to cut the quality just a little bit in order to make just a little better price.

Take Feeds, for instance

This can be done by switching ingredients—substituting the higher priced ones with something cheaper. This does not change the analysis tag but it does change the content of the bag, and the feeder, who is the victim, wonders why his production varies.

Tuxedo Feeds

A good bag of feed, like Tuxedo, is built upon a fixed formula, each ingredient of which will do its part toward maximum production, and the feeder relies upon the manufacturer or dealer to maintain this high standard.

That's why Tuxedo Feeds are known for their consistent uniformity, year in and year out. There's no switching done unless laboratory or feeding tests prove that it can be made just a little better.

Petitions Given To City Council At Regular Meet

Two petitions and one complaint were registered at the meeting of the city council Monday night.

Mr. W. M. Kendall, on behalf of the residents of Hayman avenue, presented a petition to the council asking for improvements on their street. Mr. Kendall explained that the street was in bad need of repairs and that several large holes in the road caused unsatisfactory driving conditions. Several of the Hesman avenue residents were at the meeting to hear out Mr. Kendall's argument. The matter was referred to the street committee.

Night Watchman

Another petition, introduced by Councilman Tommy Duncan, was signed by the businessmen of Carlisle, stating that they would contribute $63 towards the hiring of a night watchman on Saturday afternoon and night and Sunday afternoon. The businessmen's petition recommended Bob Bright for the job. This matter was referred to the police committee.

Mrs. Henry Vice registered a complaint on the parking conditions on the corner of Walnut and Main. This was also referred to the police committee.

Councilman George Gaffin brought the council members attention the fact that the street known as North street extension was also in bad need of repairs, and this was also referred to the street committee.

The increase of speeding in Carlisle was also discussed and the council sought ways to reduce this hazard. It was also agreed to have a patrolman at the intersection of School avenue and Chestnut on duty when school children were on their way to school in the morning, at noon, and in the afternoon after school.

All the members were present for the meeting.

Musketeers Suffer First Loss At Hands Of Hazard Bulldogs, 26-7

Outweighing Carlisle 12 pounds to the man the Hazard Bulldogs swept to a 26-7 victory over the Carlisle Musketeers Friday night in Hazard.

The well-balanced, well-coached Hazard team, scored a touchdown in each quarter in racking up their first win of the season, and handing the Musketeers their first loss.

Carlisle's scoring came midway in the fourth quarter when Donovan scored from the one-yard-line. A pass from Pitman to Gilley was good for the extra point. Booth had placed the ball in scoring position with a 10-yard punt off tackle.

Three of the Hazard touchdowns came as the result of long runs and one was registered on a short pass and lateral play.

Booth, Donovan and Hughes were pointed out by Coach Rose as playing good ball for the Musketeers.

Play Lancaster Friday

Rose, however, dismissed the Hazard game with a shrug and started talking about the coming Carlisle-Lancaster game Friday night at the local athletic field.

He stated that Lancaster would be the best team he has met yet and that he expected their forward wall to be as good as Carlisle had faced. He recalled last year when Carlisle defeated Lancaster by four touchdowns that the Musketeers had to take to the air in downing the Lancaster aggregation.

Lancaster has only had two touchdowns scored against them this year, and Coach Rose commented on this fact. He stated that the Musketeers would have to play heads up ball all the way to keep their CKC slate clean.

The game lineup that started against Hazard will probably be used in Friday nights contest. Those starting against Hazard were Gilley and Hughes, ends; Kelley and Shepherd, tackles; Bussell and Carter, guards; and Flory, center; Pitman, quarterback; Booth, fullback, and Donovan and Clark, halfbacks. Substitutions in the Hazard game were Kash, Hunt, and Dayton

Nicholas county Hospitality Questioned By Arrested Couple

Reprinted from the Floyd County Times. Issue of September 27, 1951.

Editorial comment of page 2 of this week's Mercury.

If your blood pressure is low, get Mountaineer Club to tell you how he and his wife were treated, last week-end, on how a farm-owner there named Ledford spoke of "you mountain people".

The Prestonsburg couple weren't even hunting in Nicholas county; they were hunting on a farm in Bourbon, just over the county line, but to reach the Bourbon farm they walked across the Ledford place after getting permission from his tenant.

The whole story doesn't make pleasant reading, and it doesn't even sound true to us folks who can't imagine any old grouch getting so bitter about decent folks merely walking across his land to get to a neighboring farm. It just doesn't ring true in Kentucky where we boast of hospitality.

