U. S. Must Build Civil Defense

AIR FORCE CHIEF SAYS ENEMY BOMBERS CAN ATTACK AMERICA

(This is the first of a series of articles on civil defense, based on the booklet "This Is Your Civil Defense," which will be sent to every household in the United States from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. for ten cents.)

By MILLARD CALDWELL
Federal Civil Defense Administrator

General Hoyt Vandenberg, Chief of Staff of the United States Air Force, has made a startling statement — one which most Americans find hard to believe. He had said that at best we could knock down only 30 out of every 100 enemy planes attacking the United States. That means that 40 out of 100 would get through. Despite our traditional attitude that "it can't happen here," we must believe these facts.

This does not mean that our Air Force is ineffective. We have an excellent air force and our anti-aircraft defenses are good. In the last war, the Germans also were well equipped with defense weapons, but they were not able to stop our attacking bombers. On the average, we lost fewer than 10 out of each 100 planes. That gives us something to think about!

We know that everything possible will be done to stop the enemy at our borders, and to prevent sabotage within, but we also can be sure that, in case of war, a good percentage of enemy attacks would be successful in spite of all that we could do. That is why we must have Civil Defense.

Too wide oceans to which once protected us have given way to global bombers. Today we face more kinds of attack than ever before, and our danger is much greater.

There is only one way to keep up our freedom from knocking us out of a war. We must know how to save lives and property, restore our cities and industries, and carry on the fight for the matter which kind of attacks are hurled against us.

Russia Has Bombers

Russia has hundreds of heavy, long-range bombers patterned after our B-29s which could get through most of our defense nations. We know that Russia has atomic bombs and that their heavy long-range bombers are capable of delivering them anywhere in the United States at any time the Kremlin decides.

She can wage biological warfare for she has scientists capable of preparing diseases for use against people, plants, and animals, and trained secret agents who could spread them.

It is certain that she has the major war gases, including the new and deadly nerve gas developed by German experts who were taken into Russia at the end of the last war.

That is not all we must plan against. In some types of biological warfare fifth columnists could begin work without waiting for a war to start. Saboteurs too, could attack from within and wreck our defenses and war production output.

Hit Without Warning

All these enemy weapons could hit us without warning.

The outcome of modern war is not necessarily decided by armies in the field. Wars today can be won or lost on the home front. The home front cannot be hidden, and Elva Phillips-out of the war to survive as a free people.

Millions of Americans must be trained in civil defense before this country can be sure it is ready for war. Meanwhile, the attack might come at any moment. We have no time to lose in getting ready to ward off such an attack. Your home, your job, your family, your own life may be at stake.

Civil defense is the sure way—the only organized way—for survival on the home front.

(The next article will discuss what is civil defense and how it can help.)

HEALTH FOR ALL

Two TB Patient's Diet

Bed rest in a tuberculosis hospital and a balanced diet of good, nourishing foods, plus any special treatment which may be necessary, are all part of the tuberculosis patient's regimen. But it is in combination that these factors are effective. No single one of them alone could be expected to effect a patient's cure.

Several decades ago, attempts had been made to arrest tuberculosis by means of special diets, with heavy concentration on such foods as milk and eggs. We know today that, while food is important to the tuberculosis patient, it is only one of several factors in his treatment.

There is no special "tuberculosis diet," although the part played by nutrition in fighting TB has received increased recognition in recent years. The patient is tuberculosis hospital has his diet carefully planned to include sufficient amounts of proteins, fats, carbohydrates, minerals, and vitamins—food elements which are part of any well-balanced diet.

Some people believe that because tuberculosis frequently causes severe weight loss, the patient's diet is exclusively made up of "fattening foods." But weight-producing foods like carbohydrates or fats are included on the patient's menu in just the right amounts and in proper balance with other foods his body needs to build its resistance.

If any type of food were to be emphasized, it would be the kind containing proteins or "body-building" elements. A patient's diet is planned to build his strength and vitality as well as his weight. A gain in weight during a patient's hospital stay may be considered a sign of progress. On the other hand, excessive weight could put an extra strain on the patient, so his meals are planned to help him reach and maintain the normal weight for his age and build.

There are time when a patient may complain about the fare in a tuberculosis hospital. This happens sometimes because meals take on added importance to a hospitalized patient and he may be disappointed when his favorite foods do not turn up on the tray. It may be, too, that the patient is not accustomed to the wholesome and nutritious fare prepared at the hospital.

Bed rest remains the basic day-to-day part of the patient's treatment. But he also has to eat well to get back his health and strength. The patient in a tuberculosis hospital can develop and keep a good appetite, once he understands that a nutritious diet is part of the ammunition necessary to help him fight his illness.

King & Queen Crowned At NCHS Fall Festival

REIGN OVER FALL FESTIVAL—King and Queen of the Nicholas County Fall Festival held Friday night were Jerry McCarthy, senior, and Marjorie Bradley, Queen. Also in the spotlight are Tony and Betty Caswell, Prince and Princess of the festivities. —The Carlisle Mercury Photo.

