Booth picked up his interference and ripped some 30 yards into enemy territory. Harper, Booth and Hardin made it first and 10 on the three. The big fullback, still pumping an injured ankle, carried over. Booth drove for the final 20-7 count.

In the waning moments, Hardin put dampers on any Wildcat aspirations when he intercepted a Stanford desperation pass on the home team's 30. At this point Coach Rose sent reserves Oliver Owings, Brooks Pitman and Jim Hughes into the fray. The game ended with the ball resting on the Stanford 18 in firm hands of the jubilent Musketeers.

Project Leaders Training School

"Necklines that Flatter" was the subject of discussion at the home makers project leaders training school held at the Carlisle Baptist Church on September 20 by Miss Verna Latzke, field agent in clothing, assisted by Mrs. Dorothy C. Rowe, home demonstration agent.

Miss Latzke told the group that necklines frame the face and in so doing are usually selected with the purpose of enhancing the face and making it the center of interest. The neckline is the most dominant part of the dress to create this impression.

With this in mind it becomes apparent that it is necessary to select neckline with careful consideration in regard to its becomingness to the individual and its effect upon the contours of the face. Miss Latzke gave the leaders instructions on the different ways to finish the necklines, how to cut a true bias and various types of collars and how to cut and fit collars.

The leaders attending the training school will give this lesson at their respective clubs in October. There were sixteen leaders and two visitors present at the training school.

They'll soon be off and running. Horse Derby—a comical version of the real thing next week at Kentucky Downs.

Everybody's busy. "Waterboy" Walkins doesn't have time to shave after a load—Whisky Maud" Kennedy's real estate is on the skids—tonly kiddin' and Jim Williams serves only "Plug Horse" cokes from now on.

How nice, if Saturday dawn will be typical of "October's bright blue weather" . . .

—EA—

". . . . all's well with the world. Speaking of "bright blue weather", haven't we had? Days especially maples, are just beginning to turn. A splash of first red, flanked by the green field grass and green fall grass in an air crystal.

I'd hate to have to cite the prettiest spot Bernstadt, Kentucky, the Christian church hill and west main street bear mentioning, as does the oak of trees on the Lucy Jackson place that always turns out a little later on.

October is harvest time for all emotions. The fruit of summer pleasures, ripening on of a year's growth month.

—HA—

Saturday afternoon's horseracing and others had a big day. Weather also, and I do mean day. 3:00 o'clock in the morning, light went on in 80 to 40 odd houses in town and at 6:00 o'clock, or about 6:00 o'clock several cars headed in the general direction of Crowleys for the 7:30 a. m. Ruth Lyons' "Morning Matinee" broadcast.

Right off the bat, some lady from the Hendersonville area, Ruth where the group was from. Only she didn't remember the name. Dorothy Rowe, representing the homemakers, talked on the air about her cooking and had a big job indeed.

Ruth gave Dorothy five loaves of Pennington bread to distribute among the lucky ones who didn't have time to eat breakfast probably, and have the lunch ready.

Phyllis Cook received a box of Duff cake mix, and Carolyn Delaney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Veach Delaney, was one of all six children to sing the Nut-Made song at the close of the program.

However, the thrill of the day was the televised "50 Club". Here at home people of Kentucky and can't and Gerre's to see the home folks in action, and it really got a treat. Mrs. Bob Clark was a scream. She got so excited, she could hardly stand up . . . fact is, she finally had to sit down.

Miss Anna Hoey won a pair of slacks, Mrs. Milton Grimes, a box something or other, Mrs. Homer Hillock, a beautiful handbag.

It was so strange to see people you know like Mrs. Bob Allison, Mrs. Lillie Grimes, Mrs. Boone Clark, Annie Lee Smith, Mrs. Milton Grimes, Mrs. Homer Hillock and just about everybody that made the trip, on television.

Mrs. Clark had purchased tickets for the show at 11:00 months ago. I don't know who had more fun, the lucky winner or the ones watching here.

—EA—

Human nature is probably the strangest thing on earth. Take for instance, cars versus pedestrians etc. Say you're driving your car and all of a sudden "Lazy Larry" lumbers out in front of you. Madly you blow your horn and apply brakes, the sounds from which scare Larry at least one foot straight up and three feet sideways. Returning to the earth left only a split second before, he immediately begin to lay you out in language that is face reddening, in front of curious onlookers that invertably gather.

