World's Biggest Bomber Comes Out Sideways

The Chinese B-36, Chiller Chinese, rolled out sideways because it was too wide for the door of the building where it was built. Wheels were placed on the ends of the wings and the plane was pushed out on them. The plane is 230 feet from tip to tip and 46 feet high. The tail would be lowered enough to get through the door.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my sweet husband and father, who was taken from us two years ago today.

Our Hearts still ache with lonelines
Our eyes shed many a tear.
Loved ones may think and wonder
Why we have to mourn.
As it grieves the second year.
We mourn for him in silence,
No eyes can see us cry.
Bittersweet is a silent tear is shed while others are away.
Sadly missed by wife and children, Mrs. Polly Durnal and children. 12-23-1t*

OLD RADIO, TELEVISION DISPLAYED BY DUNCAN

Duncan's Electrical shop, located in the Deposit Bank building, has installed Carlisle's second television set, which is a far cry from a 28-year-old radio also displayed by the shop.

An old circuit, one of the first radios in operation in the vicinity of the country, the Armstrong Regenerative, was built by Duncan in January, 1920. Consisting of three tubes and a variety of controls, each with a function that called for the utmost patience—something to which the old time radio fan will attest.

Contrasted to the modern television set has a minimum of controls and after installation one need but adjust a few and vision as well as sound presents itself.

In this section only one transmitting station has been obtainable with programs from 3:15 to 6:30 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m.

Atomic Age Babies' Birth Certificates Taking On New Look, Registrar Says

Birth certificates will have a new look for the new year. Announcement was made today, through the State Department of Health, by J. E. Blackerby, State Registrar, of a change in the form of all birth certificates to be used after January 1.

Atomic age babies have their birth records kept in the latest and most efficient way; they are photographed on microfilm. As a clearer print can be obtained from white paper, the certificates will be white hereafter, instead of blue, as they have been for several years.

Some of the items on the new form have been rearranged to facilitate coding of the information recorded, and, at the bottom of the certificate, there will be a completely new section. This is labeled "For Medical and Health Use Only," and the information given in this space will be considered confidential. It will not appear on certified photostatic copies of birth certificates.

These changes will be effective in all states, and have been timed to coincide with the new decennial revision of the International List of Death Causes, which becomes effective January 1.

In preparation for the change, all old forms are being collected by the local registrars throughout the state, and are being returned to Blackerby's office, 620 S. 3rd Street, Louisville. The old forms have been in use for about 10 years, Blackerby said.

Christmas Contest Winners Announced

Winners of the Christmas decorations contest, sponsored jointly by the Carlisle Woman's Club, the Carlisle Lion's Club and the Carlisle Rotary club and carrying prizes totaling $15, were announced this week by the judges. The decorations were judged Christmas night.

The winning contestants follow:

Best exterior decorations—Mrs. Naomi Cook, first; W. R. Hunter Jr., second; honorable mention, Howard Veach and J. Raymond Neely.

Best interior decorations—Mrs. R. J. Brayfield, first; Marvin Sexton, second.

Best decorated business window—Kentucky Utilities, first; Bob Bowden was decorated by Eugene Fleback of Fleback Appliances F. J. Hardesty Tuesday said the prize money would be turned over to the Rotary club.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hovermale, Mr. and Mrs. Keller Hughes, Dr. G. T. Cowan and Stanley Galbraith, 1947 prize winners, were not eligible in the 1948 competition because their displays remained unchanged from the preceding year, the judges said.

State Police Plan To Park On Highways

Kentucky State Police will no longer patrol the highways but will park in strategic spots along the State's roads in an effort to show that they are interested in the safety of the motorists, Myers road, and Walter Price, Stony Creek pike, each plead guilty.

Price, however, faces grand jury action as a result of the state police arresting two slot machines at his residence. He was released on $500 bond for the last charge.

State Police Captain Taylor, Reynolds and McDaniel composed the arresting officers.

FINED AFTER STATE RAID

Two Nicholas county residents, as a result of raids made Thursday night by Kentucky State Police, were each fined $100 and costs on charges of illegal possession of liquor when cited before County Judge Walter Shepherd.

The men listed in warrants as Brooks Bussell, Myers road, and Walter Price, Stony Creek pike, each plead guilty.

Price, however, faces grand jury action as a result of the state police arresting two slot machines at his residence. He was released on $500 bond for the last charge.

State Police Captain Taylor, Reynolds and McDaniel composed the arresting officers.

