You Deserve The Balance

Saving or not saving is simply a matter of paying less for the same quality.

When you pay less you keep the difference for yourself. It doesn't take long for such savings to add up to a tidy sum. You might as well have that money. There are plenty of things you can do with it.

Every time a sale is rung up for you from the ads in this newspaper saving is added up for you to keep in your pocketbook.

Congratulations to the newly elected officers and congratulations to the one not elected, to say responsibility onto the newly one and a responsibility off to the unsuccessful one. If the former members of the school board are elected, O. K. They will continue doing their duty as before. If not, they will have to be content to do as some of the former teachers have done. Give up their places to those better qualified, that progress may continue. If new ones are elected, they will have to get a move on to get ahead of the old ones. Congratulations and best wishes from Bald Hill to the winners, who ever they may be.

We express our deepest sympathy to the Asbury family. Mr. Asbury was born and reared in our community and in early youth joined the church and Sunday school here. AUTUMN LANES

When autumn lines are fluttering red and brown
And leaves are born on every tree
Then shadow from the woods is bounding by,
Then the wind blows the gray, dry, tumbled town.
Here all is still and hushed as a hush
Even the wind's number but the joy in avoiding.
Oh, I wonder wonder where the crickets are singing,
Where sunset fields and tawny tulips blow!

Oh, I would walk where every dell and grove
Is like a sweet lyrical with light!
Let those grim buildings crumble from my sight,
Let streets and towns vanish—let me rove
Where waves are chanting by some bad river moan
And smoldering maples line each roadline bright!

—Sue on A Coldwater in the Nursing Heart.
