Farm, Home Week In Grant County

Grant county farmers and homemakers showed their progressive spirit when they recently declared a farm and home improvement week. Seven stores in three towns had special displays emphasizing the latest ideas in electric pumps, modern cabinet sinks, water heaters and bathroom equipment. A feature of the week was a discussion at the courthouse of farm water systems by E. S. Holmes of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky. This was followed by demonstrations in homes of two farmers planning to install such equipment. The week's program, said Farm Agent Robert Hume, year-round modernization project.

Miss Jimmie Henry Announces Plans For Annual Easter Sale Campaign

Miss Jimmie Henry, Nicholas county chairman of the annual Easter Seal Sale and membership drive, conducted by the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, today announced plans for mailing Easter Seals and soliciting membership and large donations, to raise the county's share of the 1949 goal.

The campaign will be held from March 28th through April 17th (Easter Sunday). The goal is $175,000 to continue the established program of this 24th year of the organization.

"In our county", said Miss Henry, "There have been 93 cases examined and 38 cases treated by the Kentucky Crippled Children's Commission. Easter Seal money, by supplying Commission funds, helps make this program fuller.

Serving again as State Chairman is Sidney Rosenblum, Louisville, Society's vice president, who headed last year's campaign in Kentucky. Mrs. William F. Ingram II, also of Louisville, is Co-Chairman.

Miss Henry also said that Easter Seal funds go principally for the following three activities:

1. Education—The 1948 General Assembly created a Division of Education for Exceptional Children within the State Department of Education, recognized as the efforts of the Easter Seal Agency on behalf of crippled children for years. At present 20 students not eligible for state aid are receiving direct educational aid from the Society.

2. Speech-saving new methods in treating handicapped, the Society has opened a Speech Center in Louisville to physical and exceptional therapy treatment center for clinical aid of children, adding patients from all over the state upon doctor's prescription.

3. Building the $500,000 forty-eight bed Crippled Children Home near Lexington to be completed within a year. This facility will speed up the correction of Kentucky's crippled.

Newest 'In Kentucky' Magazine Off Press

Its publication date having been moved forward by a month, the Spring issue of "In Kentucky" is now off the press. Formerly the State publication appeared near the middle of April.

This move was made in an effort to get the magazine on a more seasonal basis. The quarterly publication will now appear near the middle of March, June, September and December.

Featuring the Diamond Anniversary of the Kentucky Derby, "In Kentucky" carries a color louting map of the Bluegrass Country. Another feature tells of the many new park facilities that will enable the State to accommodate more tourists and offer more recreational activities this year.

A feature on the nearing completion of Wolf Creek Dam reveals how that spot will provide a great recreational playground for Kentuckians and her visitors.

Teh progress made in rural electrification and industrial growth is also illustratively told. The story of Kentucky's annual apple bowl and garden tour is pictured in color.

The cover is decorated with the traditional Spring color of green. Citation, 1948 Derby winner, is featured on the cover, his head being superimposed over a scene at a Blue Grass horse farm.

In all, there are 21 features between the covers of the 52 page magazine.

With this issue, an announcement is made that the circulation has been increased by 5,000, bringing the total to 37,000. This is an increase of 10,000 since last Spring.

Action was taken on the proposal by members of Doughty Lodge at the fourth observance of the annual supper and ladies green meeting held Tuesday night at the banquet hall of the lodge.

The Rev. J. G. Carr, pastor of the Carlisle Methodist church, was principal speaker at the annual supper which was attended by approximately 175 persons. Mr. Carr, introduced by Walter Huddleston, Master of the lodge, assumed the role of St. Patrick in presenting his talk.

The tables also carried out the St. Patrick's day motif in place settings and table decorations of white shamrocks and green tapers.

Mrs. J. W. Woodall presented two vocal solos. The Rev. J. E. Whitehouse, minister of the Carlisle Christian church, gave the invocation and benediction. The meal was served by members of the Marie Chapter, Order of Eastern Star.

A motion picture, in technicolor, will be presented dealing with 2,4-D, a deadly weed killer, which has been used satisfactorily in corn, lawns, and in other weed control work. Also, a discussion of insect pests and other crop insects will be shown in movies and explained.

His mother, Mrs. Sallie Menifee Fields, 85, died within a few hours of her son on Sunday afternoon, shortly after his body, prepared for burial, had been returned to the residence. She too, had been blind and ill for several years.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Monday at the church with the Rev. W. C. Flanagan, pastor, officiating. Burial was in the Henryville cemetery.

Southern Bell Says Kentucky Expansion Program Progressing

Faced with record-breaking service demands that seemed to grow bigger every day, the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. has made tremendous strides of late toward meeting the need for service improvements and expansion in Kentucky, it was learned.

The company has constructed new facilities in the amount of about $24,500,000 in the slightly more than three years since V-J Day, it was revealed today.