State Seeks Local Viewpoint On Rural Road Construction

The first of the contingents from Kentucky's 120 counties will be in Frankfort the first week in January to present recommendations for roads to be constructed with funds from the new two-cent gasoline tax, Rural Highway Commissioner Emerson Beauchamp said today.

Beauchamp said an attempt will be made to consult with six official county delegations each day. First of the group will be officials and interested citizens from Adair, Edmonson, Davies, Allen, Anderson, Cumberland, Bracken, Barren, Bath, Clay, Clark, Christian, Bell, Boyle, Bowne, Casey, Brackett, Carlisle, Bullitt, Caldwell, Calloway, Elliott, Campbell, and Carter counties.

"It is of paramount importance to select for construction the roads in each county which are most needed," Beauchamp said. "Unless our own processing, we have selected what we think to be the most usable program of construction. This program is based upon every factor available to us and upon our personal viewpoint. It now becomes necessary that we determine which roads that people themselves want. From our present sketchy comparisons, it looks like we are not going to be very far apart.

"Our staff engineers will be able to present a reasonably consistent figure as to costs and it may be possible to start location work immediately. The success of the year's work will depend greatly upon the speed with which the initial work is done. Every county will be notified as to the proper time to present its recommendations. It is sincerely hoped that we may have the best cooperation possible and that every county will be prepared when its turn comes.

FEW COMPLAIN AS PARKING METERS BEGIN OPERATING

Parking meters in Carlisle, which were put into operation Monday, have received "negligible complaints," Acting Chief of Police Clyde Owings said today. Chief Owings said that he has had no trouble in getting the new parking regulations and that warnings only will be issued at present.

One merchant on Main street said that the system was "actually better" than it had been before the meters were placed in operation. Another said that "his tenant trade had shown a nice upswing" since parking space had been made available to his place of business.

Programs to be heard daily at 12:45 from the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky from station WHAS are: Jan. 3, J. B. Kelley, "Progress of Farm Mechanics"; Jan. 4, J. W. Campaign On Hearing Will Open January 5

The Parent-Teacher Associations of the Carlisle Independent School District and the Nicholas County School District urge every resident of both county and city to acquaint themselves with the hearing program which the PTAs are sponsoring in co-operation with the Nicholas County Health Department.

This program includes testing the hearing of every school child no matter how slight the deficiency.

An understanding of the various phases of the program by the entire community is necessary for its success. To explain the need and the aims of these hearing tests a movie film entitled "The Right To Hear" will be shown at every school throughout the county between January 5-12. No admission will be charged and everyone is urged to select the most convenient time and place to view the film from the following schedule:

January 5—10 a. m. Ellisville.
January 5—1 p. m. Nicholas County High school.
January 5—7 p. m. Henryville.
January 6—1 p. m. East Union.
January 7—1 p. m. Moorefield
January 10—1 P. M. Myers.
January 10—7:30 p. m. Carlisle High school.
January 11—1 p. m. Parks.

In addition to its showing at the schools, the film will be presented before the Carlisle Rotarians at their regular meeting on January 6.

College Of Surgeons Endorse Cancer Clinic

The cancer clinic being conducted at Central State Hospital, Lakeland, —only one of its type in the United States in a publicly owned mental hospital—has received approval of the American College of Surgeons.

Mrs. T. C. Carroll, Shepherdsville, Commander of the American Cancer Drive for Kentucky, wrote Governor Clements that approval had been made possible by contributions from Dr. H. Lyon, superintendent of the hospital, and his staff.

The clinic is operated under direction of Dr. Henry B. Asman and a group of volunteer physicians and surgeons from Louisville. Mrs. Nancy Leslie, Chief Nurse, also was commended for her "most co-operative work in the field."

During the eleven month period ending December 1, there were 851 patients examined or treated, by 173 doctors at eighteen clinic sessions.

"It is difficult to receive approval of the American College of Surgeons because of the standards that must be maintained," said Mrs. Carroll. "We know this approval has been made possible through the efforts of Dr. Lyon and his staff.

"We are filled with a great deal of pride over this approval as it has meant many hours of arduous work on the part of everyone."

LEER WILL PROBATED

The last will and testament of J. Clarke Leer, which has been probated in Nicholas County Court, bequeathes all property of every description to his wife, Mrs. Ruth Barton Leer, with the exception of the "Home Place" which was devised to his two sons, J. B. Leer and J. C. Leer, equally. The will further provides that Mrs. Leer could divide the guns and fishing tackle with his sons if she desired. Mrs. Leer qualified as executrix under the terms of the will without bond.
