Cannon Company Will Be Changed To Mortar Outfit On October 1

Cannon Company, 149th Infantry, Kentucky National Guard will be redesignated as a 4.2 Heavy Mortar Company, beginning October 1, Capt. W. R. Buntin, commander of the local company, said he had been advised.
The change of the local company is in keeping with the War Department's policy of streamlining combat infantry divisions which will take place in all reserve and regular army units.
Tanks will be replaced by mortars and an increased number of jeeps and trucks will be assigned to the local company. The strength of the company will be increased from 76 to 123 men.
The local unit recently was commended by Gen. Lerow for their cooperation and discipline at Fort Knox. Capt. Buntin said Gen. Gerow, in a communication sent the local officer, said the attitude of the Ky. men was far superior to that expected of a reserve outfit.
Presently the local unit will accept enlistments of youths between the ages of 18 and 18 years, 9 old. These boys will serve for a period of six years in the reserve in lieu of the two years they would be required to serve under the new Selective Service Act.

NEW NATIONAL GUARD WILL BE STREAMLINED
The National Guard, together with the rest of the Army, believes that the sooner it becomes strong and fully trained, the greater the chances for world peace. It is an old adage ;but though it is a proven one that aggressors hesitate to attack the strong.
When the National Guard was first reorganized after the war the outlook was for a long period of peaceful development. The new year training program established for the Guard was considered adequate.
With postwar conditions came the realization that the training program must be stepped up. The National Guard has now streamlined its training program to fit present world conditions. Instead of a six-year program, Guard units will complete training in three years.
Developed by the National Guard Bureau, the Army and Air Forces, and selected officers from the States, the new program is effect now to do in three years what formerly would have taken just twice that.
The new training program goes into high gear in the fall when more than 300,000 field-hardened Guardsmen in some 4,500 Federally recognized units throughout the Nation get down to the year's of armory training.
Based on a three-year enlistment the new program involves simultaneous training at the same level of several levels of proficiency which are characteristic of the average Guard unit including tried veterans, semi-trained men and raw recruits.
Under the new program,'the first hour of a Guardsman's 48-hour armory training period will be devoted to general training as a unit. During this period the men will get practical instruction in the team-work which is essential in the modern military unit.
During the second hour of the weekly training period, the men are divided into specialist groups for intensive training in the individual roles they will play in the unit's operations. These groups are also separated into the one, two, and three year levels so that instruction does not have to be repeated to men who have already taken it.
Under the new training program; the efficiency of instruction will be stepped up because specialist training will be given simultaneously in the separate groups rather than successively to all men of the unit, as was done heretofore. It will also be possible for new recruits to be fitted into the training program without holding back the other men in the unit.

A PROCLAMATION
WHEREAS, the President of the United States has proclaimed Thursday, September 16, 1948, as National Guard Day for the proper and due recognition of the service of the men of the Kentucky Guard to both State and nation;
NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that we, the members of V.F.W. and American Legion, endorse and support, to our fullest extent, the purpose of National Guard Day, and extend to the National Guard units in our city of Carlile every assistance and aid in its further development and training.

State Hospital Aid To Counties Valid, Says Judge Ardery

Kentucky's proposed $1,000,000 aid for county hospitals was approved by Circuit Judge W. B. Ardery at Frankfort late Tuesday.
The ruling also validated setting up a division of hospital and related services in the State Health Department. The division was created by the 1948 General Assembly to supervise allocation of state aid.
The $1,000,000 will be used to help local communities match $2,500,000 in federal funds which are available for local hospitals in Kentucky during the two years beginning Jan. 1, 1949.
The State Building Commission, created by the General Assembly to supervise allocations for construction and improvements among state and other agencies, allocated the $1,000,000 last July 24. It is to be used in the two years ending June 30, 1950.
Judge Ardery ruled the money can be used to help non-profit county-owned hospitals. He termed the grant "a valid exercise of the sovereign power delegated for the welfare of the people."
The ruling was sought by Delbert Lagle, Lancaster attorney, in behalf of George B. Miller, a taxpayer. It is expected to be taken to the Court of Appeals.