But the truth is, the Nicholas countian regarded his precious acres so sanctosanct that when Mr. and Mrs. Clark returned from hunting he had the Sheriff and a deputy out from Carlisle, armed with warrants, and each was fined $5. An added penalty was the ordeal of listening to Mr. Ledford's discourteous and disparaging remarks about the people of this section.

The Sheriff, his deputy and the County Judge expressed their regret for the couple's treatment, and invited them back, but they did not regret the action enough to remit the costs in the case.

So goes the story of one man giving a community or county an unsavory reputation in the minds of others. Hunters from this county, folks down Nicholas way claim, have killed their livestock and otherwise destroyed property on occasion. So they have grown suspicious of all of us because of the acts of a miserable few. They are we to judge all Nicholas county folks by the talk and harsh actions of one old farmer?

The answer is, definitely, No. Nicholas county has many fine people, just as Floyd and every other county has. In fact, we have some mighty fine people from Nicholas now living in Floyd. Takes all kinds to make a sometimes rotten, sometimes wonderful, world, eh?

It should be mentioned here to Mr. Clark's eternal credit that preparing to leave for home after satisfying the irate farmer, he extended to Mr. Ledford a cordial invitation to come to Prestonsburg and be his guest in his home.

I SHOUDA' WON THAT—WONDER WHAT'S NEXT—seem to be the expression on these boys faces at the dog show held last Saturday afternoon at the Nicholas County Youth Fair. The dog seem unconcerned by it all. Fifteen classes and prizes were given in the dog show. The boys are unidentified but you can be sure they're dog lovers.—TCM

Club To Establish Travelers Aid Bureau

A travelers Aid Bureau will be set up in Carlisle in the near future according to Roger Womack, chairman of the committee. This is one of the community service projects undertaken by the Carlisle Rotary club for this year.

The bureau is scheduled to be located at the Standard Oil Station at the corner of Sycamore and Main and will be designed to give road information and other service to tourists.

Rooms and apartments available in Carlisle should be listed with the committee, which is composed of Roger Womack, Gano Duncan, Emery Clark, Tommy Johnson and Jim Williams.

Mr. Womack pointed out that this community service is free to all concerned.

Sentence Probated In Circuit Court

Herman Barnett, 60, was sentenced to two and one-half years on and fined $200 Monday morning by Judge A. H. Barker on a charge of assault and battery.

The sentence was probated on the condition that Barnett would leave Nicholas county.

All other cases were held over to the December term of court which will meet December 3.

grand jury for the present session will reconvene on Monday.

Pfc. Jesse Bretz Posthumously Wins Silver Star Award

Pfc. Jesse J. Bretz of Route 1, Myers, has been posthumously awarded the Silver Star Medal, the nation's third-highest decoration for heroism in combat. He was killed on June 23, 1951, during the action for which he was cited.

Bretz was a member of Company B of the 15th Infantry Regiment.

During an attack on enemy-held hill positions, he was wounded by shrapnel, but refused to be evacuated.

When the enemy troops launched a "banzai" counterattack, Bretz, acting as forward observer for a recoilless rifle crew, moved to an exposed position from where he could direct accurate fire on the enemy's automatic weapons. In this way was destroyed a machine gun nest that had pinned down his company.

As the Chinese troops continued to move forward, Bretz assumed control of a machine gun. He moved the weapon to an exposed position that afforded an excellent field of fire. He was firing the machine gun at the charging enemy troops when he was killed.

The citation accompanying Private First Class Bretz's Silver Star states: "His outstanding gallantry and courageous devotion to duty reflect the highest credit on himself and the military service."

Two Local Cars Involved In Wreck

Two cars from Nicholas county were involved in a collision late Tuesday afternoon near Paris. No one was seriously hurt.

The accident occurred when a car stopped in front of an automobile driven by Mrs. Howard Dorsey, and owned by Mrs. Claudia Tucker, causing Mrs. Dorsey to stop. An automobile driven by Mrs. "Peanuts" Allison then ran into the rear end of the Tucker car.

The unidentified automobile which originally caused the mishap did not stop. However, occupants of the Tucker car were able to get the license number.

Besides Mrs. Dorsey and Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. B. C. Clark and Mr. Howard Dorsey were in the car. Mrs. Clark suffered a leg injury and was taken to a hospital where she was released after treatment. Mrs. Dorsey suffered an ankle injury, while Mrs. Tucker and Mr. Dorsey were shaken up.

Mrs. Allison was unhurt and Mrs. Matthew Campbell, who was accompanying Mrs. Allison, was also unhurt.
