UK President Will Be Guest Speaker At County's Farm Bureau Picnic

Dr. Herman L. Donovan, president of the University of Kentucky, Lexington, will be the guest speaker at the fifth annual Nicholas County Farm Bureau picnic Thursday, July 28, on the old Coxwold Church grounds, Harvey Wagoner, president of the organization, has announced.

A special feature of the program will be a pageant presented by local talent in recognition of the 25th anniversary of agricultural extension work in Nicholas county. This program of the University of Kentucky started January 1, 1924.

Mrs. Kathleen Wilson, president of the Nicholas County Farm Bureau, is also a member of the Carlisle Baptist church and the Mac-Arthur Lodge in Harrisburg.

He is married and has two sons and a daughter. Bobby Jones and Mary Jones, who is employed at Cole Hardware, and Miss Allene Jones.

Ferguson, a lifelong resident of Nicholas county, she is a farmer. He is married to Mrs. Lillian H. Ferguson, who is principal of Parks school. He is a member of the Nicholas County Farm Bureau and is interested in the artificial breeding program. He also is a member of the Nicholas County Lodge No. 65 F. and A. M., the Shriners, and the Carlisle Methodist church.

Carlisle Infantryman Stationed At Sapporo

Pfc. Garland D. Lynam, 19, son of Mrs. Minnie Lynam of Dorsey avenue, Carlisle, has recently been assigned to Headquarters Company, 3d Battalion, 31st Infantry Regiment of the Eighth Army in Sapporo, Japan.

Pfc. Lynam was originally with the 1st Cavalry Division stationed in Tokyo and was transferred to the famous 7th Infantry Division which was assigned to the "Polar Bear Regiment." The 31st Infantry Regiment is also referred to as the "Arctic Fox Regiment" because it has never served within the continental limits of the United States.

Prior to enlisting in the army, Pfc. Lynam attended Carlisle High school.

Hobert Jones Runs For Sheriff's Office

Hobert Jones of the Myers community today announces his candidacy for sheriff subject to the action of the Democratic primary August 6.

He has selected for his deputy John Ferguson of the Jackstown community.

A dairy farmer, born and reared in Mercer county, Jones has been a resident of Nicholas county for 15 years. He is seeking office for the first time, he says in his life.

He is a member of Nicholas county's dairying committee, is interested in the artificial breeding program and is a member of the Nicholas County Farm Bureau. He is also a member of the Carlisle Baptist church and the MacArthur Lodge in Harrisburg.

He is married and has two sons and a daughter, Bobby Jones and Mary Jones, who is employed at Cole Hardware, and Miss Allene Jones.

Ferguson, a lifelong resident of Nicholas county, she is a farmer. He is married to Mrs. Lillian H. Ferguson, who is principal of Parks school. M., the Shriners, and the Carlisle Methodist church.

Beekeepers Urged To Register Colonies

Assistant Commissioner of Agriculture Hobson Elias today said out on all beekeepers to register their bee colonies with the State Department of Agriculture, as the initial drive on an effort to simplify the 1948 legislation calling for control and regulation of the apiary sheet industry.

Purpose of the legislation, according to Elias is to prevent the spread of bee diseases.

He estimated there are 60,000 colonies of bees on Kentucky farms, with the greatest concentrations in Jefferson and Pulaski counties.

"The proper control and regulation of this industry, with apiarist aim being to prevent the spread of diseases, is important not only from the standpoint of food but for pollenization of legume seed crops."

A schedule of fees is provided by law to be paid. Elias suggested that bee keepers register their bee colonies early to cover the period from July 1, 1949 to June 30, 1950. The scale of fees is:

1 to 10 colonies, $.25; 11 to 40 colonies, $.50 cents; 51 to 200 colonies, $1; 201 to 300 colonies, $1.50; 301 to 400 colonies, $2; 401 colonies and up, $3.

Property Transfers

B. Hogg, one acre on Locust Grove dirt road, stamps $1.10.

Ruby Caskey and husband to Fannie Conyers, one-half interest in 35 acres, stamps $1.10.

James D. Owings to Ina Feeback, 30 acres on Long Run, stamps $3.30.

Scholarship Holders Working For State

More than half the 18 Kentucky men who will begin the study of engineering at the University of Kentucky next year under the Department of Highways scholarship plan are now working for the Department, Highway Commissioner John A. Keck, Frankfort, said today.

The men are being indoctrinated in the mysteries of engineering field work in location, rights of way or actual construction and maintenance.

Two prospective engineers from each highways district are selected by the University committee on a basis of merit as indicated through competitive examination," Keck said. "The committee makes the recommendations to the Department's chief engineer. The men are not required to have any deferment after they have passed the University's prescribed examination.

