At Our New Fountain Where Good Friends Meet

Good friends like to enjoy good things—for instance, sodas, malted milks, sundaes, and delicious, cooling drinks. That's why we have a new fountain, where good friends meet.

Wildlife Conservation Stamp Campaign

The 1941 Wildlife Conservation Stamp campaign has been announced by the Kentucky Wildlife Federation. As in the past, men, women and children throughout the United States will buy these stamps to help protect the cause of wildlife conservation.

These colorful stamps represent various species of wildlife—the muck on, bull frog, American beaver, black-eyed ringed wall-eyed pike, bass, turtle, marsh marigold, little blue heron, mink, raccoon, muskrat, whitetail fawn, gray fox, cedar waxwing, pine warbler, Kentucky striped bass, baldpate, muskrat, brown trout (organge, and white). They were painted by three artists, Fred Everett, Wallace A. Weber and Franklin Booth and are 2 1-8 by 2 7-16 inches in size—double the size of the 1940 series. A large picture of the steel duck stamp, painted by Fred Everett, will be distributed with the stamps and albums.

As in the past, stamps may be purchased for $1 per sheet. Various combinations of the stamp sheets, the albums and the large wood duck picture may be purchased for $1.50 and $2.

The album, designed for the pasting in of sets of stamps, carries complete descriptive text on each of the species depicted. Written by leading authorities, this text has been carefully checked for technical correctness, although written in popularized style without scientific terminology.

MONEY TALKS

It may not be amiss to write about money at this time of year, especially if by reading about prices, you may be able to save some money.

It was reported several days ago that Henry Ford had decreased the price of men's and boys' suits from $1.50 to $2.50 and their prospects are bright for another increase of from $2.50 to $5.00 and before fall Producers point out that the cost of raw materials has gone up considerably, and that cases are also asking 10 cents more for a pound of raw material yet prices are due in part to the increased demand of the Army and Navy for uniforms, tents, blankets, etc.

When we realize that whole cotton and rayon crops have been ploughed up in the South and that the price of units to cotton and rayon goods will depend on what it was a year ago, it would not be surprising if the retail price of men's suits should go from $5.00 to $10.00 this fall. The leather trade is experiencing advances in prices from 5 percent to 15 percent, and it is reported that these advances have not yet affect the overall shoes and boots, but it is a safe assumption that these shoes will be sold at increased selling prices.

Cash wholesale food market is large enough to reflect the higher prices we are paying for food, and higher prices are bound to be reflected in the retail food market.

Lumbering left its mark on the forests of the Pacific Northwest, which produced 1/3 of the lumber used in the United States. Lumbering left its mark on the people, which produced a race of reckless, hard-drinking, hard-cursing, hard-fighting men, who cared little about tomorrow, but who made a good living today.

Lumbering left its mark on the people, which produced a race of reckless, hard-drinking, hard-cursing, hard-fighting men, who cared little about tomorrow, but who made a good living today.

It is beginning to look as if we are approaching a time when we will have to pay for what we get. I hear often of a whole lot of something that people were and are so straight as a shingle. A triangular piece which humorists had brought out logs from swamps or models of a log house. The term "hand" dragging logs was used in making them. I have seen a man a log in the winter, which is though, for workhoppers have been also. Age and experience have taught me that a man who is straight as a shingle is a man who is a fool. Experience teaches us that there are people who are not straight as a shingle, who are honest, industrious, law abiding, and who are good citizens. Such people are the salt of the earth. Such people are the salt of the earth. Such people are the salt of the earth
