The six-year-old daughter of Roy Gaither, negro, was killed Sunday afternoon when the car in which she had been riding with her family collided with a truck driven by Maxwell Mann, of this county, at the intersection of the Brentsville and River roads in Bracken county. Another child in the car was seriously injured. Lloyd Jackson, who was riding in the truck with Burden, suffered severe lacerations about the head and face as he was thrown through the windshield. Burden was not injured.

George Sweet, 21, of Maysville, suffered a fracture of the leg between the knee and ankle about 7 o'clock Monday night when the automobile in which he and two other young men were traveling toward Carlisle collided with an automobile driven by Miss Pansy Ring on a curve near the late C. S. Templeman farm, a short distance from Moorefield. The other two men in the car and Miss Ring were uninjured. Sweet was brought to the Johnson Memorial hospital and was later removed to the Maysville hospital.

THE LITTLE LAD

The people followed Christ one day,
A long way from the town;
Till, tired and faint, He made them stay
And on the grass sit down;
And then came a little lad,
With loaves and fishes small,
And gave to Jesus what he had,
Enough to feed them all.

For when the Master blest and brake,
The loaves grew large and fair;
The food was sweet for His dear sake,
To those who had feasted there;
And as amid the crowd, the boy
Beheld his gifts increase,
He had a new and deeper joy,
In Christ's own smile of peace.

And when the thousands he had fed,
Were going home again,
Twelve baskets full of fish and bread
Were gathered on the plains;
And surely in his memory's side
That night the tale was told,
How Jesus blessed and multiplied
His gifts, a thousand fold.

And still Christ takes the child even store
Of loving thought and deed,
And uses them for everytime
To help the great world's need,
And who so makes one frustrate glad,
Or speaks one healing word,
Shall gather, like the little lad,
A wonderful reward.

RELIGIOUS

MYERS

An Easter program will be given at the Myers Christian church at 10:30 Sunday morning.

LOCUST GROVE

A desperate effort will be made to have our services on next Sunday morning. It has been several weeks since we have been able to have services on the entire community is invited to the church at 2:30 next Sunday afternoon.

BAPTIST CHURCH

R. R. Cousey, minister.

Next Sunday is Easter Sunday. Surely every member of our church will want to be in the worship service. We should be every Sunday. We will hear our young people's choir for the first time Sunday night. Let us have a good crowd and encourage the efforts of our fine group. "The Indwelling Christ" and "The Darkest Word" will be the subjects of the pastor's messages for day. An interesting hour can be spent in Sunday school and Baptist training union and these services should prepare us for the worship service.