"While they are not required to enter into any sort of agreement with the department after graduation, it is our hope that they will join our staff then. The need for qualified technical personnel within the department is well known. Every successful candidate for the scholarships has been invited to join our staff for the summer in order that he may learn something of highway department activities.

"During his educational training, he will be permitted to operate his work at the University with actual work in the Department.

GRANTED LICENSE

The Rev. Boyd Skinner, pastor of the Cassidy Methodist church has been granted a license to perform marriage ceremonies and has executed bond accordingly.

ATTENTION, CORRESPONDENTS

Since the rural routes will not be served by carriers on Monday, July 4th, a legal holiday, all correspondents for The Carlisle Mercury are urged to bring their copy directly to the office Thursday night in Lexington. Other members of the Nicholas county elected were:

W. F. Gaunce, vice chairman; J. A. Vanderpool, secretary.

Kentucky's gasoline taxes were cited by "double history" taxes on a necessity by Herbert L. Clay, Louisville, executive secretary of the state petroleum industries committee.

Clay compared gasoline taxes of surrounding states with that of Kentucky, citing that in Missouri the tax was five cents lower, in Illinois four cents, in Indiana and Ohio, three cents, in West Virginia, two cents, and in Virginia one cent.

Odinen at the meeting endorsed a seven-point program calling for a long-range highway plan for Kentucky, equitable city license taxes, elimination of gas-tax evasion, free enterprise on limited access highways, elimination of carless negligence in highway use, and repeal of the 1½ cent federal gas tax and 6 cent lubricating oil tax.

County officers elected for Bourbon are: J. Tom Prather, chairman; Carl Martin, vice chairman; Frank R. Beard, secretary.

Other counties represented at the meeting were: Fayette, Anderson, Boyle, Harrison, Jessamine, Scott and Woodford.

Farm Reporters Are Measuring Tobacco

Farm reporters employed by the Nicholas County Agricultural Conservation Association began measurement of burley tobacco acreage in the county this week. Mr. Gaffin, county chairman, said today.

All acreages of 1949 tobacco under quota are required to be measured, whether within or in excess of quota. Each farm reporter is responsible for assisting reporters in making measurements and for showing them all tobacco fields.

Accuracy of these measurements is important to every tobacco grower in Nicholas county, says Burley tobacco, where measurements show underplantings of more than 25 percent for three consecutive years, acreage allotments for succeeding years will be reduced. Where Burley acreage allotments are underplanted each year, no quota is marketed, farmers must pay a penalty on the excess sold.

The Burley penalty rate recently announced for marketing of excess tobacco is 65 percent of the parity price. Its law this penalty rate is 40 percent of the market averages for the past season. The official average price for Burley tobacco during the past season was 46 cents a pound. Penalties are assessed only against marketings in excess of the farm marketing quota, which is defined as the actual production of the farm average allotment.

In addition to these penalties, farmers who harvest excess tobacco will not be eligible for price support loans on tobacco produced on allotted acreages.

Johnson says that farmers can operate with the farm reporters in order that the determination of tobacco acreages may be completed at as low cost as possible and before harvest time.

Pumphrey Elected Petroleum Chairman

Ben H. Pumphrey Sr., was elected chairman of Nicholas county's petroleum committee at a joint meeting of county committees of 10 Central Kentucky counties held Thursday night in Lexington.

Other members of the Nicholas county elected were:

W. F. Gaunce, vice chairman; J. A. Vanderpool, secretary.

Summer 'In Kentucky' Rolls Off The Press

The summer issue of "In Kentucky" is off the press, the official breaking number of stories and pictures, and a circulation that reaches a new high of 40,000 copies each issue.

The increased circulation is a jump of 3,000 over the spring issue and 13,000 over last year. "In Kentucky" is sent to all the 48 states and many foreign countries.

The cover of the summer issue is attractively colored in deep green with a picture of a young couple watching a sunset in Kentucky Lake.

A story telling of plans to build and improve state airports is covered on two pages of the magazine with various illustrations. Vacation facilities are also given with color illustrations, and John Jacob Ridge Forest and Pennyrile State Park.

Illustrations are shown of the new bridge building for the State Fair. A two page spread tells of vocational education program in Kentucky.

There are many other stories and pictures of Kentucky and its 120 features in Kentucky's official publication.

Negro Students Enroll In Graduate School

Twenty-three Negro students—the first admitted to the University of Kentucky, Lexington, in its 84-year history—were among the 3,600 persons enrolling Tuesday for the UK summer session.

