New York in a Nutshell
. . . . Slightly Cracked!

been utterly ridiculous. With the big wheel in the Bronx, and the two-at-a-time relief shifts we endured the wintry blasts and obstacles of the Bronx Zoo, and in such weather, 25 or 30 other sillies (some better than mine) might add that it was worth standing for.

Shopping in New York, world's largest department store, was quite a grabbing experience, to say the least. Just what I'd do on an ordinary Thursday afternoon. Hundreds of other people were in that store. Standing on the escalator and looking down upon the throng reminded me of a bees swarming around a honeycomb.

Didn't have time or money to shop in all the big stores so I just walked in, looked around and came out again just so I could say I began in those 4,194 acres Taylor, one of the bigger 5th Avenue stores, put on quite a good thing. This "Easter Parade," street business houses squirted perfume out onto the sidewalk and in second story alcoves, the aroma which visited countless thousands and passing by their frontage. Here is a place, I'd like to see a week whole bottle before you can get a sniff. There, it mitigated your visit, perhaps, into a great town.

We saw Red Williams, of baseball game and Jack Starkey at the National Sportsman show, one afternoon. Red Boshal, the world's boxing champ, in a fifty round exhibition bout.

Lots of fun last night. Rose Lee Melendburg native, now stationed at Washington, came for a visit of days. We decided upon the Cafe Society and Downtown Club, and although steaks that were one inch thick and a bottle of good cost $5.50 each, the "Deep Rose Bowl," currently booked there, made up the difference. The club, as in most all others, musicians are stationed in the rear rooms to allay water during the shortage of dry drops. A friend, one for each player, is all you get that and apologetic smile—which doesn't help much getting off the ground.

Prices so much to tell, that it's possible to include everything. Most things are as you paint them, about the same. Everything growds, a lot of a lot of people, everywhere. Hot dogs and plain hamburgers 40 cents.

Here, in Carlisle, when the first six weeks the whole town turns out. I happened to be parked on 5th Avenue directly across from placing building one morning, I was amazed at the numbers of people who stepped over the curb house and continued on their way without ever ever looking in. The building was comparatively small, but it actually covered a city block in Carlisle.

By way of comparison as to the magnitude of N. Y., the building is which Rose Bowl Parade was seen 26,000 persons seeing the parade every day! Imagine that—26,000 people marching in one building. The total population of Paris, Cynthiana, Carlisle, Georgetown and maybe more, could easily be put in that one structure.

Speaking of the Morford's let it be said right here, that the whole hospitality of Leanita and Bruce was belying of the usual cold northern atmosphere. Fact it, if they would open the door of their Fifth Avenue apartment, the emerging warmth would doubtlessly melt the sidewalk snow and ice for blocks around. Ordinary polygons just in caves of their residence.

But then, they are Nicholas countians, (a little creek should go to Ewing for Bruce) where identities are not buried but seem to light by a warm hand clasp or acknowledged smile from a plain earthy person.

The most gratifying thought I had while away, was that I lived in a small town and was coming back to it. Yep! It was good to see New York, but, it is even "gooder" to be back home—(where there's only one taxi cab!)

Canada produces more bushels of oats per capita than any other country.

The beginning of the manufacture of linseed oil in the U. S. occurred in about 1792.

Here Abouts - - -
- - - with Emily Asbury

Once upon a time there were three Girl Scout troops in Carlisle that didn't have a home. They looked and looked for a place they could call their own, put up a work table and hung their Scout banner.

For many weeks it seemed that all three troops would have to disband for lack of a meeting site. Then—

One day Mrs. Carolyn Johnson called Mrs. Carl Hardesty, a girl scout leader, and generously offered the outbuildings behind their home on Locust street for Scout use.

The happy ending to all "once upon a time" stories is an obvious one. By next week, when the girls in green and white celebrated the national observance of their birth anniversary, a large work bench and an old storage room will be scrubbed and painted, benches and work tables will be built and all the other things done that a girls can to get scout troops in readiness.

They did it themselves with old boards, rusted hinges and borrowed tools — they got a little dirty and mashed a few fingers and maybe "daddy's saw" is in two pieces—but they had the fun of getting a kick out of working together—a spirit typical of Girl Scouts all over the world.

