Some species of young birds are bred that in several times their weight each day.

The discovery in northern Indiana a few years ago of the complete skeleton of an elephant lends proof to the belief that elephants once roamed over the plains of America.

Mrs. John Thos. of Great Bend, Kan., built a hotel for her grandsonds. The structure has 8 "apartments," electric lights, water and sewer systems, and private garages.

In his daily column O. O. McIntyre recalls that the famous tune popularly known as the Hootchie Kootchie, which was first used as an accompaniment to "Oriental" dancers during the Chicago world's fair in 1893, was composed by Joel Bloom, now Congressman from New York. Bloom was for many years one of the leading composers and music publishers in the The Pan Alley.

When knocked to the ground by a bull and in imminent danger of being gored to death, Adam Small of Marathon, Wis., saved his life by snatching the enraged animal's head, he says. The bull liked the snatching and stood still to enjoy the sensation for several minutes, then walked leisurely away. Whether this method would work in a case is problematical, but it might be worth trying in a similar emergency.

In an article giving safety advice to motorists, Ab Jenkins, holder of 14 important speed and endurance records says: Above all keep both hands on the wheel. The only two people I know who are competent to drive one-handed are Eddie Rickenbacker and Ralph de Palma—and both of them use two hands.

When Mr. Adolph Krammer, 28, a peasant woman living near Budapest, with 13 children won the prize offered by the Hungarian government as the country's champion mother, news of her victory was published far and wide. The prize, however, was only 100 pengoes, the equivalent of about $1 for each child, and Mrs. Krammer doesn't think it was worth all the trouble.

One of the strangest alibis offered by a law-breaker lately was that of Floyd Metcalf of Buffalo. He confessed to bootlegging, but pleaded that he did it to obtain funds to continue his studies for the ministry, being ambitious to become a missionary.

INDIAN SUMMER

(Mary White Slater, Ohio)

While grass is browning and fading
Summer days
Gone shining, showering, by.
For dawn, and noon, and evening's tender ways
Of glistening the sky—

Back to her lap crept all the lovely three,
With whisper, kiss and sigh,
Wakening a rose, a bird, a drowsy bee,
A last lone butterfly—
Trailing their veils of rose and opal hues
On river, hill and sky,
While gray November longed for summer days
Gone shining, showering by.

Work Started On State's First Prison For Women

Work has been started on a new $130,000 cottage-type women's prison at Pine Bluff in Shelby county, Commissioner of Public Welfare Frederick A. Wallis has announced. The new institution will be Kentucky's first prison for women. It is being established on a 20-acre tract deeded to the state a few years after the Civil War by the Federation of Women's Clubs in Kentucky. The new women's prison will be located about 15 miles from the new men's prison farm in Oldham county. Contracts for the first buildings have been let and ground for the new structures has been broken. At present the state has about 100 women convicts quartered in an old school building at Frankfort. Others are held in county and city jails over the state. All will be moved to the new plant as soon as the new housing structures are completed.

176,007 Unemployed In State Is Estimate

There are 176,007 persons unemployed in Kentucky, 40.201 of them receiving no public assistance, according to an estimate made following a recent survey by the Works Progress administration, it was reported Friday by George W. Goodman, director of the W. P. A., at the final relieving of the Kentucky division of the National Emergency Council at the Brown hotel in Louisville.

Of those unemployed, 63.2 per cent normally are farmers, 14.1 per cent normally are miners, and the remainder are classified in "the rather limited industrial life of Kentucky," he explained.

The W. P. A. now has 35,000 at work, 10,206 are in Civilian Conservation Corps work, 2,401 persons are working in the National Youth Administration, and 3,194 in various capacities with the agencies, making a total of 57,801 employed by the government on relief measures.

A report on June 1937, shows 8,359 being cared for in the farm security program and they are placed in the unemployed category because of their credit standing. The W. P. A. has available for assignment 12,503 persons, the National Youth Administration has 2,087 available for work and there are 22,964 others who are considered in the employable class. It was explained that during the emergency, only one employable member of a family was given work.

