New Leaf Record For Breckinridge

The highest official yield of burley tobacco ever recorded in Breckinridge county was produced last year on the farm of V. P. Withers of Kirk. He grew an average of 3,185 pounds of Ky. 16 acre on nine and eight-tenths acres. Many of the stalks were so tall it was necessary to cut them in two before they could be placed on a stick. Average return per acre was $1,369.55. The exceptional yield was due to the fertile soil Mr. Withers has built up on his farm, stated County Agent Kenneth Brabant.

The Carlisle Mercury

Nicholas County's Leading Newspaper For More Than 82 Years

VOLUME LXXXIII ESTABLISHED 1867 CARLISLE, KY., MARCH 24, 1949 PRICE FIVE CENTS NUMBER 13

Mercury Planning To Publish Pictures Of All Youngsters In Circulation Area

"The best investment is in children," says William J. Lemmon. "You had better take a good look at them as they pass you on the street, for they are the ones who are going to make a new world for you, and you can catch some glimmer of the dawn in their fresh young faces."

That is a bit of philosophy in which the publisher of The Carlisle Mercury firmly believes. And because we think our readers should "catch some glimmer of the dawn," we intend to help them do it. That is, of course, with the co-operation of the mothers and fathers of the children of this and surrounding communities.

The only way we can give all our readers a glimpse of these future "world builders" is by publishing pictures of them in a feature series titled "Future of Tomorrow."

To assure the latest and best reproductive picture—they must all be of uniform size and quality—we have made arrangements with the Wolfy Studios, Des Moines, Iowa, nationally known child photographers, to take the special pictures for us.

Expert children's photographers, for the studio, have the necessary equipment for this specialized work will be here Friday and Saturday, April 1-2. The special studio will be set up at the Bourbon Laundry, Carlisle, just three doors above The Mercury office, and will be open from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. daily.

There will be no charge to the parents. There are absolutely no strings to this invitation. There is no age limit. Babies are welcome as are some of the older youngsters. Neither are there any deadlines for these pictures after they are taken. Those who want some additional prints may obtain a limited number by arrangement with the photographer at the time they select the pose they want printed in the paper. It is entirely up to them.

The Mercury simply wants pictures of all the youngsters and the mothers and fathers of the communities in which The Mercury is published to remember the days and dates—Friday and Saturday, April 1-2, at the Bourbon Laundry and not fail to bring their children to the photographer.

You will be mighty glad, after awhile, if you did, and very, very sorry if you fail to allow your children to participate in this event. The youngsters will have fun and both Mother and Dad—and the children, too—will be very proud to see their pictures in print. Many will gift their folks and preserve them until Junior grows up.

Carlisle Can Thank Baseball For Giffin

By Emily Asbury

Maybe you wouldn't think a hand full of cork covered with horsehide stitched here and there and molded until it took a physical shape could play a major role in the life of a textile manufacturer, but, it did! The men who are Carlisle's mayor and general manager of the Giffin Manufacturing Company, can know how to effectively pitch baseball. Back in 1925, he got a job with Hunsley Mills in Hartsville, Ohio, when job hunting was an exceptional thing to do.

At that time Lonnie, 21 and always for work, was living in Ripley, Ohio. A brother in Barnesville, Ohio, wrote him that if he could win a "few" ball games, and (2) the plant superintendent was a rabid baseball fan (unknown to Lonnie at the time).

The outcome? Well, you guessed it! Although there wouldn't have been an opening, otherwise, Lonnie "pitched himself into a clerical clerk's job when he informed his erstwhile employer that he had a special to lend his talents to Barnesville for the summer.

"I was hired for two and a half days," the now successful Giffin grinned, "and that will be 21 years ago the 4th of April."

It wasn't all baseball possess, however, that merited his present success. The fair-haired gentleman remained in the shipping department, the year in the boxing and pressing department, another five year grind, in the cutting department before, in an advisory capacity, being elevated to inspector between the shipping and sewing departments, where he spent another year.

When the Paris branch of Hunsley Mills opened in 1942, Giffin travelled for a year between the Kentucky and Ohio plants. The new plant, however, required most of his time, and in 1943, he was transferred to Paris, where he remained as general manager, until January of 1948, at which time Giffin Manufacturing Company, Inc.," opened in Carlisle.

At present the factory employs 40 topnotch women, most of whom are Nicholas residents. And, as to the baseball team in Barnesville, well, "they won about five pennants in ten years." Not bad pitcher, Mr. Lonnie Giffin!