Right now, the girls are trying to raise enough money to make a trip to Mammoth Cave when school is out. Altogether the three troops only received $50.00 from the Community Chest drive in behalf of the Girl Scouts. Not so bad—it's the best budding.

One of the very best things about the coming of Spring is that winter is over—no more snow for us or eight months, no more dressing around the stove if we live in the country; no more lifeless looking trees, grass and bushes—because with Spring, the author of hope and promise of every pent-up desire realizes not only to skit accomplished over the winter period, come.

And yet, it's good to have snow and cold if we didn't, (snow, freezing weather) be so appreciated. She would be a warmed-up combination of pleasant memories, like the same old soup with a fresh piece of meat.

Then too, the first nipping weather is a distinct relief, actual to all roaches, fleas, gnats and flies that also find warm weather to their liking.

So, take your pick—warm days and flies or cold, cold and freeze! Ummmm.

Rainey Smith, Carlisle resident, plans to build the unique—a log cabin out of old logs from his farm on the Headquarters pike, to be constructed on the lot next to the old Henderson hotel. He plans for a large fireplace, antiques and many leisure hours chatting with friends.

Speaking of cabins, it is rumored that a certain active organization hereabouts will build a cabin for members on a lot of land donated to such a purpose by one of our leading citizens and landowners.

Nicholas Lacks Grade "A" Dairy Market

County Agent William T. Straw is in charge of the Sealtest Ice Cream Company Tuesday requested information from the company about the joining of milk producers in Nicholas county. Such extension would prepare dairying in this section according to Mr. Straw. His letter to the Sealtest Company follows:

Carlisle, Ky.
March 7, 1950

The Sealtest Ice Cream Company
Cincinnati, Ohio
Attention: Fieldman

Gentlemen:

I am in constant touch with the dairymen of our county, and there is considerable interest among producers in selling milk to your firm. This letter of inquiry is to determine if you would be interested in extending routes to our county.

If you are interested, please get in touch with me, and our department will be glad to be of assistance in lining up prospects within a few weeks we will be holding a dairy meeting here to explain dairy improvement, barns, cooling of milk, and sanitation. If we knew of the extent of your interest, we could be of much help in getting your plan of operation in dairy meeting. We would welcome the attendance of one of your representatives at this event.

We hope you will be extending your program in progress through the Nicholas County Artificial Breeding Cooperative. There is widespread enthusiasm in expanding dairying in Nicholas County.

The most serious problem that we have in dairying is the lack of a grade A market.

We await your reply, and we hope you will be expecting to extend routes into Nicholas County!

Sincerely yours,
William T. Straw,

The Blue Cross-Blue Shield hospitalization and medical-surgical care plans are now enrolling at offices of Nicholas County at their headquarters in the Courthouse.

Members of both of Carlisle's women clubs have volunteered their services in manning the booth. Saturday is the last day for enrollment at the courthouse.

Blue Cross, at you know, has been asked by the hospital board and Bud court to come to Nicholas county to establish an educational program on budgeting for hospital and medical care. If a large majority of the population of Nicholas county can be covered by hospital insurance, the new hospital will be able to stabilize its income and cut its yearly loss.

Mr. Charles Cox, chairman of the Blue Cross enrollment drive, is making up a committee to solicit funds to cover the majority of the part-pay and charity for the hospital originates. The week of March 13 has been designated for the rural program.

Blue Cross operates as a community service. It depends upon community participation in order to give broad services for a low cost. Being non-profit, it pays no dividends, commissions, or high salaries—the Kentucky Plan's over-all operating cost is less than 12% of the gross income. As the Plans grow with community sponsorship, Blue Cross members will receive dividends in the form of more and better hospital services.

All application cards for membership in the County Group must be in the Courthouse by March 27. Members of this group will receive April 15 protection. The County Group will then be closed for another year. Working groups may be formed at any time, and Farm Bureau members are urged to join the group throughout the year.

