Child Killed By Train Which Was Bringing Food

A freight train that has brought food to a flood stricken near Greenup for the last three months Friday brought death.

And the locomotive whistle that daily had summoned Albert Stapleton, 11 years old, to dinner, screched a requiem for a pal.

The crew of westbound freight No. 97 of the Chesapeake and Ohio had noticed if the circumstances of Hayden Stapleton, his wife and five children, who live along the tracks 12 miles west of Greenup. So each day they handed down a basket of food as they chugged past.

On Christmas there were toys in the basket and a note.

Friday Albert and his brother, George, 12, were playing on the tracks awaiting the train. An eastbound train approached and they beamed out of its way. Just then the whistle of No. 97 blew down the track.

They rushed to get on the side of the track on which the basket would be handed down. George saw he couldn't make it and lay down between the rails. The long string of cars passed over him and he got unharmed.

But when the train stopped 500 yards down the track trainmen picked up Albert. He was dead.

Friends drawn by the tragedy read the Christmas note which the unexhausted family had been unable to decipher. It read: "From Engineer T. J. Wesley, Russell, Ky."

LYRIC THEATRE

The regular monthly meeting of Dougherty Lodge No. 65, F. & A. M. will be held Friday night.

The stock reducing sale of Sam T. Howe is still in progress and is being largely attended. Bargains in seasonable merchandise are offered at this sale.

So far as can be learned, no applications have been made for licenses to sell liquor. Only one firm here is licensed to dispense liquor by the package.

Annabelle Hamilton was adjudged winner of the piano contest over Pauline Linville at the concert given at the city school Tuesday night and will represent the school in the district contest.

The Lexington district missionary society of some 4 will meet in First Methodist church Wednesday, March 28, for an all-day meeting. Several members of the local organization will attend.

Nicholas county's quota of young men for enrollment in Citizens Military Training Camps this year has been reduced to three. R. L. Robinson has been appointed chairman of the enrollment in this county.

Leonard Howard, formerly of this county, has been appointed by Gov. Marshall of Sharpsburg. Mr. Howard was formerly Chief of Police of Louisville. He has been ill for several weeks at his home in Sharpsburg.

Farmers who slaughtered their hogs and have a surplus of cured meat will be allowed to sell 200 pounds without paying a processing tax, it was learned. Farmers have requested information concerning the sale of surplus meat.

A large crowd attended the concert given by the Carlisle high school glee club in the city school auditorium Tuesday night. The same numbers were given that will be given in the district contest next week.

The fifteenth anniversary of the establishment of the American Legion was celebrated by Nicholas Post at a meeting last Thursday night. The post has a paid up membership this year of 67 members, out of a quota of 100 for the year.

The relief committee Tuesday received a message from the Kentucky Relief Commission at Louisville that the feeding of undernourished children at the city school will be continued. This relief was also stopped last Friday when funds alotted to this county were exhausted.

The Maysluck high school took three of the first places in the district debating and oratorical contests held at Maysville Tuesday afternoon. Four of the Maysluck school won the debating, declamation and extemporaneous. Mrs. Carl Saunders, representing the Carlisle high school, was second in the declamation contest.

Dr. Terry Bird, writing from Panama City, Florida, says: "Why pay more when you can get all the news for $2? So send The Mercury on for one year." Subject to the above offer, Dr. Bird regards to all the friends in Carlisle. Dr. Bird, popular young health officer, resigned his position here last April to take up private practice in Florida.

Winter took one final fling during the week end, sending the thermometer to 20 degrees Sunday and Monday. However, spring officially arrived Wednesday and brought a relief from the cold weather. While snow still lingers in the hence corners and other shaded places, the weather man promises Old Sol will remove all traces of winter in a day or two.

Nicholas county's quota for the next CCC enlistment is 7 men. An alternate will be named to take the examination, but only 7 men will go to camp from this county. Report as to the local personnel chosen was ordered made to Louisville not later than March 26 and it is probable that the call for the boys will come some two weeks later. More than fifty boys applied for enlistment here.

The last will and testament of the late Miss Maude Downs was probated in county court Monday. The instrument, which was in the handwriting of the testator, was dated May 6, 1932. After providing for the payment of all her debts, Miss Downs divided most of her household furnishings among friends and made the following special bequests: To Dr. T. P. Scott, $300; to Holland Dills, $100; to the Carlisle Methodist church, $500; to the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church, $500; to Miss Ida Howard, her residence on Maple street during her life-time and upon her death the house to be sold and proceeds to go to a girls missionary school in Japan. Miss Drusilla Campbell was nominated as executrix of the estate.

POSSESSION

(Catherine Parmenter)

Beauty resides in the small quiet places—
Away on a mountain's distant snow,
Paring the stars, and the swift storms that have
Not always in the unforgotten spaces
Where blue meets blue, and the seats are
Restlessly lifting with the immortal tides—
But in small, quiet places beauty abides;
Like to the frail song of a nesting bird—
Here the low, friendly hills kneel silently—
And here green pastures and still waters lie.
Beauty may own a storm-enchanted sky—
The mountain—stars—the incomparable sea—
But even does the heart of her belong
To these green pastures and this frail sweet song!