Nicholas Youth Fair Catalogue Completed

The premium list and catalogue of the 11th annual Youth Fair was completed this week. Edgar Allen Durrell said High quality ribbons have been ordered which will be awarded in the various competitions.
Exhibitions this year may be entered in the following departments: 4-H Club, Future Farmers of America, Future Homemakers of America, Utopia Club and Department Exhibits. Four new classes in which exhibits may be entered beginning with the baby beef show and concluding with the tallest stalk of corn.
Exhibits will be distributed to the various youth departments of the Carlisle City schools and Nicholas county schools early next week.
"Copies are a limited number of catalogues available," Durrell said. "Persons who wish to have other than a member of a youth group may obtain a catalogue by calling at the office of the county agents' office in the post office building."

INJUNCTION SUIT SET FOR MONDAY MORNING
A hearing on an injunction against the Nicholas County Board of Education to prohibit it from refusing to carry high school students from the county districts to the Carlisle High school will be held at 9:30 a. m. Friday before Circuit Judge J. C. Dedman in the circuit court room of the courthouse.
The litigation is the outgrowth of refusal of drivers of the county's school buses to pick up pupils September 7 after they learned of the pupils' intention of enrolling in the Carlisle High school.
Meanwhile a temporary restraining order has resulted in the buses picking up pupils, who are enrolled in the Carlisle City school.

Musketeers To Face Paris Friday In Their First Home Game Tussle

The Musketeers of Carlisle High school, who lost a 48-0 thumping from the Cynthiana Bulldogs in their opening Central Kentucky Conference tussle last week on Lawson field, this week will play host to the Paris Bulldogs of Paris Friday night in their first home game and second CKC contest.
Odds are in favor of the Bourbon county eleven which last week rolled over the Larries of Lawrenceburg 40-0.
Carlisle's probable starters Friday are: Joe Frank Stephenson, L; E; Wayne Rawlings, LT; Jim Williams, LG; Kimball Booth, C; James Ross RG; Ned Hamilton, RT; Charles Harper, RE; G. C. Myers, QB; Kenneth Campbell, LH; Jimmy Hardin, RH; Henry Peters, FB.
Ed Ewalt turned in two 80-yard touchdown runs and added a 35-yard run to place Cynthiana in the Bulldogs' win over the Larries. Ewalt and Hamilton each scored his first marker in the second quarter with an 80-yard off-tackle trip and duplicated the journey in the fourth. He also made a 15-yard run in the fourth. Lane Taylor came in for his share of scoring laurels by scoring twice—on an 11-yard run for the first score of the game, and catching a pass from Brown Fein. Fein scored from the three in the third. Jim Bowland picked up another tally as he recovered a Cynthiana kick-off in the Carlisle end zone. All the extra points were made by plane to the home of his father, Mrs. Lelia Clay Crowe, at Florence to recuperate.

10 Property Owners On Route 68 Facing Condemnation Action

A total of 10 condemnation proceeding seeking more right-of-way along the old Maysville and Lexington road on Nicholas county against various persons, owners of property along the line of U. S. Highway 68, have been filed in the office of John F. Sugg, county court clerk. In the Commonwealth of Kentucky, Department of Highways.
Following the filing of the condemnation proceedings, H. D. Judge, F. C. Henry and Roy E. Barnes were appointed by the Nicholas County Court as commissioners to view the property and report to court their finding of value and subsequent damage. The commissioners met Monday, appraised the damages and filed its report with the county court.
Straightening the curves and widening the old Maysville and Lexington Turnpike is the main purpose for which the proceedings are taken. In some instances, the damage to property owners, together with the land proposed for the right-of-way, will be considerable sum of money, county officials said. This will be paid by the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Normal School Once Functioned In City

The discovery of an announcement concerning the opening of the Kentucky Normal School here for the reception of students September 2, 1873, with the program which belonged to the late John Smart, formerly of the Myers road, was found by Mrs. Tillie H. Feeback, his niece, among some of his effects.
The board of instruction and subjects under their direction follow:
T. C. H. Vance, principal; Natural Sciences, English Grammar and Theory and Practice of Teaching, W. H. Campbell, Literature, Mathematics, and Literary and Forensic Excercises; Miss Sue M. Talbutt, Rhetoric, English Composition, and in charge of Preparatory School; H. L. P. Vance, assistant in common branches and Algebra; Joseph Sutter, German Language; Miss Sue Talbutt, French Language; Miss Josephine Stuart, instrumental music, embroidery and wax work.
As set out in the announcement, the intention is to make the Normal School a permanent institution, and ultimately a school purely professional for the teachers as the Law College is for the lawyer, or the Medical College for the physician."
Five departments were included consisting of the model school, preparatory, business, teachers, and collegiate.