THE IMPACT OF NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE ON AMERICAN BUSINESS

The economies of the Government's plan of social insurance to the doctors and hospitals as sellers, and to all of us as buyers, (Although I am violently opposed to government health insurance, I shall endeavor to present unbiased facts and avoid propaganda approaches from either side. The U. S. Department of Commerce for 1947 shows a total consumer expenditure for medical care of 6.5 billions in dollars. For the period of 1944-47 the total over all increase in medical, hospital, dental, and drug costs was 33.9%. Certainly a great deal less than the increase in general consumers expenditures of 47.9%.

It is interesting to note that the 1947 consumers spent 6 billions for medical care, 9.4 billions for vacation 9.6 billions for alcoholic beverages, and 3.9 billions for tobacco

The Brooking Report says, "Insufficient expenditure for medical care may represent, not lack of resources, but unwillingness to give to medical care a priority above that for the automobile, recreation, and luxury items in food, shelter, and clothing." Thus, in examination of the data in this field, it is important to distinguish clearly between lack of resources to obtain adequate medical care and lack of willingness to use available resources to the proper extent.

There has been much heat generated in Washington about the Truman National Health Insurance Plan, but very little actual information has been made available to the public.

A number of bills have been introduced in Congress by proponents of government health insurance; the most radical being the Murray-Wagoner-Dingel Bill, which proposes to tax by payroll deduction, all salaries up to $4,900, at the rate of 1½% and a contribution from the employer of another 1½%. This three percent tax would raise some 4.5 billion dollars, or 40% of the programs cost. That leaves 6½ billion to be raised by Income Taxation The cost would be 11½ billion dollars per year. Mr. Oscar Ewing, Federal Security Administrator, has been quoted as estimating the cost of the program at 52 per week per person. On that basis the cost would exceed 15 billion; about the amount we are now spending on our armed forces.

Few people realize that under the provisions of the bill, the states would pay directly for part of the cost of the program in addition to the Federal Tax. The bill provides an elaborate formula for determining the share of the states. Dr. W. S. Rankin, Director of Duke Endowment Fund, has estimated that North Carolina would, under these provisions, pay 31% of the cost. The costs in North Carolina would be at first about 100 million dollars per year, and in ten years would rise to about 240 millions. Therefore, in the beginning the states share in North Carolina would be 31 million and in ten years, 80 million.

Dr. Rankin estimates the cost of administration at 7% which is most conservative. In Germany, administration costs rose to above 10% at one time.

From past experience with V. A. health and insurance administration, I have reason to believe

Musketeers Bow To Paris In 40th Finals Meet Augusta In Regional At Paris Today

Gayle Rose and his Paris teammates proved a little too much for the Musketeers Friday night as the Greyhounds grabbed a 19 point 62-43 decision from Carlisle in the finals of the Fortieth District Tournament in Paris.

Carlisle gained the right to finals play by routing North Middletown Thursday night in the semi-finals, 55-37. North Middletown had trimmed Nicholas County 35-34 in the quarter finals.

Paris, on the other hand, defeated the Bourbon Vocational College, 41-23 after the Colonels had advanced at the expense of M. M. I. 39-30 in a close contest Wednesday night in the opening round.

Immediately following the finals Friday night William Russell, tournament manager, presented trophies and individual basketballs to members of the Paris and Carlisle teams. Capt. Charlie Harper received the runner-up trophy for the locals, while Eugene Cain, Greyhound captain represented his team for the winner's award.

Hounds Score First

Paris broke the scoring ice with a driving push shot by its playmaker, Gayle Rose. Rose, a star shot by Tolliver led the count at 22, 7 points ahead of runner-up Harper and a crip shot by Myers kept the Musketeers in the game. The Greyhounds had gained a lucky 13 total at the end of the first quarter.

A crip by Tolliver cut the Paris lead to but four points as the second setto got under way. Foul shots by Harper and two fielders by Tolliver kept Hounds in range until moments before halftime that found Paris pulling away 27-19.

Fall Back

Three quick baskets by Rose, who dumped in 21 big points for the host team, put Paris ahead to stay. The Musketeers, however, battled gamely against a superior five and much credit should go to the boys and Coach Ernie Fox for the determined spirit displayed throughout the championship game, even when Paris commanded as much as a 22 point lead late in the third canto.
