Weekly Recipe

Eggs make a wholesome and satisfying main dish for supper or lunch. Mrs. Pearl Hauk, specialist in foods at the University of Kentucky, suggests this tasty, chilled egg loaf, to be made early in the day.

Congealed Egg Loaf

6 hard cooked eggs
1 T gelatin
¼ c cold water
¼ c boiling water
¼ c mayonnaise
2 T lemon juice
½ t salt
1 drop tobasco sauce
½ c chopped parsley
¼ c green pepper chopped

Hard-cook eggs by placing them in cold water, cover and bring to boiling point. Reduce heat to keep water below simmering temperature for 6 minutes. Cool promptly in cold water to make shells easier to remove.

Add cold water to gelatin to soften it, then add boiling water. Cool. Add mayonnaise, lemon juice, salt, tobasco sauce and grated onion. Chill to syrupy stage. Separate egg yolks from whites. Force yolks through a sieve and place in oiled pan or individual molds. Add half the gelatin mixture, then green pepper and parsley. Cover with finely chopped egg whites and remaining gelatin mixture. Chill until set. Serve on lettuce. Serves 4.

Menu: Congealed egg loaf, creamed peas and potatoes, tomato-cucumber salad, biscuits, butter and apple cobbler.

Summer squash with its delicate flavor makes a delicious vegetable ring served in combination with buttered lima beans, peas, small white onions or creamed mushrooms. Mrs. Pearl Hauk, specialist in foods at the University of Kentucky, says to force the cooked squash through a course sieve before measuring it for the recipe.

Baked Squash Ring

3 c cooked summer squash
¼ c melted butter
¼ c milk
3 eggs well beaten
1 t salt
¼ t pepper
¼ c buttered crumbs
1 T minced onion

Cut up washed, unpeeled squash and cook covered in a small amount of water until tender. Force through course sieve. Add other ingredients, blend well and turn into a well greased ring mold. Set ring in a pan of hot water and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until inserted knife comes out clean.

To remove squash ring, place serving dish over the ring, then turn dishes quickly. Fill center with buttered limas or other vegetable.

Menu: Cold baked ham, squash ring with lima beans, sliced tomatoes, biscuits, butter and green apple pie.

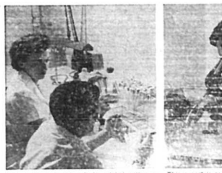
Strict Tests Through Every Process Assure Safety of Salk Polio Vaccine

For the first time in history, a vaccine is protecting millions of human beings from paralytic polio. While the Salk vaccine will not work in every case, American children are being safeguarded against the dread disease, with no more risk than they would take in a vaccination against smallpox or a typhoid shot. The Salk vaccine must pass elaborate tests under the watchful eye of a government inspector at every stage of production. Then the final packaged vaccine is approved by the U.S. Public Health Service for distribution. Here are shown a few of the steps that assure American parents their children are being given a safe vaccine.

This technician is filtering dead cells and all other foreign matter from polio virus after it has grown on animal tissue in glass containers.

Virus is "cooked" in tank with formaldehyde (from bottle) until it is rendered harmless, after which it must pass exacting safety tests.



Animal tissue in tubes is inoculated with vaccine and let stand. If any live virus remains, it will multiply here, hence can be detected.

This expert is examining tissue after contact with vaccine, to determine absence of live virus.

It's all over and it didn't hurt a bit. Sure vaccine makes this little girl safer now from paralytic polio. And her parents feel better too!

Potash, Borax Used On Mercer Alfalfa

The favorable growing season plus applications of fertilizers, especially potash and borax, are producing big crops of alfalfa hay in Mercer county, according to County Agent W. B. Howell. Many farmers top-dressed their fields after the first or second cutting, applying about 200 pounds an acre of 60 percent muriate of potash plus 15 to 20 pounds of borax.

H. L. Jackson studied the weather reports carefully and so was able to get 45 acres of alfalfa hay up without its being wet.

Howell says about one farmer in 10 sowed soybeans for an emergency hay crop, most of them sowing eight to 10 acres. Most farmers applied 150 to 200 pounds an acre of muriate of potash to their soybean land.