WHY DOESN'T FATHER WRITE A LETTER?

(Cambridge (North Star)

My father says the paper he reads ain't put up right.

He finds a lot of fault, too, he does, persuit it all indeed.

He says there ain't a single thing in it worth to read.

And that it doesn't print the kind of stuff the people need.

He tosses it aside, and says it's strictly on the bum.

But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

He reads about the weddin's, and he snorts like all getout.

He reads the social dom's with a most derisive shout;

He says they make the papers for the women folks alone.

But I read about the parties, and he'll fume and fret and groan;

He says of information it doesn't have a crumbs—

But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

He is always-first to grab it, and he reads it pretty clean through.

He doesn't miss an item, or a word at that is true,

He says they don't know what news we want, the dam newspaper guys;

He's going to take a day some time and go and put 'em wise.

Sometimes it seems as though they must be deaf and blind and dumb

But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

TO HANG DECEMBER 20

Circuit Judge Robert Northcutt in the Kenton circuit court Tuesday sentenced Ward Vaughn, negro, to hang in the jail yard at Covington on December 20 for a criminal attack on a white woman.

POSTOFFICE ROBBED

The postoffices at Rockwell and Taylor Mill, Campbell county, and Jeffersonville, Montgomery county, were robbed one Monday night. Nothing was taken from the Jeffersonville postoffice, but it had been ransacked. Letters were taken from the two offices in Mendon.

Edgar Chandler, 24, of Benton, owner of a motorcycle, Collins was seriously injured near James Morgan, 23, Georgetown college student, suffered minor injuries when their automobile crashed into another car near Versailles Sunday. The latter car belonged to the Pickard Baptist church in Wood-ford county to conduct services.

WHO SAID IT FIRST?

"Verify your quotations," is the advice of Bartlett's, but the advice is sometimes difficult to follow. In the case of many famous sayings it is hard to find out who first uttered them. There are many instances of striking phrases which have been attributed to prominent persons who had really borrowed them on occasion.

For example, Lincoln's reference to the government of the people, by the people, and for the people. Almost identical words were used by John Wycliffe in his translation of the Bible, Emerson, Theodore Cooper, Joseph Parker, Daniel Webster and Theodore Parker long before Lincoln uttered them at Gettysburg.

Even the Golden Rule, which appears in two forms in the New Testament, was expressed by Confucius five centuries before Christ, and by the ancient teachers.

Perhaps the most catchy phrase ever uttered by a public speaker was that of William Jennings Bryan contained his crucifixion of "gold on the cross of gold" metaphor which is credited with securing his nomination for the presidency in 1896. It has been and still is generally believed that the phrase was original with Bryan, but the Congressional Record shows that it was spoken by Congressman Samuel W. McCall in a speech several months before.

No one whose words have been appropriated by others could have shown a better spirit towards his imitator than McCall showed toward Bryan in this instance. When questioned about it later, McCall said:

"Yes, Bryan borrowed it from one of my congressional speeches. And probably I stole it from somebody else."

Going... Which Way?
Some folks walk as if they weren't sure where they were headed. Others step along as surely... they know what they are about.
It's the same way with buying things in the home and family. Some of us are always undecided where to go to shop for yet. Others follow the ad route in this newspaper.
Let's step on our ad path to a real money-saving move. These savings make your going easy, in the right direction.

A THANKSGIVING POEM

(Fred Lawrence Dunbar)

The sun hath shed its kindly light
Our harvesting is gladly over,
The barns have felt an inflowing might,
Our storehouse filled with goodly store.

From Providence, fire, flood, and sword
We have been spared by Thy Word;
And now with humble hearts, O Lord,
We come to pay our thanks to Thee

We feel that had our merits been
The measure of our blessings to us,
We, erring children, been of sin,
Might not now be rejoicing thus.

No deed of ours hath brought us grace
When Thou were nigh our sight was dull,
We had in trembling from Thy face,
But Thou, O God, were merciful.

