$2,000 Made in one Day WITH A LIMESTONE PLOW.
A new horse plow factory doing a large business in the South challenged the James H. Hall Company of Maryland to a field trial, proposing that the winning Plow should receive $2,000, and that the losing Plow should give an additional $1,000 to a charitable Institution of the State where the trial was had.
The James H. Hall Company, having constructed, had faith in their Plow, tried the challenge and cut up the "Jungs", and when the day of trial came of the Hall Plow, the other Company to try the other Plow proposed.
So when R. C. KING got on his feet and saw that the STEEL PLOW that comes to this market, will be the LIMESTONE PLOW for the other Plow proposed. Limestone is the strongest, lightest draft, and will do the work and save the horses' strength.