Spring Grid Drills Will Begin Monday

Spring football practices, for hardening and fundamental purposes, will begin Monday afternoon, Coach Tebay Rose announced today. Hurt by the loss of left-tackle, Henry Peters, Kenneth Campbell, James Reid, Donald Hughes, Wayne Rawlings and Bobby Price, who graduate in May, the success of the 1948 Carlisle Mustang backfield bunch depends largely upon the number of pairs of shoes issued Monday. "Lack of reserve strength and depth in rank played a major role in the Munketeer defeats last season," Rose stated. Five lettermen will return for action.

"We've got a bunch of boys, as far as they go, who can play a lot of football," he continued, "but, you've got to have more than 11 men on any football team to win games.

The backfield, his greatest headache, was hardest hit by graduation. To bolster the fullback slot, located by hard driving Peters, Rose will send to the helm Charles Harper, outstanding pass-snatching Don Ian last year's eleven. From the lettering backs, Doot Hardin, C. J. Myers, and candidate Brooks Pitman, Rose must find a running combination.

In the line, Coach Rose is counting heavily on lettermen Kimball Spencer, Ray Wilson, Jerry Hanson, Billy Dale Crawford and Noel Williams to carry the brunt of the attack. Hopefuls showing promise for season are, Herman Day-Ion, Gary Fiona, Benny Donovan and James Hughes.

A practice game with the Mt. Sterling Trojans, there, is scheduled for April 15. Letterman gains during the spring drills are planned with AMI and Paris.

Safety Suggestions Given To Kite Fliers

Pointing to the annual accident toll growing out of carelessness in kite flying, I. J. Hardesty, Carlisle, Kentucky Utilities Company manager, this week issued a set of safety suggestions to kite flyers, compiled by the K. U. Safety Department.

"Kite flying is fun," Mr. Hardesty said, "and it's just as much fun if you observe a few simple safety rules. Each year we hear of accidents—some of them involving serious injuries—which could have been avoided had kite flyers followed the rules of the sport."

Here are suggestions for safe kite-flying:

(1) When assembling a kite, turn down or cut off any protruding pins or brads which might injure your hands or arms. (2) As a kite string you use should be a good—never wire, wet cord or cord with wire threads in it, because these increase the danger of an electric shock, if they contact electric wires or equipment or if there should be a sudden electric storm. (2) Choose a level open space free of overhead wires, poles, large trees, large stones, ditches or other obstacles. (4) Always watch your step when running with a kite. (5) Never fly a kite on streets or highways or anywhere else where you might be injured by a car or truck. (7) Stay alert so a high wind or sudden gust won't throw you off balance or cause the cord to burn the skin as it slips through your hands. (8) Keep the cord neatly rolled so neither you nor others can trip over it. (9) If your kite breaks away and lodges in wires or large trees, leave it there. Don't climb poles to retrieve it or try to knock it loose by hurling a stone with string attached over wires. It's better to lose a kite than lose a life.

CITY, COUNTY REMAINS SHORT OF RED CROSS GOAL

With only 76 out of a total of 88 solicitors reporting, Carlisle and Nicholas county today was approximately 40 percent short of its quota in the 1949 Fund Campaign of the American Red Cross.

Ralph E. Shearer, general chairman for the campaign, reported that only $649 of the Nicholas County Chapter's quota of $1,232 had been secured.

However, many of the solicitors have not completed their work. Mr. Shearer urged that collections be completed within a week in order that a full report might be made by March 31. He said he hoped that the quota would be oversubscribed when the final report is made.

Crowers May Boost Burley Four Percent

Tobacco farmers plan to plant this year 1,596,000 acres or four percent more than the tobacco acreage last year, Agriculture Department in Washington has reported.

This would give a one billion, 750 million-pound crop if average yields equal the 1943-47 average.

While the indicated acreages are not as great as the acreage allotments for these tobaccos, the report added, growers are expected to plant nearer their allotments than in recent years. Plant-bed preparations in Kentucky and Tennessee have been delayed some by excessive rains.

The indicated tobacco acreage in Kentucky for all types is 350,500, or three percent more than last year's 340,000.

The burley-tobacco acreage will be 434,000, or four percent more than last year, the report said. This would give a crop of about two million pounds if the yield equals the five-year average.

PUBLIC NOTICE CHATS

What does it mean to be "put on notice"? The phrase is used in law to describe the process by which a person (or persons) is notified of some proposed action in which he is interested or by which he will be affected. The action is usually specific, but the process is addressed to a group of individuals, to an entire community, or even to persons unknown.

