Truman Begins New Presidential Term; Inaugural Ceremony Opening At Noon

Harry S. Truman, the man with a fatter pay envelope and a new four-year lease on the White House given him by Mr. Average Voter, today will succeed himself as President of the United States, a feat which expert pollsters and soothsayers said he would never be able to accomplish.

His inauguration for a new term as President will take place at noon today in the flag-decked city of Washington. The District of Columbia's city of nearly a million persons is considerably agitated about it, with the prospect of several hundred thousand visitors adding themselves to the confusion of the day.

Kentuckians also have special interest in the Inaugural ceremonies of today when one of her favorite sons, Alben Barkley, is sworn in as Vice-President of the United States.

Mr. Truman is expected in his inaugural speech to touch mainly on foreign policy, although it will not be surprising if he also talks about his "fair deal" domestic program as a basis for foreign policy.

Months Congress completed action on a bill raising the President's regular salary from $75,000 to $100,000 a year, and raising his tax free expense allowance from $50,000 to $100,000.

Friends sight Mr. Truman and his family broke bread with 2,500 members of the Truman-Barkley Club at a luncheon today.

Wednesday the President appeared at a Democratic luncheon which was followed by a reception given by the Governors of Missouri, then a dinner of the Presidential electors—and on to a fantastic concert which show-boats as the "Inaugural Gala" at the armory.

Today, the big day for Washington and the nation, Mr. Truman will take the Presidential oath at the Capitol for a four-year term, after having been President for three years, two months and about eight days. This will be followed by a mammoth parade on Pennsylvania Avenue to the White House with volleys of warplanes shooting across the sky.

When he first became President there was no inaugural address, no parade, no celebration. The nation was hushed in a great tragedy. Franklin D. Roosevelt had died. The death of Mr. Collier was felt in the White House and took the nation's mind off its economic troubles. That was April 12, 1945.

Roosevelt made four Inaugural addresses in his time. It has been 20 years since an Inaugural address was made in person by any President except Roosevelt.

Mr. Truman, it appears will take up where Roosevelt left off—on a keynote of strong toward a lasting peace. For that was Roosevelt's theme four years ago.

This photo of President Truman, made by the U. S. Army Signal Corps, was the one selected by members of the 1949 Inaugural Committee for use on the official inaugural program.

Garrett L. Withers
New U. S. Senator

Garrett L. Withers, Democrat, the new Democratic U. S. Senator from Kentucky has given unofficial word of the coming of a group of conservers that days Early Celestino Pedrosa, his party's opponent in the November election.

When Governor Clements announced his plans to appoint Withers to serve until the November, 1950 election, the Senator-elect said:

"I'm glad it turned. I'm not too long for anything."

John A. Keck, commonwealth's attorney of South Hook, president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Kentucky, said he would make the highway post, Clements said Withers appointment effective immediately.

Withers appointment effective immediately.

The President Inaugural Ball will be inaugurated at noon today. Governor Clements Sunday's resignation, effective at midnight yesterday was filed last week by Clements with the Secretary of State.

Withers is 64 years old and has held no legislative post. His selection completes a Western Kentucky tan in the Senate post. The only Eastern office he has held was that of circuit court clerk. He practiced law for years at Dixon in his native Webster county.

Keck, who is 34, has been Commonwealth's Attorney for the 37th District composed of Morgan, Elliott and Carter counties in Eastern Kentucky.

Native Of Nicholas Dies In Collision

Robert Frank Collier Sr., 72, Bourbon county native and farm owner, a native of Nicholas county, was killed instantly near Paris Thursday morning when his auto collided with a coal truck.

Collier was driving from his home in Paris to his farm on the Cynthiana road when the accident occurred. The car was destroyed as it plowed under the truck.

Neither St. John nor his son, Melvin St. John, a passenger in the truck, was injured.

Mrs. Todd Frymon said she saw Collier pass her home on the Clintonville pike, and shortly afterward heard the impact of the collision. She ran to extinguish flames on Collier's burning clothing.

The advantages of an American education to a Cuban student or that of his homeland were outlined here last Thursday night at the Rotary club by Cadet Ramon Martinez, Camaguey, Cuba, and Nicholas Gamboa, Santiago, Cuba.

$10,000 Damage Results In Fire At Greenhouses

Eye of unknown origin early Wednesday morning swept Thompson's Greenhouses on Eastern avenue resulting in damage estimated at $10,000.

Despite the disastrous fire, which destroyed the business office and severely damaged the two greenhouses, Bill Small, manager of the business, announced shortly after noon Wednesday that he was planning to continue business "as usual" or as nearly so as "circumstances would permit."

Greatest loss to the concern, in addition to its buildings, was the destruction of all the potted plants which were literally cooked by the searing heat of the flames. Greenhouse-grown cyclamen and carnations, which Small had produced from seeds, just beginning to produce in commercial quantities after two years of almost constant care, were included in the loss.

The heat, created by the flames, is understood practically all windows in both of the greenhouses. However, enough was salvaged from the two buildings to get at least one off them under cover.

The fire, which was believed to have started in the business office, was discovered at 5:45 a. m. by Mrs. Maurice King, who was awakened by the glare of the flames. She, in turn, woke her husband, who notified Luther Thompson and Small of the fire while Mrs. King was telephoning in the alarm.

The Carlisle fire department battled the flames for more than an hour. However, the intense heat of the flames and the extreme coldness of the early morning hour rendered its efforts ineffectual in the attempt to save the greenhouses.

The greenhouses, one of Carlisle's flourishing business establishments, were introduced here by Luther Thompson and latter were taken over by Bill Small upon his return from the U. S. Army. Small had worked tirelessly almost day and night for the past two years in the interest of the business and was just beginning to get his stock plants into commercial production.

Neighbors said that Small usually made a check of the greenhouses about 1 a. m. daily during the winter months. However, he had been ill with a cold and throat infection and Wednesday did not make his usual inspection.

The business was partially covered by insurance.

Weather Amazes, From Maine . . . to California
