PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—The interest of the Philadelphia baseball public is to be centered on Monday in the United States Supreme court, when Judge Butler will decide whether the Philadelphia baseball club will carry Annapolis, Washington and Baltimore on its back for the season or not. The case was argued before the court by Attorney General Hensel for the state and Mr. Ingersoll for the baseball club. More than 5,000 baseball cranks, with their wives, children and a company of cavalry from Fort Mifflin, will be present to hear the decision. The baseball club has a large number of players under contract, and if the decision is against them they will be permitted to send her into the field. Manager Harrison.

MINE HORROR.

Twenty-six Burned to Death in a Mexican Mine.

The Survivors Nothing Rescue Impossible, Almost State Energy to Saving Property—Particulars of the Terrible Disaster.

EAGLE PASS, Tex., June 5.—Full particulars of the Pacific coal mine disaster are nearly as can be learned are as follows:

At 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when the men were coming out of the mine, a cry was heard that the mine was on fire and flames were seen issuing from the mouth of the mine. Nearly one hundred of the fifty miners were working in the mine when the fire broke out in their escape, leaving twenty-six of the number dead from the poisonous gases which spread like lightning to every portion of the mine. Every effort was made by all efforts were useless to save the imprisoned miners, and every energy was directed to saving the property from destruction. The fire was discovered by a miner who was on the fireman's watch, and the water poured into the burning timbers, but without effect. The fire was originated from Tuesday night at 11 o'clock, and the dead miners are supposed to have been dead since that time, as the dead miners are supposed to have been dead since that time.

A committee of the company has had charge of the dead, the men of which is many of the dead. Nearly all of the dead miners are lying on the ground.

THE RAIN

Kept Crowds Away From the World's Fair Sunday.

The Management Disappointed—The Visitors Who Did Go Were Treated to Music—Living in Chicago Is Not Cheap Even the Rain.

CHICAGO, June 5.—What the attendance at the World's fair might have been Sunday had it not rained, no one can even guess. Everything was in splendid order and had nearly all advances and improvements been completed the crowd would have been a record breaker by thousand. The second open Sunday of the fair was looked forward to and it was immediately warm weather set in. Hundreds of visitors were disappointed Sunday morning and their entire service in anticipation of an unusual treat, but they were disappointed. Up to 1 o'clock in the afternoon there was a steady downpour of rain, which drenched thousands of people in the "White City." About that hour the sun began to shine and black cloud arose in the west, which soon covered the entire sky and a heavy rain fell. The rain did not make matters worse the wind blew a regular gale and the rain fell in an uncomfortable manner. It was impossible to keep umbrellas right side up and the rain blew in every direction so that the people did not come out. Those who attended the fair did not have an enjoyable time. Many of the buildings were not complet