Such a notice usually appears as a Public Notice in a local newspaper of general circulation. This is because this is the most effective and most economical means of publishing the notice. The requirements for such notices are generally fixed in detail by law.

What the Public Notice lays out is accomplish is to put individual and community rights or notice of concerned, or whatever is contemplated. To be completely effective, the notice must be given in ample time and due notice must then be taken by those who are affected.

Willys Distributor Announces Price Cut

Price reductions announced by Willys-Overland put the company's vehicles at the lowest price level in their field' according to Elmer Dampier, of Dampier's Garage, Willys-Sherland dealer.

The price reductions range from $25 to $270. In the passenger car field, Willys-Overland now has the lowest-priced full-sized station wagon, sedan, coupe, and sports car, Dampier declared. The new prices, he said, put Willys-Overland jeeps and 1½ ton truck, four-wheel-drive truck, panel delivery, and Universal Jeep are also in the lowest range of their respective fields, he said.

"These new low prices represent a double saving," Dampier pointed out. "They provide a low initial cost in addition to the well-known thrift of Willys-Overland vehicles in operation and maintenance. They are now American most economical as well as most useful vehicles. I am proud that our company took the lead in bringing prices down."

In announcing the price reduction

"PERFECT LADY" SUCCUMBS

"Perfect Lady", famous nine year old equitation mare of Miss Eleanor Bruce of Morehead, who made her show ring debut here in the 1946 American Legion Horse Show, died Saturday. Veterinarians attributed the sudden death to colic.

Local Woman's Niece Found Dead In Road; Sharpsburg Man Held

A Sharpsburg farmer is facing a charge of murder in Montgomery county in connection with the death Saturday night of Miss Ethel Lee Norris, 33, of Mt. Sterling, a niece of Mrs. Frank Howard, Carlisle.

"County Attorney Henry H. Brumbel said a charge was filed against Allie Setters, 31, formerly of Montgomery county, after he said that Miss Norris jumped out of his car Saturday night near the place where her body was found.

The body was found on the Paris road (Ky. 11) nears its junction with the Maysville road (U. S. 460) Saturday night.

Three Mt. Sterling physicians, who examined the body said the woman died of "several fractures of the skull." The doctors added that the fractures were "caused by a blunt instrument."

Setters was arrested near North Middletown about 3 a. m. Sunday by Montgomery county Sheriff Roy May and state police and was returned to Mt. Sterling for questioning.

The accused man told the county attorney he did not stop the car when Miss Norris jumped because he thought she would go back to the filling station at the junction and catch a ride home from there.

The woman's body was found about 9 p. m. Saturday, lying in the middle of the road. Deputy Coroner A. L. Mitchell said death apparently had taken place earlier. He did not attempt to explain how she was injured but said the filling was not torn and her body was not scratched.

Funeral services for Miss Norris were held at 2 p. m. Tuesday, April 5, at Macedonia church near Setters, who has been married and divorced, was placed in the Montgomery county jail to await examining trial and inquest.

Nearly Half Of Vets Pass Up Jobless Pay

Nearly half of Kentucky's war veterans have never drawn unemployment benefits under the Servicemen's Readjustment Allowance program, O. B. Hannah, director, Unemployment Insurance Division, Department of Economic Security, said today. The veterans-unemployment benefit program though financed entirely from federal funds is administered through the states' U. I. divisions.

Of the estimated 315,000 veterans in the state, 160,636 have drawn benefits totaling $74,969,473 since September 1944 when the program was put into operation. Average time and amount drawn has been 23.4 weeks and $466.70, Hannah said.

Veterans who have exhausted their rights, having drawn $20 for 52 weeks, total 26,626 or 16 percent of the total number drawing, according to Hannah. Exhaustion rate for the United States is about is less than 10 percent. He explained that the figures are on unemployment alone and do not include self-employment allowances.

City School Board Wants State To Handle Merger

The two-year-old dispute over the proposal to merge the Carlisle and Nicholas county school districts, which was carried to the State Board of Education at Frankfort Friday by members of the Carlisle school board, today was no nearer solution despite action taken here by both local boards Tuesday.

Boswell B. Hodgkin, Superintendent of Public Instruction, State Department of Education, Frankfort, Wednesday morning said newspaper stories of the knowledge he had of latest action taken by both the county and city school boards and he had "no statement" to make at the present time.

Rufus E. Wesley, county school superintendent, said the Nicholas County Board of Education at a special meeting Tuesday afternoon "voted to accept the city board's proposal to merge the two districts and to have a seven-member board of education composed of the present five county board members and two to be selected from the present city board.