In the furtherance of its activities to meet record-breaking postwar telephone needs and help avoid the way to the greatest possible growth and development in Kentucky, Southern Bell after the war initiated a program of construction of new facilities. The postwar rate of new construction has moved about twice as fast as the 1935-1939 prewar average.

"And with Kentucky continuing to develop, it is now apparent that extensive construction operations will continue heavy," according to Kentucky Manager C. J. Yates. "Last year we put sums of additional capital yet to be raised to work to go forward making the service better and providing all our progressive state needs."

Pointing out that telephone construction is extending to the cities and towns and rural areas throughout the state, Yates said that Southern Bell since January 1, 1946, has increased the number of its telephones by 49 percent. They now have more than 278,000 telephones in the state. The number of rural telephones has more than doubled, and there are now more than 27,900 rural telephones in service.

Southern Bell at present is handling about 2,000,000 local calls daily, an increase of 59 percent over the end of the war. The company is handling 1,415,000 long distance calls monthly, an increase of 37 percent.

Nicholas Property Increased $25,128

An increase of $25,128 in property assessments made by the Nicholas County Board of Tax Supervisors, which recently completed its work, brought the total assessment for the county to $10,475,473.

The first recapitulation of the property assessments made by Tax Commissioner Walter Hardridge November 11, 1948, resulted in an assessment of $10,450,345.

Properties of 45 persons were affected by the assessment increase. Thirty-one of these were in the Common School District and the remaining 14 were in the Graded School District. Increases in property assessments in the Common School District was $20,550 in the Graded School District, $4,578.

Tax assessment decreases totaling $15,900 also was made by the Board of Supervisors. The decrease affected six persons. The decreases were those concerning intangibles and the removal of duplicate lists which appeared upon the books. A total of $13,000 of the decrease in assessments was made in the Common School District and the remaining $2,900 was on property in the Graded School District.

The grand total assessment will be sent to the Commissioner of Revenue in Frankfort for final approval or disapproval at least a month after the board completes its work.

The forthcoming meeting will be the first held since the 1948 Hunt on the Clay Farm near Myers.

Friday's activity marks the first of three meetings which will be held by foxhunters within the state. The National and State associations will convene later in the month at Lexington to select dates and sites for their meetings.

Roy Blount, Moorefield, is president of the Central Kentucky association and Mrs. Virginia Fowler is secretary.

DON WILLIAMSON WINS ORATORICAL CONTEST

Don Williamson, Louisville, Ohio, grandson of Mrs. O. R. Gaffin, Carlisle, won first place in oratorical declamation in the individual events division of the Shark County Speech Tournament held recently in Shark county, Ohio.

He will compete in the State Speech finals at Columbus, Ohio, during the latter part of this month. Williamson also placed fifth in oratorical declamation and sixth in extemporaneous speaking in the National Forensic League district tournament held in Canton last week. He was the only one of approximately 600 pupils of Eastern Ohio to carry two events to the final rounds.

A senior in the Louisville High school, Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Williamson, formerly of Carlisle and Lexington.

Mrs. Ed Bramblett, Myers Route 1, sustained painful injuries Friday afternoon when she fell at her home running the tooth of a comb into her head. She was brought to Johnson Memorial hospital where she was treated by Dr. M. E. Johnson and dismissed after three days.

CHATS ON PUBLIC NOTICES

It is the purpose of this series of "Chats" to help the layman to a better understanding of Public Notices—their application and importance in many matters, both personal and public—and of the role of the newspaper of general circulation as the chief medium for their publication.

In each state there are hundreds of Public Notices required or permitted by law. In all forty-eight states there are some 23,000 such laws. These notices concern both private and public affairs. Their main purpose is to put others "on notice" regarding a particular matter and to publicize the information to which the public is entitled.

Technical as some of them may appear to the layman at first sight, they are quite simple in principle: to protect rights by giving due notice. This is the essence of what, after all, is a basic democratic process in which the newspaper is the chief servant.

Foxhunters Directors Plan Meeting Friday

Selection of dates and the site of the 1949 Hunt on the Clay Farm will be the main topic of discussion at a meeting of the board of directors of the Central Kentucky Foxhunters Association beginning at 7:30 p. m. Friday in the office of Roger C. Womack.

The forthcoming meeting will be the first held since the 1948 Hunt on the Clay Farm near Myers.

Friday's activity marks the first of three meetings which will be held by foxhunters within the state. The National and State associations will convene later in the month at Lexington to select dates and sites for their meetings.

Roy Blount, Moorefield, is president of the Central Kentucky association and Mrs. Virginia Fowler is secretary.

State Saves Money On It's New Coal Bids

Kentucky taxpayers were saved $36,395.80 as a result of the recent action of the Department of Finance's Division of Purchases in rejecting earlier coal bids for 19 institutions and readvertising for new bids.

Institutions involved include the public educational, penal and charitable institutions, according to Commissioner of Finance John W. Manning.