Admission of Negro students to the University graduate and professional schools was ordered three months ago by U. S. District Judge H. Church Ford. The judge said that Kentucky State College at Frankfort was not providing equal opportunity for graduate students as required by law.

As a result of the ruling, UK opened its schools of law, engineering and pharmacy to students qualified with previous subjects. Those registering Tuesday enrolled in the Graduate school, University Dean Maurice F. Seay said.

CITIZENS OF TOMORROW—Yes, sir, it looks like the affairs of Carlisle and Nicholas county are going to fall into mighty good hands when this group takes over about 1985. This is the first of a series of pictures of youngsters which The Mercury will carry as a regular weekly feature for several weeks. The other pictures will be reproduced in the order they are received from the engraver. These citizens, from left to right, top row, are: Charles Thomas, 11-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Shroat Jr., Carlisle; Paulette, two-and one-half-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Anderson, Carlisle; Jimmy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hamilton, Myers Route 1. Bottom row—Wayne, three-year-old son of Mrs. Ruby Linville, Carlisle; Don Allen, two and one-half-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kendrick Sundys, Carlisle Route 3; Susanne, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ermine Kenney, Carlisle Route 3.

Playground Season Begins Tonight; Bryant Announces Scheduled Events

The long awaited opening of the community playground will get underway tonight at 7:30 with a "family play night, an event which will be scheduled every Thursday night throughout the summer program. All the facilities, etc. for all age groups will be supervised for utilization by the whole family on these occasions, Jerry Bryant said.

In connection with the opening, Bryant released a daily schedule of activities:

Monday through Friday, 9 a. m. until noon, supervised play for small children, with individual instruction; 1:15 p. m. to 2:45 p. m., organized games—softball, volleyball, badminton, tennis, horse shoes, etc. for all age groups; 3 to 5 p. m., Midget softball league play. Saturdays—9 a. m. until noon, tennis instruction classes. Tuesday nights—league softball games. Tentative—Any group or individual who wants to play softball and hasn't already seen Bryant, is urged to do so immediately, so that games can be scheduled.

The playground will be open Saturdays for general play.

Adult Tennis Courts

A State-to-County-to-City-triple play has netted the playground an adult tennis court for community use. The State Department of Highways and L. B. Barton have secured the asphalt, the county, through the cooperation of County Judge Walter Shepherd and County Engineer Bob Hamilton, has furnished the rock, and the city and Joe Clay have donated the services of the roller to assure the recreation program permanent tennis facilities.

Frank Hardesty donated a first aid kit and refill supplies to the playground. Mrs. Charles Shepherd made possible a portable volleyball set with his gift of two large volleys.

The skinned croquet court behind the Boy Scout cabin has been lighted for play night participation. Money for this venture was given to the recreation council by the croquet club of Carlisle.

A horse shoe pitching contest has been slated for a later date.

City's Main Block Will Resemble English Street Fair When VFW Presents County's Homecoming Celebration

Carlisle's main block—the courthouse block—will be altered to resemble an English street fair for the three big days—July 2, 3, and 4, Nicholas county's Homecoming. However, red, white, and blue banning will be used in the street decoration to remind participants that they are a part of the United States and that Independence from the Union Jack was won a few centuries ago.

Members of Lloyd George Post No. 8866, Veterans of Foreign Wars, who have been given the keys to the city by Mayor W. C. Talbott, have promised through their spokesman, William Power, that they intend to do their utmost to keep Carlisle residents at home during the period. In addition, they have extended an invitation to all Nicholas counties, that they come, prepared to be celebrate the July 4th weekend.

The entire courthouse block has been reserved for the homecoming. Main street, between Broadway and Locust will be the location of all scheduled entertainment with the exception of the fireworks. VFW members are selling booth space along this section of Main street to both business establishments and candidates in the forthcoming August primary. Booth spaces along Broadway and Locust to the intersection of Chestnut street also are being sold. As a matter of fact, one representative of the VFW has sold "space" to one of the political candidates.

Chestnut street, between Broadway and Locust, will form the midway of the homecoming fair. Here a carnival, complete with merry-go-round, Ferris wheel and a kiddie ride, will be located.

With the exception of the carnival concessions, including the rides, all entertainment will be free.

The fun will begin at 8 p. m. Saturday night when a dance is slated on Main street. Both round and square dancing will be featured with appropriate music for each type.

A community religious service will be held at 3:30 p. m. Sunday at the courthouse steps under the direction of the Carlisle Ministerial association. Carlisle church choirs of all the churches will present the combined program.

Preceding the services a community sing at 3 p. m. will be held with Jerry Bryant in charge.