Thy mighty hand over all the land
Hath still been open to bestow—
Those blessings which our wants demand
From heaven, whence all blessings flow.

Then hurt, with ever watchful care
Looked down on us with holy pity
And from Thy storehouse in the air
Has scattered plenty everywhere.

Then lift we up our songs of praise
Unto Jehovah God and Father
With incense sweet our thanks we raise
Before Thy works our powers fail
Though we should strive years without end.
We would not thank Thee for them all.

When you read the ads you save time and that you are being taxed for that privilege. We pay you for reading our ads we pay you for your time.
Every time you make a purchase from our ads you go home with as much anything that you know how much money you have made.
This benefit is not an expense to us. It is just good judgment in selection of goods by our advertisers. They cut out all unnecessary costs. You are entitled to the difference . . . and you get it.

Local merchants have only four more days in which to get the Christmas merchandise in The Mercury. The public can't guess what you have to sell. The big town stores tell them through advertising in daily papers. So why not keep this money at home?

DEATHS

SMITH

Mr. James William Smith, 81, died last Friday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ira Hudson near Hookstown. He had been an invalid for the past three years. His wife, Mrs. Sue Moffett Smith, died in 1935.

Mr. Smith is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Hardy and Mrs. W. P. Collier, of Hookstown; Mrs. W. J. Brown, of Dayton, Ohio, and Mrs. Franklin Conway, of Miamisburg, Ohio; two sons, Horace Smith, of Colville, and John Smith, of Harrison county, and one sister, Mrs. Virgil Hunter.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hardy and burial followed in the Millersburg cemetery.

CORD

Mr. Rodney H. Cord, 68, of Covington, died last Thursday following a heart attack at the warehouse of the L. & N. Railroad in Covington, where he had been employed for fifteen years. Mr. Cord was well known here. His first wife was Miss Nettie Robertson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robertson. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Emma Cord; three daughters, Mrs. Rosalind Dashiel, San Francisco; Mrs. Olive Carrington, Cincinnati, and Mrs. Anna Jones, Dayton, Ohio, and one son, Alvin Cord, Chicago.

Funeral services were held at his home Saturday afternoon and burial followed in a Covington cemetery.

KING

Mr. J. M. King, 79, architect, died at his home in Ashland Saturday following an illness of several years. Mr. King was a native of Carter county, but spent number of years in Nicholas county. He built the opera house and the Christian church in Moorefield.

Mr. King is survived by his wife, Mrs. Martha Whaley King; two sons, Earl King, of West Virginia, and one daughter, Mrs. R. L. Abel, of Kansas City.

Funeral services were held at the home Tuesday morning after which the body was brought to Carlisle and burial took place in the Carlisle cemetery, with short services at the grave conducted by Rev. Cecil V. Crabb, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

LITTLEJOHN

Mr. M. S. "Bud" Littlejohn, 63, died at 9:25 o'clock Sunday night at the Johnson Memorial hospital, following a major operation two weeks before. He had been in a serious condition for several days.

The son of the late Samuel Dobyns Littlejohn and Virginia Williams Littlejohn, Mr. Littlejohn was born in Nicholas county but had resided in Nicholas since he was nine-years old. Most of his life was spent in the Moorefield section until a few years ago when he moved to Liberty Heights to reside. He was a member of the Moorefield Presbyterian church and was an honorable and upright citizen.

Mr. Littlejohn is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nannie Payne Littlejohn; two daughters, Mrs. C. C. Shrout and Mrs. Brooks Henson, both of Carlisle; one son, C. C. Littlejohn, of Anderson, Ind.; one grandson, Charles Shrout, and three sisters, Mrs. Minnie Ford, Lewisburg; Mrs. A. M. Ewan, Helena, and Mrs. O. A. Brooks, Los Angeles, California.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Carlisle Presbyterian church with Rev. Cecil V. Crabb officiating. Burial followed in the Carlisle cemetery.
