Hans Antmann, test pilot at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, lays down comfortably in the "pilot bed" and prepares to take off in a Boeing B-17 bomber. The unusual cockpit furniture, developed by the Air Material Command, produces less fatigue and permits the pilot to take steeper dives without blacking out. 75-Bushel Corn on $6.60-An-Acre Land

It paid Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stroube of Caldwell county to do long-range planning on how they would build up the 250-acre farm they bought for $6.60 an acre in 1944.

Mr. Stroube immediately set up a five-year rotation plan, every acre planted to row crops being treated with 250 pounds of phosphate and two tons of lime the first round. Every five years he increased the amount of phosphate to be applied. Now his records show that a total of 1,800 pounds of fertilizer have been spread per acre on practically all the farm since 1934. In all rotations, row crops were followed by small grains, grasses and legumes.

As a result, corn yields have increased from about 20 bushels per acre 16 years ago to an average of 75 bushels in 1948.

Mr. Stroube also raised a high grade herd of Guernsey cows and a flock of sheep. For his barley crop he recently built a tobacco barn, using the plan recommended by the College of Agriculture and Home Economics engineering department, said Farm Agent R. A. Mabry.

Last year Mr. and Mrs. Stroube had their house wired for electricity. A water system was installed along with an electric stove and refrigerator, and built-in cabinets in the kitchen.

In recognition of their farm and home improvement program, the Stroubes were awarded a $50 savings bond by the Princeton Kiwanis Club.

Big Tobacco Yields

Unusually heavy yields of dark tobacco were reported to Earl Agent John E. McClure of Daviess county. Hoadly Westerfield of Point sold 2,442 pounds of leaf, go from seven-tenths of an acre, for an amount equal to 1,491 pounds to the acre. W. H. Gilmore of the Ensor community sold 1,152 pounds which he grew on three-tenths acre. This at the rate of 3,800 pounds per acre. Both farmers used heavy fertilization, and had almost perfect stands of tobacco.

Electric Equipment Needs Proper Wiring

Be sure your home is adequately wired before you connect with heavy electrical equipment, such as a water heater, automatic washer or range, Miss Ida C. Hagman, home management specialist, University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, cautioned women attending the Farm Home Convention at Lexington. Old houses were wired for lighting only and Miss Hagman said that a number of Fifth percent of farm families in Kentucky now have electricity, she stated.

'Mercy Mission' After Blizzards

Near Ashworth, Neb., two farmers drives his empty wagon across a drifting snow after delivering a load of life-saving hay as near as possible to his cattle. Unable to reach his herd, the farmer could see the hay could break through the snow and find the food. This scene was typical of the western Dakotas belt, as livestock farmers continued to fight starvation and freezing of their herds.

Sunnyside Homemakers

The Sunnyside Homemakers had another wonderful day with Mrs. Jack Tincher, our hostess. There were 13 members present, and one visitor, Mrs. Sam George, who became our new member.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Nellie Gilpin, the vice president. Mrs. Myrtle Hardin conducted the devotional and prayer. Mrs. Raymond Hall read the minutes and called the roll asking Mrs. each woman to respond with some characteristic of Abe Lincoln or George Washington. Mrs. Tincher gave instructions and demonstration on measurements, it all being very instructive to those who like being well-groomed.