You sit there stunned, almost ashamed, in your effort of obvious necessity. Embarrassed, Larry lumbers, followed by the curious, but not before you've dickled around toy glares, unmistakeably yours. "Crazy driver", they throw over their shoulders. "Might be run out of town", etc. (I've worn both shoes)

Mr. Frank Powell handed me an article along the same line that he had read in some magazine. Seems that when John Q. Public sees the car behind trying to pass, he jams his foot on the gas, waiting to "keep that so and so back where he belongs." For some unknown reason he considers it a

Musketeers To Meet Lancaster Team In Home-Coming Gridiron Tilt Friday

After almost a weeks rest from gridiron toil, Coach Tom Rose put his Musketeer charges through the well known "mill" this week in preparation for the big Home-coming game with Lancaster here Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

PROCLAMATION

Wednesday, October 5 has been designated Homecoming Day at the Carlisle City Schools.

That I, W. C. Talbert, Mayor of the City of Carlisle, do hereby issue a proclamation urging that all business houses close their doors Friday afternoon between the hours of 2:4 p. m. so that all may attend Homecoming activities at the Athletic field.

W. C. Talbert, Mayor
City of Carlisle, Ky.

The proclamation by Mayor W. C. Talbert urging all business houses to close for "the grand game", will enable local merchants to see the Musketeers in action and only time this season.

Scheduled for Homecoming are Danville and Georgetown, are both away.

The following business houses will be closed Friday afternoon in honor of the Musketeers and Home-coming of Homecoming Day:

Carlisle Drug, Kendall's, Scott's, C. C. Cole Co., Lerman Bros., Carlisle Dress, Wesley's, Mann's, Kaufman's, Holbrooks, Abbatoir, Williams' Restaurant, Galbraith Hardware, Cook & Frye, Barnett's Garage, Harper's, Dot's Dress Shoppe, Everette's Self Service Store, Mercury Office, Feedback's, Lerman's Radio Shop, Duncan's Radio Shop, Nicholas County Star, Ben Alexander's, Marshall's Ice Cream Bar.

At halftime, the football queen and her attendants will be presented to the crowd.

The Musketeers, one of the better C. H. S. elevens in recent years, should rate, on the basis of past performance, one to two touchdown favorites to cop their second straight C. K. C. encounter.

The only Lancaster conference win came at the expense of lowly Anderson (formerly Lawrenceburg) high, a team that has yet to win in three conference tries.

However, Coach Guy Dillhouse will field a veteran team that will cause Carlisle no end of grief before the final whistle. Three weeks ago, the Green Devils took a hard Nicholasville, 6 to 0 upset victory over Carlisle, 14 to 0 in 1948, to a tie. Conceivably, the fact that Stanford was installed a slight favorite over Lancaster by Carlisle tutors and tables, 20-7½, the game may be a toss up.

Lee seniors, G. C. Myers, Jim Williams, Joe Frank Stephenson, Jerry Morrison and Herman Dayton and Charlie Harper will play their last homecoming game before a hometown crowd.

Casualty victims, "Dosi" Harper and Harper, Saturday advantage of the recess in schedule, appear to be mend and will be ready for action tomorrow afternoon. As a whole, the Musketeers are in good physical shape than at any time this season. Benny Donovan, out since the opening tilt with a fractured finger, will be ready. Injured Jerry Morrison, two terrific indignant Stanford fanny starters include: Crawford and Morrison ends, Stephenson and J. Williams tackles; Dayton and N. Williams, guards. Flora, center; Myers, quarterback, Booth and Hardin, halfbacks, Harper at fullback.

This formidable aggregation averages almost 170 pounds to the man, exceptionally heavy for high school gridders.

Rev. D. E. Jones, South Jefferson church, Louisville, will begin a revival meeting at the First Baptist church October 17. Evening services will begin at 7 p. m. The public is invited to attend these services.

W. T. Straw Elected Nicholas Red Cross Chapter Chairman

W. T. Straw was elected chairman of the Nicholas County Red Cross chapter at a meeting preceding M. C. Shearer at the annual meeting Tuesday. A vote of appreciation was extended Mr. Shearer for his efficient service.

Mrs. Howard Irvin and Spencer Taylor were elected to the executive committee for a three term. Miss Emily Dixon was elected publicity chairman.

Other officers elected were: Walter Shepherd, first vice chairman; Gayle Barton, second vice chairman; Mrs. William Power, third vice chairman; Pat Jimmie Henry, secretary; Sterling Blake, treasurer and Miss Stella Booth, executive secretary.

ORIENT LODGE NO. 500 TO HAVE CALLED MEETING

Orient Lodge No. 500, F. and A. M will have a call meeting Monday, October 10 at 7:30 p. m. for the purpose of conferring the master mason degree upon S. R. Barlow Jr., according to an announcement by Howard Allison Jr., master of the lodge.

Mr. S. R. Barlow Sr., will be acting master for the ceremony. Light refreshments will be served after the work and all master masons are invited to attend.

