RETONGA PROVED TO BE JUST WHAT HE NEEDED

Felt Miserable Two or Three Hours after Meals, Especially from Distress Due to Sour Stomach. Now Eats Heartily, Sleeps Good, Feels Splendid.

"Retonga proved to be just what I needed," happily states Mr. George B. Thomson, respected citizen and home owner of 120 Rosie Ave., Dawson Springs, Ky. A members of the Baptist Church where he was assistant Sunday school for three years, and a veteran of World War I, Mr. Thomson gratefully continues:

"I felt miserable for two or three hours after every meal and especially from gas pains in my stomach. My appetite was so very poor I made myself eat to keep up my strength. I had to keep my bowels moved with laxatives and I rarely ever slept a night through. The least noise would wake me and it would be hours before I could get back to sleep. So when I got up I felt tired out to start the day.

"The relief Retonga brought me was as surprising to me as it was welcome. In a few days after I had finished the first bottle I had regained my appetite and soon I began to get 8 to 10 hours of undisturbed sleep each night. I can now eat a hearty meal with joy and no fear of sour stomach. I no longer resort to laxatives. But Dr. Teddy Shaw's sluggish bowels. Retonga proved to be just what I needed to feel better than in years.

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach like loss of appetite, borderline constipation, nervousness and conditions. If the first bottle fails to give you gratifying relief, your money will be refunded. Get Retonga at HOPKINS DRUG STORE—Adv.

Softball Fans See Thrilling Contest

By G. B. Pruit

The largest crowd of the season turned out last Friday night to watch the games between the Carlisle and Millersburg Girls and the Paris and Cynthiana and Millersburg Coal and Lumber teams.

The Millersburg girls defeated the Carlisle girls, winning in a game that was interesting to the last. Bill Bailey, who relieved the Lumber boys 2-1 in the first game, was the winner.

The visitors, with Cunningham pitching, took a 2-0 lead in the first inning and looked as though they were going to make it a runaway. But Bailey Shaw settled down after the first inning and held the visitors to several terms with him the rest of the way. He struck out twelve for reunumption as one of the two girls called in from Central Kentucky made it a real battle. They scored one run in the fifth to make it 2-1 and had the tying run on third base with one out in the last inning, but were unable to put it across.

Cunningham has been recuperated for years as the best softball pitcher in Central Kentucky and this was probably the best game he has pitched. Therefore everyone should be proud of our local boys.

We call them local because, while they play under the name of the Millersburg Coal and Lumber Co., every boy who played in the game save one is a Nicholas county boy.

Tuesday night Stone's Service defeated Moorefield 6-1 on Caswell of the Scouts, turned in a nohitter against the Guards in Moorefield. Aside from Caswell's pitching, Ham of Moorefield stole the show for the day night. He drove all of Moorefield's runs in with two of the longest homeruns the writer has ever seen. He is on this or any other field. Tuesday night's games find Millersburg Coal and Stone's Service and Tuesday tied for first place with two losses for each team.

Forest Mase, four-year-old, of the Children's Home sustained a cut on his left leg Sunday when he fell on a grass sickle while visiting at the home of Russell Jones near East Union. He was brought to Johnson Memorial hospital where stitches were required to close the wound.

ANGLER RETRIEVES BAIT

Fisherman's luck took on a new twist this week in a story related by Mrs. Howard Hoover, female contending her experience while fishing in Boone county.

Mrs. Hovermale, using a baby wheezer for bait made a cast and got a striker. She reeled in her line and found, to her surprise, she had neither fish nor bait.

Putting on another bait, she made about twenty more casts and reeled in her lost bait.

500 Persons Attend Factory's Open House

Approximately 500 persons, who in attendance at the open house held here Friday by the Giffin Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of men's and boys T-shirts and sweat shirts.

Both the assembly and cutting rooms were open to the public, and many, for the first time, witnessed production line methods in the assembly of garments.

Officers and members of the board of directors of the Nicholas County Business Associations acted as hosts for the occasion and showed their guests. Beverly Van Bever, attired in yellow T-shirts and white shorts, manufactured by the company, acted as receptionists, registering the visitors and pinning carnations on each of the women visiting the factory.