August Opening Set For Park Lodge Bids

Bids for excavation and foundation work for a new 50-room lodge at General Butler State Park near Carrollton, will be opened August 4, Conservation Commissioner Henry Ward, announced today. Advertisement for bids were sent out this week.

The new lodge, which will be situated on a bluff overlooking the lake and the Ohio River, Ward said, will have a downstairs meeting room, dining room, kitchen, lounge and lobby.

The park has 18 cottages, the lodge, the new swimming building, which was opened last Sunday. The lake affords swimming and other water sports. A bathhouse and beach are available.

Feeding Grain Speeds Finishing Of Calves

When beef cattle are raised under intensive farming conditions and pasture is other than the product of feeding a grain mixture to calves while they are still grazing with their dams on pasture in morning with cow-bright flavor.

R. A. Parsons, University of Kentucky beef cattle specialist, says the finishing of calves by this system means a quick turnover, and can be recommended where grade herds are maintained for beef production in Kentucky.

If spring calves are fed a supplement of grain on grass while they are nursing their dams, they can be marketed in the fall when weaned at an average weight of about 400 pounds, according to Parsons. Beef calves 6 to 8 months of good quality and fresh are usually in good demand and prices are high. Calves that a grain supplement allowed to run with their dams and have access to water, will finish in the Kentucky corn belt.

Calves that a grain supplement is allowed to run with their dams and have access to water, will finish in the Kentucky corn belt.

Russell Berries Pay Off

Farmers in Russell county sold through the Cumberland Strawberry Growers Association 9,000 crates of berries for an average of $7.30, or a total of $37,162. In addition, Frank Brown, Jr., assistant county agent, reports, they sold 5,500 to 9,000 crates to processors, to tourists or to local stores on individuals. J. T. Wade Fentthill, produced 341 crates on an acre. Wilden Revnor, 1,000 crates on 35 of an acre and G. V. Hale, 90 crates on 18 of an acre.

4-H'ers Make Wise Use Of Berry Money

What some Whitley county 4-H girls did with their berry money is reported by Walton Brown, county agent, Mrs. Lucie Perry Gray, picked 4 crates from a church on acre. He is using the money to help pay for the installation of running water in his home.

Verlia Moore, Bird Creek, bought a television set with the proceeds from 83 crates of berries.

Curtis Rains, Cotton Creek, let his parents have his strawberry money to help build a well at their new house.

Whitley 4-H boys and girls sold $5,053 worth of strawberries.

A Correction

By Mrs. W. M. Kendall

I wish to correct the statement made last week of the annual meeting of Montgomery county homemakers that it was the ninth rather than the eighth Annual Meeting held at the Montgomery County High school auditorium. Mrs. William Garrett as County president had five members with perfect attendance since 1946, and when the first clubs were organized, and thirty-three had a perfect attendance for the last year. With six of Kentucky's College of Agriculture and Home Economics Following are some of his comments:

"Short rains are more active and can stand hot weather better. The Finchley of some rain produce of leaving most of the wool on rains so they will present a cleaner and thicker appearance.

"Rains of improved mutton breeds do not stand hot weather as well as Delaney and to leave a heavy coat of wood on them during the hot summer months is objected. This practice may be changed.

Rams Need Shearing In Breeding Season

Rams should be sheared before the breeding season, says Rich and C. Miller in Circular 526, "Breeding the Farm Flock of Sheep," published by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Americans Not Best-Fed People

Americans are not the best-fed people in the world, Dr. A. D. Weber, noted Kansas stockman, said at the annual Livestock Field Day at the University of Kentucky at Lexington. The people of Denmark, Sweden, Ireland, Switzerland, Australia and New Zealand get more calories, and people in 12 countries get more protein, he claimed.

If American teenagers get the meat they should get they would eat a billion pounds a year more than they now consume. Youngsters could readily eat 40 percent more meat than their parents are getting, it was stated at the meeting.

"Meat is the basis of a well-balanced diet from before birth throughout life," Dr. Weber said.