DRAFT REGISTRATIONS FALL SHORT OF ESTIMATE
Nicholas county registrants fall approximately 300 below the estimate made, Miss Hallye Griffin, clerk of Draft Board No. 77, today announced. Previous estimate indicated that approximately 650 men were eligible for registration within the county.
All men between the ages of 18 and 26 are required to register, Miss Griffin said. Some veterans apparently have failed to register, thinking that the law does not require them to do so, Miss Griffin said in explaining the difference between the present figure and the previous estimate.
Registrations for the remaining 45 days follow:
September 16, men born in 1929; September 17 and 18, men born in 1930, before September 19, 1930.
The custom of spacing words became general in the year 1000.

Nicholas County Taxpayers Face $29,130 Increase

Nicholas county taxpayers will pay $29,130.32 more in taxes this year than last year, statistics which were turned over this week to Sheriff John Anderson by County Judge J. T. Sugg, show.
In comparison, the books this year show that the total taxes payable, including state, county and school taxes amount to $182,-963.59, last year Nicholas county residents paid $153,833.27 in taxes.
Sugg said the increase this year is due to an increase in the county school tax rate, an increase in property assessments and the bond bond levy. The county school levy has been increased from $1.-20 to $1.40, and the bond bond levy increased from 15 cents per $100 of taxable property.
The taxes were computed by Mrs. John F. Sugg, deputy county clerk.
A recapitulation of the tax bills of the 2,161 taxpayers in Nicholas county with 2,126 taxpayers last year follows:
Property subject to state taxes, $111,881; tax thereon, $1,119.81; property subject to county taxes, $8,278,691; tax thereon, $82,786.91; property subject to school tax, $6,276,655; tax thereon, $87,526.10. Property subject to graded school tax, $1,-999,036; tax thereon, $27,335.52. Property subject to bond tax, $8,275,691; tax thereon, $12,-165.71.
The average tax bill in Nicholas county is $84.66.

Henry McHugh Dies Of Traffic Injuries

Henry McHugh, 46, Carlisle, Standard Oil company employe, died at 10:15 p. m. Tuesday at St. Joseph hospital, Lexington, of injuries sustained when he was thrown under a passing truck which crushed him September 1 in an accident on Pine Mountain near Fleming, Ky.
The maintenance truck in which McHugh was riding rolled, throwing him out the door and then overturned upon him, witnesses to the accident said.
The accident occurred at a broken back, hips, legs, crushed ribs and one lung punctured.
A native of Maysville, he was a son of Frank McHugh and the late Anna Crawford McHugh.
In addition to his father, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Thelma Fieback McHugh, Carlisle; and an aunt, Mrs. Dave Watson, Maysville.
Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. (CST) Friday at the Porter funeral home in Maysville.

Lexington Engineer Inspects Lake Leaks

An engineer's report and recommendations concerning the proper procedure to take in repairing leaks at the Carlisle reserve are expected within a few days from the office of Howard K. Bell, Lexington, Kentucky.
Mayor W. C. Talbert, who was authorized by council to call a representative of the Lexington firm to make a study of the lake, said that Grant Bell inspected the lake Sunday. Bell told Mayor Talbert he would trace the direction of the leaks before submitting a report concerning the repairs necessary.
Presently work of cleaning out the upper end of the lower lake has been discontinued. This work, Mayor Talbert said, will be resumed as soon as conditions permit.
The city is continuing to receive 20,000 gallons of water daily from Paris. Indications are that the number of gallons hauled in will have to be increased unless rain in sufficient quantities falls to increase the level of the lake.