The women's door prize, three pairs of nylon hose, was awarded to Mrs. J. W. Crump of Carlisle. The men's door prize, a three pair of locally manufactured men's shorts was awarded to Albert Henry, Sharpsburg, Route 1.

Following the open house, held for the employees at the city reservoir, Charles M. Cox, city manager, acted as master of ceremonies at the picnic, told the employees that their presence was one of the most vital cogs in the newly established manufacturing concern.

Local Crops Facing Grasshopper Threat

"There is a high population of small grasshoppers which appear to be well distributed over Nicholas county and they may cause severe damage to tobacco, gardens and other crops if control measures are not taken," William F. Kinsey, county agent, said this week.

At the present time, Straw said, most of the grasshoppers are along fence rows, old pastures and hay fields. Weather conditions of the past six weeks have been favorable for a good grasshopper hatch and the insects are starting its appearance earlier than it has in the past several years.

Chlordane, a new insecticide, that is especially poisonous to grasshoppers will give a control of 90 percent if properly used, recent experiments show. For the purpose of explaining the use of this new insecticide Straw has arranged for two field demonstration meetings which will be held July 2. The county agent will be assisted at these meetings by Dr. P. O. Ritcher, state entomologist, University of Kentucky, Lexington.

Farmers having suitable dusting equipment such as a portable power duster, operated by hand, may apply five percent chlordane dust over a 20-foot wide area around the boundaries of tobacco fields in order to prevent any grasshoppers from entering. This method of dusting is successful if used when the insects hoppers migrate from the boundaries and fence rows into the tobacco field.

One treatment is effective for two or three weeks. One and one-half to two pounds of chlordane should be applied to the acre.

Air brakes for trains were invented in 1869.

Better Attitude Toward Safety Would Reduce Traffic Accidents

This is another in a series of articles on street and highway safety, written by nationally recognized accident prevention specialists and published by this newspaper in the interests of greater traffic safety.

"I'll show him who has the right of way!" "I'll pass that slow-poke if it's the last thing I do!"

These are "famous last words" of the highway—short cuts to injury and death. They are symptoms of bad driving attitudes which have their roots in other causes. Often they stem from frustration, irritation, emotional upset—a calling-down by the boss, a quarrel with the wife or husband, a business deal gone wrong—or a thousand and one things which have little to do with the motorist's immediate driving problem. Human nature? Maybe, but it there is a single underlying factor to blame for the vast majority of highway accidents and injuries, safety specialists believe it is the driving attitude on the part of motorists.

Traffic records gathered over a period of many years show that driver violations or unsafe practices contribute to 81 percent of all accidents. Of these, the most common, unexcusable and dangerous of the wrong side of the road violations to be named as the three leading causes observed by safety experts. In fact, accidents, the last link in a chain of events which predicate behind the driver, are caused by an improper car maintenance, the wrong mechanical skills of driving a car, and a knowledge of proper car maintenance, they also inculcate those vitally important habits of courtesy and emotional control which are the best means of saving life.

The first are the automobile acts, such as shifting gears, avoiding obstacles, and the like. The second, and more important, are the acts involving problems and decisions, such as, "Should I pass that car?" "Do I have the right of way?" The decisions that a motorist makes determine the kind of driver he is.

In turn, the driver's ability to make wise decisions on short notice depends to a considerable degree on the kind of person he is. We often describes drivers as reckless, foolhardy, chance-taker; discourteous "show-offs," "day dreamers," "bad boys." Extremes of anger, impatience, anxiety, timidity and bravado, all are signs of maladjustment. All are dangerous attitudes on the highway.

Faulty driving attitudes which are deeply ingrained are hard to correct. They can be corrected, however, if driving a car is thought of not as a right, but as a privilege, and if traffic authorities and the public will cooperate in demanding high standards of driving skill and maintaining thorough law enforcement.

Not only are faulty attitudes hard to correct, but they are also contagious; they are often communicated to children by their parents. Let us hope the future drivers lies in the programs of driver education and behind-the-wheel training being inaugurated in increasing numbers in the nation's schools. These courses not only teach the rules of the road, the mechanical skills of driving a car, and a knowledge of proper car maintenance, they also inculcate those vitally important habits of courtesy and emotional control which are the best means of saving life.
