A Window To The World

(First in a series of guest editorials presented by the Rotary Club of Carlisle in commemoration of the Golden Anniversary of Rotary).

Are you aware that a group of twenty of your neighbors here in Carlisle have established contacts with like-minded people in some twenty other countries of the world? Yes—the unique opportunity for international understanding does exist here in the form of our local Rotary club. To take advantage of this opportunity—to open the window to the world—connection by the international service committee of the Rotary Club of Carlisle will appear in this space during ensuing weeks.

The occasion is the Golden Anniversary of Rotary. Just fifty years ago today, four men met in a Chicago office. They came together at the suggestion of Paul Harris, a young lawyer, who felt that men of different trades and professions should become acquainted. At first, the new club met in rotation at the stores and offices of members. This practice, soon abandoned in favor of regular meetings at the same hotel or restaurant, explains the name—"Rotary."

Very quickly, Rotary became international. With less than two score clubs in existence, one was formed in Winnipeg, Canada. The very next year saw the establishment of clubs in Dublin and Belfast, Ireland, and in London, England. Thereafter, Rotary spread rapidly over the globe, through the Old World to the Far East, from the tip of Latin America to the North Cape and to Australia.

The international pattern of Rotary's expansion throws light on its character. Rotary is not exclusive. It has no secrets, no mysterious rites to arouse suspicion. Men of all nationalities, religions and cultures are invited to join.

In consequence, Rotary clubs flourish in countries where bitter feelings of racial or political antagonism have existed. Neighbors, whose differences had maintained a wall of silent hate between them, find themselves enjoying a cheerful fellowship together at the weekly meetings of Rotary Clubs. And the fruits of their acquaintance are seen apparent in the community at large as understanding improves and mutual cooperation developes.

Such experiences were the background for a conviction that grew with the spread of Rotary across the world. If association in Rotary could cure these consequences in local communities, why cannot a similar contribution be made in the world—communities that is the world? The answer to this question came at the first of the annual Rotary international conventions to be held outside the U.S.A., at Edinburgh in 1921. Rotarians from twenty-five countries, gathered in the Scottish capital, declared their determination "To encourage and foster the advancement of international understanding, good will and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service."

As members of that world fellowship, Rotarians in Carlisle support this declaration which has become part of the Object of Rotary. We are most grateful for the opportunity accorded by this newspaper during the period of our Golden Anniversary to suggest some of the ways in which international understanding and good will can be fostered and the prospects for peace between nations advanced.

Landscape Leader Donates Boxwoods

Bill Hensley, sheriff of Harlan county received a gift of three boxwoods that he set in the lawn of his new farm home in the Evarts community. They were grown over a period of several years by his mother, Sarah Crider, of Stanfill, Mrs. Rosie Perkins, home agent with the University of Kentucky, notes that Mrs. Crider has served as landscape leader of the county homemakers association for 10 of the past 20 years.

The Bottletown Homemakers Club in Meade county has obtained a vacant school building to use in a club house.

Chamber Of Commerce Receives Thanks

To The Chamber Of Commerce Carlisle, Kentucky

May I take this opportunity to thank the good people of Carlisle for the generous help and loving understanding which was offered to my family, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ewen and their sons, Douglas and Scott, during the time of the accident and the two weeks of confinement of the children at the hospital.

May I comment most favorably on the loving care that was given to Douglas by the doctors and the nurses at Nicholas County hospital. Also may I express my gratitude for the kindness extended to me and my family during our stay with Douglas at the hospital. We were extended every consideration and courtesy by the hospital staff.

To the many fine people who offered their homes and services I am deeply indebted. Also for the generous display of toys, cards and gifts that the children received I give my thanks. I offer my appreciation to the gentlemen who donated blood for Douglas to rebuild a marrow that was needed. For all of these many, many expressions of friendship, I submit my sincere thanks to the community of Carlisle.

To Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Plunkett, with whom we stayed, I have only the highest regard. Their help, loving care and consideration which they offered us.

You may be interested to know that Douglas has made rapid progress and is now quite a normal little boy again in his activities.

Thank you again for every evidence of sympathy and love generously given to us.