Marjorie Bradley was crowned Queen of the Nicholas County high school Fall Festival held Friday night at the Headquarters high school and Tommy McCarthy was crowned King to high-light an evening of activity that was attended by a crowd of over 600 people.

Mr. Raymond Wesley, county superintendent of schools, presided at the coronation ceremonies.

Both students are juniors in the Nicholas County high school.

Betsy Caswell and Tony Caswell were elected Princess and Prince.

The program began with a chili supper at 5.30 p. m. in the school cafeteria.

A variety of concessions which included fish pond, candle snuffing and dart throwing were enjoyed. The basketball toss was popular attraction as was the cakewalk.

Several cakes were auctioned off and brought pretty good prices. Earl Hamm acted as auctioneer.

A pageant was presented after the concessions closed, and pupils and children of all grades of the Nicholas County grade and high school.

Carrying out the Thanksgiving theme the children of the lower grades went through a series of songs, dances and readings.

The first graders, dressed in Puritan costumes made by Miss Jane Gaffin began the program. A musical skit portraying Sunbonnet Sally and Overall Jim was presented by two members of the second grade.

The third, fourth, and fifth grades sang "When You Were A Tulip," and the sixth and seventh grades also presented several musical selections.

Miss Fleet Allison, principal of the elementary school, accompanied the program on the piano.

A patriotic program was given by members of the high school under the direction of Miss Jane Stump, music director.

The school glee clubs sang a patriotic song while Tommy Grimes, dressed as Uncle Sam, and June Anderson, dressed as the statue of Liberty, made their appearance.

The members of the chorus were dressed in red, white, and blue costumes.

Another group followed this impressive scene by dancing the Virginia Reel and concluding with the Grand March.

The crowning of the queen and king was preceded by a short speech by Mr. Raymond Wesley.

The program closed with the coronation ceremonies.

There will be a meeting Monday night, Nov. 19 at 7.30 at the courthouse of the Civil Defense unit in Nicholas county. All persons are invited to attend.

National Guard Command Inspection Held Monday Night In Guard Armory

The first command inspection in Kentucky of the Kentucky National Guard units since World War II was held Monday night in the National Guard Armory in Carlisle.

Maj Chester L. Pearson, S-2 of the 149th Infantry Regimental Combat team made the inspection of the Heavy Mortar Company of Carlisle. The regiment headquarters are located at St. Matthews.

A highlight of the evening was the commissioning of Robert Allen Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Allen Palmer, to the rank of second lieutenant. Lt Palmer worked his way up from private in the local unit.

Maj. Chester Pearson pinned the bars to Lt. Palmer's shoulder.

Other officers who were present for the inspection included Major Robert L. Bell, S-1, 149 Infantry, Major Raymond L. V. Pearson, army instructor of the 149th Infantry; Lt. Colonel Marry W. Meinecke, senior army instructor for the Kentucky National Guard, WOJG Armoundo J. Allaro, assistant S-1 for 149th Infantry Warrant Officer Nate Young (It said at the inspection that the national inspections will be held in regular sequence in the future.—Editor's note.)

* The Carlisle post is attached to the 149th Infantry as a heavy mortar outfit.

COMMISSIONED—Robert Allen Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Allen Palmer, his second lieutenant bars pinned to his shoulders as he receives his commission in the local National Guard unit. Lt. Palmer was commissioned Monday night by the Command Inspection of the local unit. Maj Chester Pearson is shown pinning the bars to Lt. Palmer's shoulder—The Carlisle Mercury photo.

THE TIME ONCE AGAIN—If you look carefully at the above photo, you can see Bill (The Human Fly) Power, being swung out to the Locust street side of the courthouse clock. Bill made some precarious repairs on the clock, and for the first time in several years you can now tell the time by that side of the clock. Not a job for a man with a weak stomach, huh?—The Carlisle Mercury Photo.

Blue Jackets Open Cage Season With 27-22 Win Over Sharpsburg

The Nicholas County Blue Jackets opened their 1951-52 basketball season Tuesday night with an unimpressive 27-22 win over the Sharpsburg Red Devils. The game was played at Headquarters.

The Red Devils, playing the slow-break type of basketball slowed the game down and forced the Blue Jackets to play their way and almost completely throttled the fast-break offense.

Nicholas County took the lead in the contest after a minute and half of play and never let Sharpsburg dropped in a crip. Boyd hit a jump shot and Tryman hit a free throw to give the locals a 5-0 early lead.

The Red Devils tied the game up as five-all. Razor tallied two field goals and Boyd dropped in a free toss. Boyd put the Jackets into a 6-5 lead with a free throw as the quarter ended.