Original totals for 90,995 tons of coal—sought by the various institutions—totalled $520,533.85 but before action was taken coal prices took a tumble. The new bids resulted in an aggregate price for the 90,995 tons of coal for the institutions of $484,138.05.

When the prices took a "tumble", J. R. Haselden, Assistant Director of the Division of Purchases under director Ben H. Lowry, called for a new "deal" in behalf of Kentucky's taxpayers which resulted in the new bids being $36,000 less than the previous ones.

Meanwhile, Commissioner Manning announced that coal sold the Kentucky institutions is being tested at laboratories to see if it measures up to required specifications.

Nicholas County Plans 40-Mile Road Program

W. B. HALL WINS OLD COIN CONTEST

W. B. Hall, Carlisle Route 3, whose coin was struck during the reign of Caesar Vespasian and which is at least 1,874 years old, was the winner of The Carlisle Mercury's old money contest which closed at 5 p. m. last Thursday.

The cash award offered in this contest already has been mailed to Mr. Hall.

However, two other persons, who failed to get their coins in before the deadline, exhibited pieces later in the week than that of the winning contestant. One was an Egyptian coin struck before the birth of Christ and the other a "widow's mite", which may have been circulated during Christ's ministry on earth.

To all entrants who exhibited coins in the contest The Mercury extends thanks. We appreciated your interest.

Health Agency Plans First Annual Meeting

Plans are nearing completion for the first annual meeting of the Kentucky Public Health Association, to be held at Louisville March 23, 24 and 25. Dr. Bruce Underwood, State Health Commissioner, has announced some of the features of the program.

These from the Nicholas Health department planning to attend the meetings are: Dr. B. F. Reynolds, head of the department, Mrs. R. T. Fisher and Mrs. R. P. Alexander, public health nurses, all of Carlisle, and Shearle Hicks, sanitation officer, Cynthiana.

The meeting will begin with registration at 9 a. m., Wednesday, March 23. The new organization will be welcomed to Louisville by Mayor Charles Farmley, and greetings will be extended by Dr. E. Murphy Howard, President of the State Board of Health, Dr. Charles Edelen of the Kentucky State Medical Association, Dr. Elmer Henderson, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the American Medical Association, Dr. Reginald Atwater, Secretary of the American Public Health Association and Dr. A. B. Price, Regional Director of the 4th district of the United States Public Health Service.

On Wednesday afternoon, Dr. Underwood will speak on Public Health in Kentucky, Dr. Tracy Jones, Assistant State Health Commissioner, on Local Health Work in Kentucky, and Raymond F. Dixon, Executive Officer of the State Department of Health, on Public Realations in Public Health. The Health Code will be discussed by E. B. Whalin, Supervisor of Health Education, Department of Education, and Dr. John J. Phair, Health Officer of the Louisville and Jefferson County Health Department, will speak on Preventive Medicine and Public Health.

Thursday, March 24, will be devoted section meetings of health officers, nurses, sanitarians, venereal disease workers and clerks. Thursday evening the first annual subscription dinner will be held at the Kentucky Hotel. Officers of the Kentucky State Medical Association, will introduce Governor Earle C. Clements, the principal speaker of the evening.

On Friday morning, March 25, reports of the section meetings will be made in a general meeting of all members. Officers of the organization will be elected, and after the meeting is over at noon, there will be a luncheon meeting for officers to discuss plans to complete organization of the association.

Nicholas county plans to spend an estimated $70,200 in either reconstructing or resurfacing 40 miles of rural highways or secondary rural highways within its boundaries during the present year. This plan was approved here Thursday at a meeting of the fiscal court with County Judge Walter Shepherd presiding.

Road construction will be principally those over which either the rural mail routes or the school buses travel, Judge Shepherd said.

The funds will be made available through the rural highway funds and the rural secondary highway fund. Nicholas county's share of the first mentioned fund of five million dollars is $27,000. The county's share of the second fund, which Judge Shepherd said is an estimate, will be at least $43,200 or may be $54,000, depending upon the amount of revenue derived in the state from the two-cent additional gasoline tax.

Present estimates of revenue for the rural secondary highway fund are based upon a eight million dollar income. Should the collections from the gasoline tax reach 10 million dollars, then Nicholas county could receive $10,800 more than it anticipates at present, Judge Shepherd said.

Judge Shepherd also said that in addition to the 40 miles scheduled for reconstruction or resurfacing, the court also contemplates reconstruction of an additional five miles, which would give the county a total of 45 miles of improved road during the present year.

Ditching as well as resurfacing is planned for some of the roads. Work ranged from one mile per year call for blacktopping the county's roads, Judge Shepherd said.

Recognizing the value of the rural secondary fund which derives its revenue from the additional tax on gasoline, Judge Shepherd said he "will do everything I can to have gathered and allow you to evaluate it for yourselves.