Supt. Wesley said the two boards previously had been unable to agree on the merger proposal in all details.* He said the proposition had been under consideration since March, 1947.

"As far as the county is concerned," Wesley said, "our action today brings an end to the matter." He said the merger would be effective "at once."

However, the city school board met Tuesday night in regular session and voted unanimously to refuse this "belated acceptance" because the proposal had been in the county board's hands for "approximately two months and no action had been taken and that if the county board had been sincere in this desire to merge action would

Cartoonist Uncle Of Mrs. Frank J. Hardesty Wins Cosmopolitan Club's Service Medal

Clifford Kennedy Berryman, creator of the Teddy Bear and an uncle of Mrs. Frank Hardesty, whose eloquent pen has fought Washington's civic battles and lampooned politics and politicians from pages of the Washington (D. C.) Star for 42 years, has been selected for the Cosmopolitan Club's 1948 distinguished service medal.

The presentation ceremony will be held at the club's luncheon meeting in the Mayflower hotel in Washington on April 7.

Announcement of the award was made Thursday afternoon in the Carlton hotel in Washington by Dr. Joseph L. B. Murray, chairman of the award committee, who praised Mr. Berryman's work as a "model of outstanding citizenship."

"He is nationally known, and locally, as one has given us serious cartoons and critical ones, in every way he could, to get over his ideal of human understanding and good fellowship," Dr. Murray said.

Mr. Berryman, who has hurt few feelings in his four decades of cartooning, will be 80 years old on April 2. Kentucky-born he went to Washington in 1886, under the wing and eye of the late Kentucky Senator Blackburn, after the Senate had been a charcoal sketch Mr. Berryman made of him on a shingle.

He first worked as a drafteman in the Patent Office, selling his first cartoon in 1889 for $25 and then began drawing for the Washington Post. He joined the staff of the Washington Star in 1907.

Tribute has been paid him by Presidents, many of whom asked for and received the Berryman original, even though they were the objects of the satire.

Self-described as a "mongrel" cartoonist because he never had a drawing lesson, Mr. Berryman won a Pulitzer prize in 1944. His works have been exhibited at the Corcoran Gallery of Art, and a permanent collection is in the Library of Congress.

Several of Mr. Berryman's original cartoons, some of which use his name as the central theme, are in the possession of Mrs. Hardesty here in Carlisle.

Carlisle Minister Is Discussion Leader

The Carlisle Board read and accepted the petition had to representatives of the Carlisle board that action could be taken at that regular session, but a special meeting in the near future would be called to take action on the petition submitted by the Carlisle board.

The Carlisle board said that the petition was made only after repeated efforts on the part of the city district to effect a merger with the county district failed to bring about a consolidation of the two districts.

The city board at one time, in order to meet the wishes of the county board offered to accept a proposition of two members and a survey. Yet after approximately two months, even this offer was not accepted, members of the city board said. Then, city board members said, further time was close at hand for the employment of teachers and planning a budget they took the only course open—that of petitioning the state board to make the merger according to the provisions of the Kentucky Statutes.

After the city board's petition had been submitted to the state board and newspaper accounts brought the petition to the attention of the public, the county board met Tuesday afternoon and agreed by a vote of 4-1 to accept the proposition which the city board had offered through Tuesday's county board.

Dr. G. T. Cowan, chairman of the city school board.

Kentucky law provides that any independent district may petition its county district for a merger. If the county refuses, the city district may appeal to the state board. The state board is empowered to direct the consolidation and fix conditions under which it will take place.

The Carlisle-Nicholas problem was presented Friday by R. E. Daniel, Carlisle school superintendent. Dr. G. T. Cowan, W. F. Clark and Cleary Fightmaster, members of the Carlisle Board of Education. They were accompanied by State Senator H. Stanley Blake, Carlisle Democrat.

The case outlined by Dr. Cowan in spokesman was:

1. The Carlisle board last September asked the Nicholas board to merge. The county board has ignored the request.

2. The Carlisle board wants to add its five members to the five on the Nicholas board, making a 10-man board after merging. The Carlisle members would drop off as their terms expired during the next four years.

3. The Nicholas board is willing to add only two city board members to the merged board and wants to say which two it will accept.

4. The Nicholas board wants to erect a new school building. The Carlisle board believes that it is unwise at this time because of existing indebtedness of the two districts and high construction costs. Carlisle suggests a county-wide survey of school needs can settle the question. But the Nicholas board won't agree to the survey. The fiscal court has agreed to pay for the survey.
