

Man Accused Of Sending Poisoned Cakes Sentenced

A jury in the Mason circuit court Tuesday found Thomas Mack guilty on a charge of administering poison to another with intent to kill and sentenced him to serve one year in the Frankfort reformatory. Mack was accused of sending cakes containing poison to prisoners in the Mason county jail. His act was discovered by a prisoner who detected a peculiar odor about the cakes.

Slaying Results From Attack On Wife In Fleming

David Craft, 55, farm laborer, was shot and killed by Clarence Blum, 24 years Mason county farmer, on a roadside near Mt Carmel, Fleming county, Sunday afternoon. Blum called Fleming county officers and was lodged in jail at Flemingsburg.

Blum, wife and the baby the hoist in her arms and Mr. and Mrs. Hoist "Applegate were returning Sunday from a visit with relatives in Lewis county when they met Craft on the road. Craft was said to have been drunk and halted the car, cursed which he cursed and abused the occupants. When Craft started to approach the car, Mrs. Hoist with a knife, Blum fired two shots from a pistol, both striking Craft.

Special Session May Open May 7

Interim Committee Unable To Agree On Revenue Raising Measure Following Meeting

The interim committee created by the legislature to submit budget and revenue recommendations to a special session of the legislature, took up the revenue measure at an session late Friday after considering appropriations. A sit-down session from the committee indicated the legislators were not in agreement on the sales tax, proposed as a general revenue measure.

Indications were that the extraordinary session would not be called before May, and it was learned that May 7 is being considered as a tentative date for the opening of the special session. This would be on the Monday following the Kentucky Derby.

The committee was reported to have decided tentatively on an appropriation of $6,700,000 a year for the common school fund. This would provide a common school per capita of $15 as compared with $6 for the present year.

State To Speed Up Road Building

Rights Of Way For Projects Must Be Secured Immediately Commission Warns

Seeking to expedite the public work programs in Kentucky the state highway commission directed Chief Engineer W. C. Hatcher to notify counties and municipalities to obtain right of way for projects to be undertaken immediately if they do not want the projects to lapse.

The chief engineer will notify officials in counties and cities where projects are being built by means of local orders that the commission will be unable to transfer the funds to other projects unless right of way is secured for the projects.

State officials have been urged by Washington to speed up the public work program in Kentucky. Pressure also has been exerted on the state and nation to provide employment in public works. Hatcher said this year alone Kentucky ranked 19th among the states in the number of jobs and payroll of men employed on NRA projects. Hatcher said the commission is working to information, he had received Kentucky had advertised 35.6 per cent of its $7,517,000 NRA road program as of March 10 as compared with an average of 26.6 for all the states.

The commission directed the state treasurer to call an additional $250,000 of its road warrants for that date and July 10, boosting the total amount of road warrants called for that date to $1,000,000. The treasurer was authorized yesterday to issue a call for $750,000 in warrants.

Fears that reduced revenues would necessitate a cut in state road funds in the next two years were voiced by highway commissioners.

It was estimated the state road fund would have about $18,000,000 less state and federal revenue in the next two years than it had during the present biennium.

Distribution Ordered By Farmers-Exchange Bank

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of Farmers-Exchange Bank of Millersburg, held last Thursday, it was ordered that a distribution of a per cent of "frozen deposits" be made to the depositors.

This distribution will be the second one of the first 10% of the deposition, less than eight months ago when a dividend totalling of about thirty thousand dollars that has been made available without any deduction from "frozen deposits" besides having repaid approximately sixty thousand dollars of borrowed money.

It was announced that the Bank does not now have any bills payable.

For the first time in the memories of the oldest inhabitants of Massachusetts isotherge recently appeared in the Atlantic off Cape Cod.

Rev. Dickey Dies In Flemingsburg

Beloved Methodist Preacher, 82 Years Old, Succumbs Following Stroke Of Paralysis

Rev. John Jay Dickey, veteran preacher and educator and oldest alumnus of Kentucky Wesleyan College, died at his home at Flemingsburg Monday following a stroke of paralysis. He would have been 82 years old April 8.

Rev. Dickey was born in Fleming county. He was graduated from Kentucky Wesleyan College in 1873 and spent two years at Ohio Wesleyan. After graduation, he came to Carlisle where he taught school for three years. In 1876 he joined the Kentucky Conference of the M. E. Church, South, and held several pastorates. Failing health led him to retire temporarily from the ministry and he went to Jackson where he edited Jackson Journal for five years published the Jackson Herald.

Later Rev. Dickey moved to London and was pastor of the Methodist church. Boyley of the Kentucky Conference founded the Bennett Memorial church, and Dickey served as its pastor. He published a book of poems entitled "Lyrics in Rhyme." In 1901 Rev. Dickey was married to Miss Ida Phillips of Flemingsburg, who died in 1917. They had no children.

Rev. Dickey was one of the most widely known and most beloved men in this section of the state.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church in Flemingsburg Wednesday afternoon and burial took place in the Flemingsburg cemetery.

Cut In Tobacco Tax Is Probable

40 Per Cent Horizontal Reduction Expected To Be Recommended By Committee

Producers of smoking tobacco are finally assured of a reduction in the federal cigarette tax of $1 per thousand at the recommendation of the subcommittee of the ways and means committee. Reports that the levy are accepted, Frederick A. Wallis, of Houston county, said upon his return from Washington. Mr. Wallis was one of the last speakers heard by the ways and means committee in favoring a tax reduction.

Mr. Wallis said that more than 200 Kentuckians were present at the session of the subcommittee. He said he expected that the subcommittee would recommend "at least a 40 per cent horizontal reduction." He declared he knew no reason why the ways and means committee would not accept the recommendation of the subcommittee.

Mack Ritchie, who with Harry Lee and T. C. Asbury, all of Bath county, were among the tobacco producers at the meeting also expressed the belief that a reduction in the tax would be made.

Fred M. Vinson is chairman of the subcommittee of the ways and means committee.

A reduction of 40 cents on the thousand would bring the tax from 6 cents to 3.6 cents on a package and would enable present 15 cent cigarettes to sell at 10 cents and 10 cent cigarettes at 7 for 15 cents, it was estimated by those who favored a reduction that lower prices would increase consumption.

Valley View Postmistress Slain; Lover Suicides

What was described by officials as a "lovers' triangle" culminated Thursday afternoon in the slaying of Mrs. Iva Clarence Mason, 36-year-old divorce and postmistress at Valley View, Madison county, and the suicide of Phil Hoover, 34, of Woodford county, whose father, Albert Hoover, was convicted recently in a 21-year prison term on a charge of manslaughter.

Mrs. Masters mother of two small children, was shot in the back apparently as she attempted to escape from Hoover. The bodies of both the woman and the man were found in a rear room at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Masters, parents of Mrs. Masters.

A note found in Hoover's pocket included a request that he and Mrs. Mason be buried together. "We are going to hell together," it said in part.
