COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

Tomato Blight

Last season the late blight of tomatoes destroyed about 90% of the tomato crop in our county. We want to give a few facts about this disease so that gardeners will know how to combat it. There are two blights that affect tomatoes; one is early blight which is responsible for the loss of some of the early leaves but this disease is very serious. The late blight is a fungus disease and affects all parts of the tomato plant including the fruit. Under favorable conditions the entire plant may die in a week to ten days.

Tomato blight may or may not cause as much damage this year as it did last depending on weather conditions. If weather is wet and nights are cool the blight will be sure to occur. On the other hand, if the nights are fairly warm and we have a dry season the late blight may not appear at all. Any of the following details may be avoid as a control. Kopper King, Copper-O, COC, or Tribasic copper, whichever is easiest to get at your merchants's. These contain strengths of from 45% to 52% "metallic copper" (be sure to read the label). The "recipe" for using any of them is: Two level tablespoons per gallon of water.

Because the tomato plant is rapid in growth, it continually grows away from protective sprays and dusts and that is why sprays or dusts must be repeated at more or less effective periods. Treatments should be repeated every a week during cool periods and the time may be increased to ten days during a period.

Complete treatment of the crop is necessary. These treatments, carefully followed will reward the tomato grower. These remedies are only slightly poisonous and are harmless if rather easily removed.

It might be advisable to set smaller patch of tomatoes and care for them more completely than to plant a large patch and be unable to spray them.

Fertilizer and Lime 242

The garden committee of Nicholas County introduced Fertilizer 242 about two years ago. This is special variety of dry fertilizer large seeded type, that was developed for the south. This variety does not drop down in bags like other varieties of fertilizer. It is more sure to set fruit, is a high yielder, has good quality, and has good freezing qualities. Try Fertilizer 242.

Earthworms

It isn't often that earthworms are unfriendly. W. E. Piper reported that they were unfriendly to him this spring and were causing considerable damage in his tobacco bed. Two factors probably account for the high build up of earthworms on Mr. Piper's farm the cool wet weather of last summer was very favorable for the development of earthworms and Mr. Piper admits that he has not gone fishing for forty years. For very few cases of damage by earthworms, they may be brought under control by a top soil application of DDT and water.

Winter Damage to Strawberry

The most severe winter in the past fifteen years is responsible for many damaged strawberry fields. Any flowering shrubs failed to bloom because of winter killing of flowering buds. Branches of any kinds of shrubbery showing damage. Portions of dead leaves should be removed as soon as possible to allow the new growth to develop. In some cases some shrubs may have to be cut back to the ground. Most rose bushes have been frozen back to nearly the ground level.

Fertilizer On Grass

Returns Dividends

Recent surveys by the National Fertilizer Association of 80,000 farmers indicated that on the average $1.00 invested in fertilizer would return $4.82 in beef and $7.26 in milk.

The following points were made for improved pasture growth:

1. If the pasture contains a good stand of desirable grasses, good results will be obtained by top dressing.

2. If pasture has a poor stand of legumes then renovate as follows:

Test the soil for lime and plant nutrient needs.

Lime as recommended, apply 2 tons to six months ahead of renovation.

Tear up sod with disk, field cultivator, or plow shallow, destroying all old vegetation. Add manure if available.

Drill in recommended grade of fertilizer.

Establish a firm seed bed, using cultipacker if available.

Make seeding — legume and grass. Broadcast seeding legume growth.

After establishment, the seeding must be lightly grazed or clipped as needed.

The suggested seeding mixture for the Inner Blue Grass is made up of 15 pounds of Kentucky blue grass, seven pounds of red clover, two pounds of alsike clover, and one pound of ladino clover seed in acre or 10 pounds of orchard grass and a pound of ladino clover.

For the Outer Blue Grass, the suggested seeding mixture is 20 pounds of orchard grass and 10 pounds of bluegrass or a pound of ladino clover seed in acre, or eight pounds of red clover seed.

The City Council of the City of Carlisle do ordain as follows:

That the following rules and regulations governing the installations and servicing of individual gas systems in private homes, business houses and public buildings are hereby adopted:

1. The low pressure regulator and meter for each service will remain the property of the City of Carlisle.

2. Every service will be required to have an approved cash stop and box at or near the property line to permit easy access for cutting off the service in case of an emergency such as a fire. A cut-off at the regulator is also suggested.

3. Each individual low pressure regulator and meter are to be installed in such a way that either the regulator or the meter may be easily removed for any necessary repairs or replacement. All meters to be installed outside of buildings.

4. No regulator or meter is to be adjusted or tampered with under any circumstances without the approval of the City of Carlisle or its designated representative.

5. Domestic service lines may be no smaller than 1-inch pipe as far as the regulator, and piping beyond the meter and into the house may be no smaller than 1¼-inch pipe. In cases where gas fired furnaces are to be used, a 1½-inch pipe is recommended from the meter to the tee for connection to the furnace.

6. No inside piping may be of a smaller size than the size of the connection of the appliance to which the pipe is connected. No cast iron fittings will be permitted.

7. All furnaces, water heaters, or other large capacity units must be vented to an active flue, or an approved vent extending 12 inches above roof line.

8. All service lines and inside piping will be checked for leaks by the designated representative of the City of Carlisle before the low pressure regulator and meter will be set and the gas turned on. The contractor call backs for inspection will be at contractor's expense. The installation of the regulator and meter will be made by the representative of the City of Carlisle.

9. The installing contractor will be held responsible for purging the service line and all inside piping before any appliance is lighted. Purging of the service line and all appliances will be placed in operation for a period of time of sufficient length to determine that each appliance is working properly.

10. All service connections at the mains must be swing joints.

11. The contractor shall notify the representative of the City Gas Office as to the capacity of all units to be installed.

12. Pipe, fittings, valves, etc. removed from an existing installation shall not be used again until they have been thoroughly cleaned, inspected and found to be equivalent of new material.

13. That this ordinance shall take effect from and after its passage and publication.

14. For violations of any of the foregoing rules and regulations any one violating same shall be fined not less than $25.00 nor more than $100.00 for such violation.
