EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

THURSDAY, KY., August 29, '93.
DEAR MERCURY:

The called session of the General Assembly has met. Every member is present, and from all appearances they are willing to remain here long enough to do the work for which they were convened. I was of the opinion that the session would be short, but from the way the Democratic Caucus has acted I am now inclined to think it will be long. Several of the older lawyers in the State have been consulted as to the constitutionality of the Chief Executive, but they will make their opinions public only in the Senate. The work of the long session of 1892 will be taken up and revised, and it is thought the whole thing will have to be done over again, as the bills have not received as they should, and it will show poll at the next election. The only suggestion I have to make is that the Democratic party keep away from the Legislature. I do not know about at this time, but I am sure a committee of Democrats will be appointed to wait upon and tell each member how he should vote.

One of the best paved pikes in the State is that from Carlisle to Paris, and now that it is entirely completed it is a delight to travel over it. Of course, but two days work remains to be done, and that is to be done by the contractors in advance of the time specified. Just look out for it.

The Democratic Convention meets here next Tuesday, and in all probability there will be a good old fashioned love feast. Come on fellow Democrats, we are expecting you.

Judge Hargis will be a candidate for re-election, but whether he is elected or not, he will make this district famous. He is one of the best Circuit Judges in the State, and is a gentleman in every sense of the word. He has made a record for himself that will be hard to duplicate.

Democrats who read the Louisville Times will be glad to learn that Judge Bell is getting well. He is not out of danger yet, but is improving, and it is to be hoped that he will be able to be present at the Democratic Convention next Tuesday.

Democrats should not forget that the Democratic Executive Committee will meet in the city of Louisville, on Saturday, September 16th, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of fixing the time and place for holding the Democratic State Convention, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before the meeting.

Democrats, remember