Eugene Smoot, Carlisle, broke his right wrist Wednesday morning when he fell from the roof of his home. He received treatment at the Johnson Memorial hospital.

State Essay Contest Offers $400; All School Children Are Eligible

All schools in Nicholas county are eligible to participate in a State Essay Contest announced this week by the Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers. The group has given the best essays urging voter approval of a Constitutional Amendment to raise the State's $5,000 salary limit.

Topic for the 750-word essays is "How We Can Make a Better Kentucky by Passing Kentucky's Health, Welfare, Safety, Limit and Education Amendment". Rules and background material have been mailed to all schools.

The author of the best essay will win a cash prize of $50 and third, $25. Nine Congressional District prizes of $25 will be given. All will be U. S. Savings Bonds. These winners also will be given a free trip to Louisville with a parent on November 5 to receive the awards.

Mrs. John E. Kirksey, Congressional District president, in her organization hoped the contest would bring home to students and parents the vital need for raising salary limits. At present, she said, good teachers and administrators are moving out of the State. The contest has the enthusiastic support of Boswell B. Barlow, Nicholas county attorney and public instruction.

All schools are to turn essays in to the county superintendent prior to October 22. He has been asked to select a judging board to meet October 24. Winning essays in each county will be forwarded to Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers, 627 S. 5th, Louisville, prior to October 26. State judging is set for October 29.

Winfred Hughes Wins FFA Dairying Project

A $50 U. S. Savings bond was won by Winfred Hughes, Carlisle High school senior and member of the Future Farmers of America according to a statement by G. B. Leonard, agricultural teacher. Hughes' entry, a Jersey cow, won first place in the dairy show, FFA Division, at the Nicholas County Youth Fair last Friday.

The bond, given by Buntin's Garage will not be presented until the close of the project contest.

The farm project contest consists of seven divisions sponsored by local business firms. The divisions and sponsors are: Dairying—Buntin's Garage; Grain—First National Bank; Capons—Wells Produce; Hogs—Lerman Bros.; Gardening—R. T. Kirkland; Home Improvement—Cole Hardware; Tobacco—Harpers Garage.

Others taking part in the contest are James Reid, Douglas Clay, Allen Scott, Gene Price, Bobby Crockett, Billy Hardin, Earl Finch and Jimmy Carter.

Due to the work of the home makers clubs in Meade county, 45 small boxes have been reset on good posts, 58 boxes painted and names stenciled, and 34 farms named.

Pranks May Cause Arrest Or Curfew

Acts of vandalism which have caused damage to property belonging to certain citizens of the community were under fire at the regular monthly meeting of the city council.

Plans were discussed by the council as to what steps could be taken to prevent similar occurrences prior to Halloween and this Hallowe'en.

One method discussed was the inauguration of a curfew which would require children to be off city streets at a certain hour each night during October, unless accompanied by their parents.

Another plan was to arrest all pranksters caught damaging property.

Nicholas Countian Completes Maneuvers With 1st Cavalry At Mount Fuji, Japan

MOUNT FUJI, JAPAN—Private D. T. Brumagen of Route 3, Carlisle, Ky., has just completed eight weeks of intensive summer maneuvers on the slopes of world famous Mt. Fuji with the 1st Cavalry Division.

The 7th Cavalry Regiment, in which he serves as a machine gunner, moved in the maneuver site surrounding the gigantic, inactive volcano early in July and accelerated its training program with the men of the outfit to familiarize them with battle conditions. Most of the men of the 7th Cavalry were new recruits who has just completed their basic military training in the United States and who had only been in Japan a few months before leaving get the maneuver area, according to Brigadier General Henry I. Hodes, 1st Cavalry Division Commanding General.

Experienced combat veterans, many of whom saw action with the Cavalry in campaigns of the Admiralty Islands, Leyte and the Philippines, supervised the highpraised training program of the regiment. This program was designed to employ simulated combat situations to bring the regiment to a peak of fighting effectiveness.

Private Brumagen, during the eight weeks stay here at the base of the huge, pyramidal mountain which is the image of Yoshida and was holding the mountain passes between Yamanaka and Gotemba. Private Brumagen's company, Company F of the Second Battalion, acted as a supporting unit for tanks of the 71st Heavy Tank Battalion, the only heavy tank battalion in Japan, as they routed the fanciest enemy from the town and drove them back to the mountain.

Outside the village limits the 7th Cavalry Brumagen's company, launchers, machine guns, powerful machine guns and heavy 105 howitzers of the 77th Field Artillery Battalion blasted at the ancient mountain in a deafening cacophony that hasn't been equaled in volume in the mountain area since mighty Fujiyama last erupted and buried the area.

High ranking occupation leaders witnessed the operation and it was filmed by major motion picture companies for release in the United States.