Sincerely,
Scott R. Alvis
(Mother of Mrs. D. H. Ewen)

150 Participate In Founders Day

Nearly 150 musicians and other performers will take part in the University of Kentucky's annual Founders Day program, to be held Thursday night, Feb. 24, (tonight) on the UK campus. The affair was staged in observance of the school's 90th birthday.

Illinois Ensemble Plays On UK Campus

One of the nation's most unusual musical organizations performed this week at the University of Kentucky. This was an ensemble from the University of Illinois, made up of 16 percussion musicians. All members of the group played a type of drum or a related instrument.

Tid Bits Of Kentucky Folklore

Kentuckian Present:

The other day we reported that our old Kentucky Home had been invited to the president's stag dinner at the White House.

However, Kentucky women fare better when it comes to dining with the chief executive. President Eisenhower staged a breakfast for a group of Republican women at one of the exclusive clubs around town and Mrs. Pearl Carter Place of Burkesville was there. She is a member of the Foreign Claims Commission and a GOP leader in her Blue Grass State.

More Women:

It's the general opinion that Kentuckians know how to handle women, and members of Congress seemed to have accepted that belief.

At arts rate, when it came time to name the congressional committees, three women were assigned to the House Committee on Banking and Currency. And the chairman of that committee is none other than Brent Spence, the dean of the Kentucky delegation.

Party For Judges:

The Kentucky Society of Washington is getting ready to honor these Kentuckians who are federal judges. The turnout should be impressive.

Topping the list will be Supreme Court Justice Stanley Reed, of Maysville. Judge J. Gregory Bruce of the Tax Court is another one. He hails from Mayfield. Coming down Kenneth Tuggle of the Interstate Commerce Commission holds a quasi-judicial position. And Basil Cooper, whose home is over in the western part of the state, is an examiner for the Federal Communications Commission, another position close to judgeship.

Military Ball:

Another Kentucky party have this year will pay tribute to those Kentuckians in uniform. Topping that list of guests will be General Elbert DeCoursey of Ludlow who heads all military pathology; Colonel Bruce Morford of Central Kentucky also will be in the receiving line.

The Kentucky organization this year has a star-studded members ship what with dignatarys like Senator Earle C. Clements, A. M. "M-n" Clark, Edward F. Walton, Ralph Homan of Louisville, Leland Howard, assistant director of the mint, of Hodgenville. Miss Christine Gaspar of Richmond and Judge Neville Miller, Mrs. Paul Porter, of Winchester, Robert Salyers of Louisville and Mrs. Sooth Trimble, Jr. of Frankfort are in charge.

Fidelity, very much like your little village or your larger one, often paid too much attention to flashy characters that dominated their little firmament. It would have been downright heresy to question the greatness of some of our great men. Yet, we have had some in a few others whose word mattered—believed—because people at the rest of us had to accept this pre-judgment. Now, after a hard century and more, some of the lesser ones stand out above the dead level of the great ones. Humble, but genuine, men and women, who lived over the back of somebody's field somehow assume in my life today strange positions of prominence. Had we recognized these greatness, they were a long time coming into their own, but they were a vital part of our lives long before we would admit it.

Hospitals Visited By Homemakers

How homemakers club members carry out their statewide plan of helping those less fortunate is shown in one month's work of some of the Jefferson county clubs. One group went clothing to a mountain school, four visited patients in hospitals, one served pie and cake to 55 patients in the tuberculosis hospital, and another club took "sunshine bags" so General Hospital for distribution. Club members are continuing to visit Lakeland and the Veterans' Hospital, said Mrs. Ruth Harralson, UK home demonstration agent.

I Wayne Green, eminent Trichologist demonstrates causes of baldness and how it can be prevented

How To Have Hair For A Lifetime To Be Demonstrated Here By Famous Trichologist

Offers Written Guarantee

An exclusive interview by Steven Bright

WICHITA (Special) I Wayne Green, Director of Rogers Inc. Hair and Scalp Specialists, exploded the myth of baldness being an exclusive inheritance.

Baldness is unnecessary, costly and a plague to millions, he said. Green "No man need be bald. No man need suffer the stigma of premature old age that is forced upon him because he is losing his hair. Rogers method of hair and scalp treatment can prevent baldness and can produce healthy hair. Baldness is not a disease. It is not a germ. It is not a virus. It is not contagious. It is not a fungus. It is not a parasite. It is not a bacteria. It is not a virus
