A school road is building part to Rolla Scott, West Main to enter a parking next to his cabinet shop.

Discussion was led by Charles Stone, chairman of the streets and alleys committee, concerning repair of Second street, painting bridges across Brushy on Walnut street and Dorsey avenue and the replacement of the bridge on Elm street. Councilman Billy Frey asked Attorney Bell to look at the road at the county quarry that is to be used to replace the Elm street bridge and advise the city as to the best use of same.

Ordinance Passed

An ordinance imposing a daily license fee of $50 in advance from any itinerant peddler or retailer desiring to sell merchandise of any nature within the city limits, except that no license be required from any resident of Nicholas County to sell farm or garden products grown thereon was properly passed.

Attorney Bell recommended that the council pay Aldredge-Pogue, Inc. the sum of $19,000 for work performed thus far on the pipe line to tie from Mr. Bell stated that he thought the pipe line would be in operation in about ten days.

City Clerk Will J. Greene was authorized by council to notify last year's board of tax appraisers to serve again this year and to pay Mrs. Bessie Lane $10 for her copying tax reports.

Mention of the annexation of Arnold Heights was brought by the council's attention by Brooks Henson. The matter was referred until the October council meeting at which time Mr. Henson was asked to present a petition signed by property owners desiring annexation.

Signs at school crossings in the city will be erected this year and the police be present at crossings to supervise traffic.

Council was adjourned at 9:10 p.m.

Nicholas County Schools To Open Monday, Sept. 13 Supt. Wesley Says

All of the Nicholas County schools will open Monday with all teachers either being delayed one week on account of a water shortage.

The schools have received several shipments of food for the school lunch program. Cheese, canned beef and gravy, vegetable oil and roberts sauce have arrived. In the past few days A car load of ice and gravy was unloaded at Cynthiana Wednesday for the surrounding schools of the area.

All of the buildings have been prepared for the opening and everything is ready for a successful year, superintendent Raymond Wesley said.

All first grade pupils entering school for the first time will have to present a health certificate upon enrolling in school. Each child will be presented a card during the first week of school which must be completed and returned for his complete enrollment.

CreditWasn't Given In News Article

Rep. Cassus M. Clay, Paris, stated Tuesday that he fostered a bill in the House of Representatives H.B. No. 90 to amend KRS 247.020 to allow the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky to purchase lease or accept gift of farms for use and to direct the Experiment Station to use such farm owned for the interest of agriculture, horticulture and forestry in the Commonwealth.

Rep. Clay was referring to recent articles in Kentucky newspapers concerning an experiment substation for the Eden Shale Hills area of Northern Kentucky. The article failed to give Rep. Clay credit for his work on House Bill No. 90, which was worked out with the aid of Dean Welch of the UK College of Agriculture and John Hamilton, Nicholas Farm Bureau president.

Transy Names R. C. Layson As Professor

R. C. Layson of Millersburg, a member of the University of Kentucky Department staff until last January, has been named assistant professor of physics and chemistry at Transylvania College.

Layson took over the post for part of the spring quarter, filling a vacancy left by Forrest T. Mullikin, who resigned to do physics research at a Washington, D. C., laboratory.

The newly appointed professor attended Washington and Lee University an received his B. S. degree from Georgetown College and an M. S. degree in physics from the University of Kentucky. Engaged primarily in farming at Millersburg, Layson has served for short periods as an instructor at the Lexington Signal Depot, Morehead State College and UK.

In 1945 Layson accepted the position of lecturer assistant and storekeeper at the UK Department of Physics. He resigned last January.

The new Transylvania faculty member is married to the former Miss Lutie Wilson of Carlisle. They have two daughters.

Layson, who has done graduate work in mathematics, physics and electrical engineering, holds a first class commercial radio operator's license. During the past summer he was employed as a research associate at the University of Kentucky Aeronautical Research Laboratory.

He is a member of Pi Mu Epsilon mathematics society and Sigma Pi Sigma physics society. He is an associate member of Sigma Xi.
