BETHEL

By Mrs. Hardin Ratliff

Robert Arrasmith purchased the town house of the late Mrs. Jacob Boyd and will move there immediately.

Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Kirkland and Miss Anna Howe, of Carlisle were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. John Peters.

Carrol Ratliff, his mother, Mrs. Ruth Daugherty of Maysville and her sister, Mrs. Lois Haughey, of Indiana, were guests of their cousin and niece, Mrs. Dick Hickey, Sunday.

Mr. Bob Hardin, Hershall Hardin, Roe Myers and Gaylord Rawlings, spent several days fishing, the past week at Cherokee Lake, Tenn.

Mrs. Gertrude Peters called on Mrs. Francis Hickey one afternoon this week. Mrs. Hickey is still sick and unable to leave her home.

Mrs. Joe Creasom of Louisville has been visiting her parents, the Scott Robertsons for several days.

Among those from here who attended the D.C.M.M. held at Owingsville Friday are: Mrs. Margaret Hawkins, Mrs. Clarice Hardin, Mrs. Mary F. Rawlings, Mrs. Stella Robertson, Mrs. Sheila Creason, Mrs. Bertie June Dickey, Mrs. Maureen Hickey and Mrs. Evelyn Crouch.

Mrs. Cherine Hardin and sister, Mrs. Gaylord Rawlings and two sons, Bobby and Hershall, Ray were in Owingsville Friday night.

The small son of Dryden Collier was bitten in the face recently by a dog belonging to his mother, Mrs. Anna Collover.

Joe Crouch traded his home here in town to Dick Hickey for a small farm known as "The Clines Place", located on Little Flat Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Ratliff spent Sunday with their son, Rex Ratliff and family of near Moorefield.

Kentucky Fescue Winter Resistant

That Ky. 31 fescue withstands severe winter weather better than Alta fescue was seen on the farm of Walker Coggin of Boyle county, who sowed both grasses at the same time, in the same field, and at the same rate per acre. Mr. Coggin told Farm Agent John C. Brown that the Ky. 31 fescue made a larger winter growth and earlier spring growth than did the Alta variety, about a third of the latter falling to come through the winter, while he had a perfect stand of Ky. 31 fescue.

Excellent ladino clover crops were seen on the farms of C. V. Weddle, H. S. Hall, M. E. Colson, Buck Basheers and Oscar Garner of Pulaski county.

MILLTOWN

By Mrs. Sterling Jackson

Mr. and Mrs. William Bussell of Carlisle Pike were Sunday guests of Mr. Bussell's brother, Jesse Bussell and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Haskal King of Bath county were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Jackson were guests of Mrs. George Hunt Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. John Shields and son, Ray, and Miss Ethel Buckler were Friday guests of Mrs. Shields' daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shields and son and grandchildren were Sunday guests of their daughter, Mrs. Pretty Fryman and family.

The following families were driven from their homes here by the high waters: Mr. and Mrs. Luke Willoughby and children who went to Mr. Willoughby's brothers, Henry and Wess Willoughby; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mitchell and sons, who went to Mr. Mitchell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Mitchell and children; and Mrs. Maz Mitchell and son, Avery, who went to Mrs. Mitchell's niece's, Mrs. Elgin Clark and family.

OAKLAND MILLS

By Mrs. Earl Hamm

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hamm and daughter, Shirley, Mrs. Hobart Shannon and Mr. and Mrs. Kash Ratliff and son, Ronald, went to Maysville Sunday afternoon to see the high water.

Bobby McCowen of Lexington was a Sunday guest recently of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCowen.

Laura Bell Oxydon was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCowen one day the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee McFarland and family were Sunday guests of her brother of Mt. Sterling.

Mrs. Will Feeback of Headquarters were Friday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCowen, Mrs. McCowen accompanying her home for a visit.

Trees To Save Soil

In an effort to check erosion, 56 farmers in Graves county have set out about 95,600 tree, the majority of which will be planted on waste land. Farm Agent Wilson B. Hoover notes that loblolly pine leads in the number ordered, followed by black walnut and yellow pine.

In Calloway county, 47,000 pine and locust seedlings were distributed to farmers as an aid in controlling erosion.

Disease-Resistant Leaf Boosts Income

Farmers in Spencer county growing root-rot resistant varieties of tobacco realized about $60 more per acre than those growing other varieties, the disease resistant kinds averaging 1,193 pounds an acre and selling for $609, while non-resistant resistant varieties yielded 1,032 pounds, with an income of $542. Farm Agent Nevin L. Goebel reports that a survey made among tobacco growers indicates that Ky. 16 was the leading variety in both acreage and income per acre.

Farmers using 1,000 pounds or more of fertilizer per acre had Lakevine, farmers using vetch or crimson clover cover crops came the highest yields and income, not on top.

A check-up of seed dealers in the county indicates that more than 80 percent of the tobacco produced in the county this year will be disease-resistant varieties.

Suggests Prevention Of Chicken Disease

Coccidiosis, a disease which kills many chickens in Kentucky every spring, can be prevented by raising chicks in clean brooder houses on clean ground away from other poultry, according to a leaflet of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky.

The disease is mostly likely to appear when chicks are two to four weeks old, during May, June and July. It may, however, be found in older birds.

The leaflet, written by Dr. Ross Brown and F. E. Hull, deals with symptoms, prevention and treatment of coccidiosis. Copies may be had at offices of county agents or the college at Lexington.

Leaflet Deals With Reducing Food Waste

"Don't Waste Food," a leaflet published by the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky, says that one slice of bread wasted each day by each family in Kentucky would mean a total waste of about 17,500 loaves of bread in a year.

"If each family in Kentucky wasted only three tablespoons of cream a day," it continues, "the total wasted in a year would be over 5,000 tons of flour, or about 194 freight-car loads."

In the leaflet Florence Imley and Pearl J. Hauk, extension food specialists, discuss ways to prevent food waste. These include a plan for buying, care in preparing food, serving of balanced meals, and use of leftovers, followed with a number of recommended recipes.

High Value Put On Restored Furniture

After learning some of the tricks of restoring old furniture to beauty and usefulness, homemakers in Barren county are finding that they have pieces rivaling those in exclusive antique shops. Mrs. Maldon Smith of the Rocky Hill Bruce Homemakers Club found five lovely dinnerware chairs, with which her grandmother had started housekeeping.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Probation after Death" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "As the Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them; even so the Son quickeneth whom he will." (John 5:21)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living: for all live unto him." (Luke 20:38)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Not death, but the understanding of life, makes man imperatal." (P. 485)