The second canto was a low scoring affair, with Nicholas County garnering four points while holding Sharpsburg to three to muster a 10-8 lead at the half. Wilson and Hillock did the scoring for the Jackets on a field goal apiece.

Health Worker Completes Survey Of Children's Teeth

Miss M. Helen Elliott, one of the personnel from the office of Dr. J. F. Owen, director, Dental Health, Kentucky State Department of Health, has completed a survey and screening of the children's teeth in the Nicholas county and Carlisle schools.

Miss Elliott filled out cards indicating the need of the individual children to take home to their parents.

Dr. B. F. Reynolds, Health Director of the Nicholas County Health Department is hoping that parents of the children needing dental attention will consult their family dentist.

Dr. Reynolds stated that home care is of the greatest importance in keeping the decay of children's teeth under control. Such care, he said, includes the cleaning of teeth twice daily, immediately after eating.

It is wise to avoid excessive sweets, which cause tooth decay, and the avoidance of excessive sweets will indirectly reduce the number of cavities. Dentists find that tooth decay occurs in almost direct proportion to the amount of sweets eaten.

Since one of the major causes of school absenteeism is dental decay, the need is great for attention to this phase of child health.

All children need a thorough dental examination each year and a periodic rechecking during that time.

Many children are hampered by dental defects which affect their school work and result in lower grades on their report cards.

For these reasons, Dr. Reynolds urged parents to take advantage of the dental cards and if their children need dental care, to take them to the family dentist.

Man Shoots Self In Accident Wednesday

Robert McCall of the Goose Creek section of this county was accidentally shot in the Nicholas County hospital last Wednesday with a 32-caliber pistol wound in his chest.

Members of his family said a bullet from a gun he was holding in his hand struck him in the left chest.

The wound was reported as not serious and McCall was able to leave the hospital this week.

The Fightmaster Real Estate Agency reported this week that it had sold for Nannie and Clide Poe, their farm of 87 acres, located on the Miller Station road to S. T. and Roger Terrell. Possession will be given March 1. This place is better known as the Gore farm.

Nicholas County School May Open By December 1

The new $250,000 Nicholas County high school is virtually complete and Superintendent of Schools Raymond Wesley stated this week that he hoped to begin classes in it around the first of December, although he couldn't be certain as to the actual opening date.

Mr. Wesley said that an open house was being planned to be held at the new school as soon as possible after the opening. A formal dedication of the new building will be held at some future date when more adequate arrangements can be made.

The contractors had finished installing the heating system this week and the finishing of the floors and the installation of light fixtures were also being completed.

Mr. Wesley said that the science equipment had not arrived as yet but was scheduled for shipment around November 24. He added that the lockers also had not come in, but that he had a government priority on them and expected them in at almost anytime.

The school, located on Highway 32, just outside of the western city limits of Carlisle, will contain nine classrooms, a cafeteria, library-study hall, and auditorium-gymnasium.

The gymnasium will have an actual seating capacity of 1,152 in the "removable bleachers, but could hold a possible capacity of 1500 if the occasion demanded that many.

New goals and a new scoreboard have already been installed in the gym. The gym can be converted into an auditorium and will be used for all school productions.

The ground surrounding the structure is being leveled to provide for a more adequate physical education program. Landscaping will be done later.

The building consists of a basement and first and second floors. The cafeteria will be located in the basement. The physical education department will also be located in the basement.

The principal's office, the agriculture department, teacher's lounge and several classrooms will be on the first floor. The second floor will provide space for the library-study hall and the remainder of the classrooms.

Perhaps one of the biggest improvements in the school is the modern home economics department and science department. Both departments will house new modern equipment, and will provide more and better facilities for the students.

Annual Meeting Of Nicholas ARC Set For Nov. 20

The annual meeting of the Nicholas County chapter of the American Red Cross will be held Tuesday, November 20, for the election of three new members to the board of directors.

The meeting will be held in the courthouse in the county court room and will begin at seven p. m.

The board of directors of the chapter consists of nine members, three of which will retire every year, and three which are elected to fill the vacancies.

A board member may not be re-elected for year following his retirement. The term of office is three years.

All persons who contributed one dollar or more are entitled to participate in the annual election.

In reporting on the activities of the local chapter, Miss Stella Booth, secretary of the organization, said that since July 1, 40 Servicemen and nine veterans have received service of the Red Cross.

In making this statement, Miss Booth said that though several contacts may be made in each case, that it is regarded as only one case. She said that several of the

LETTER TIME

Say kids, it's about time to let that old fellow up at the North Pole know what you want him to bring you for Christmas. He left word with us the other day to have all you children write us a letter and let us know what you want. We'll make sure that Santa Claus gets them. So hurry up, he's got a lot of orders to fill between now and Christmas, so the sooner you write us, the better. Just address your letter to "Santa Claus," in care of The Carlisle Mercury, Carlisle, Ky. I know he'll be anxious to hear from you!
