Soil Conservation Chairman Seeking Farmers To Attend Ohio Demonstration

Charles T. Whaley, chairman of the Nicholas County Soil Conservation District, expects this county to be well represented on Kentucky Day," July 7 at the U. S. Department of Agriculture Hydrologic Research Station, Coshocton, Ohio. Kentucky Day is sponsored by the Kentucky Association of Soil Conservation Districts and the Kentucky Bankers Association.

Coshocton is approximately 185 miles Northeast of Maysville. The station land is steep and the soil is shallow. It consists of approximately 1,047 acres of which about one half of it is in cropland, one fourth in woodland and one fourth is in permanent pasture. Soil and water problems there are very similar to those in Kentucky, especially Nicholas County.

Among the many noteworthy points of interest are hysometers for studies of water, soils and crops; measuring devices for rainfall, runoff and erosion on entire watersheds; soil moisture and soil temperature gages; Mulchers Rose fences, contour fence experiments; pasture seedings of different grasses and legumes; contour strip cropping; crop mulching plots, reforestation projects and many other attractions. Much of the research is done on the basis

Council Accepts Pumping Station Bid Of $21,728

McGraw Engineering Company, Lexington, submitted a low bid of $21,728 Tuesday night for the construction of a raw water pumping station on Licking River. This bid was $2,663 below any other bid opened by the city council.

Council on the recommendation of Grant Bell, Lexington, accepted unanimously the McGraw bid. Construction of the station must be completed 120 days from the signing of the contract.

Ask For Help

Ten Sycamore street property owners with Raymond J. Wesley acting as spokesman, appeared before council to request aid in installing a sewage disposal line from Second street to Main. The line would parallel the present sewer.

Following discussion of the matter, council decided of the suggestion of Councilman H. C. Gilbreath to seek the advice of Grant Bell before committing the city to action. Mayor Bill Power assured property owners present that they would be notified when sufficient information has been gathered.

Need Dam

Councilman Gilbreath was instructed to investigate the cost and determine if it is practical to erect a small dam on the town branch in order to lessen odors in the weather. Mayor Power who suggested the dam stated that several citizens had complained of offensive odors from the branch during dry weather.

Other Matters

Ordered re-published was an ordinance pertaining to outside toilets, cesspools and etc. The ordinance will be found on page eight.

Councilman Charles Shroat was instructed to contact the Nicholas County fiscal court regarding the joint purchase of an insect sprayer outfit.

The annual donation to the commander of the Nicholas Memorial Library was made in the amount of $150.

Street Superintendent Brooks Hensley was instructed to repair or renew drainage tile on Dewey Avenue in front of Ben Prather's to eliminate large puddle.

Curbs at all corners are to be painted with yellow paint for a distance of ten feet in each direction, as a safety measure.

Two Homemakers Attend State Meet

Eva Lee Lynam and Lillian Riggs represented the Nicholas County Chapter of Future Homemakers of America at the annual meeting which was held at Morehead State College June 7-9.

One of the highlights of the meeting was a pageant in honor of the tenth anniversary of the Future Homemakers of America. Eva Lee Lynam, who took part in the pageant, represented the Headquarters Chapter since it was a charter chapter.

The girls were accompanied by Miss Jewell Deene Ellis, local adviser.

Annual Hospital Benefit June 17 At Forest Retreat; Funds Are Sought

Persons having chickens to contribute to the Second Annual Nicholas County Hospital benefit dinner, scheduled Friday, June 17 between 6-9 p.m. (C.D.T. at Forest Retreat should leave them at the Locker Plant not later than Saturday, June 11, the Rev. J. J. Whitehouse, general chairman of the benefit said this week.

Chickens, being donated by homemakers clubs throughout the county, should be dressed but not cut up, Whitehouse said. Reminders have been mailed to each club's president this week.

All Food Contributed

All food for the outing, to be held on the terrace of the former home of Gov. Thomas Metcalf, is being contributed. The menu includes 20 pounds of fish in addition to the chicken, bunts, pickles and olives, 14 giant-size bowls of potato salad and dozens of dressed eggs. Homemade puddings will top off the meal, Whitehouse said he had been told by members of the menu-planning committee.

Letters of invitation have been mailed to out-of-town persons, patients at the hospital at some time or other since its opening in September, 1951. "We want everybody to know the dinner is a means to an end—we want them to contribute to the support of our fine institution—locally by attending and enjoying a fine meal, or, if that is impossible, by mailing a donation," Whitehouse said.

Fracture Table Needed

Money raised this year will be used towards the purchase of a much needed fracture table, as pointed out in Dr. J. T. Morford's article elsewhere in this issue. Last year some $1,100 necessary to buy aluminum awnings, was raised at the initial benefit dinner, also held at the country home of Dr. and Mrs. Edie Asbury.

Awnings Purchased With Funds From Benefit Dinner Last Year

State FHA Meet At Morehead

More than 550 high school students and teachers of home economics will attend the tenth annual State meeting of the Kentucky Association of Future Homemakers of America according to Jean Ann Moubrey, Murray, State FHA Reporter, and Mary Bell Vaughan, State FHA* Advisor. Margaret Barnes, Scottsville, State FHA President, will preside at the opening session of the three-day meeting which will be held at Morehead State College, June 7-9, with the chapters of the Ashland District serving as hostesses.

The program planning committee has selected as the theme for the meeting "FHA Decade of Progress—Points Toward New Horizons." The program is being planned to include a look at the progress of FHA during the past ten years and ways of developing further during the years ahead. Seven of the nine past state presidents will be attending the meeting and will participate in the program.

The highlight of the three-day meeting will be a pageant depicting the ten-year history of FHA in Kentucky. Between 275 and 300 FHA members, advisers and other adults will help portray the FHA decade of progress in this pageant which will follow the banquet on Wednesday evening.

During the meeting, time will

Louis T. Brown, son of Mrs. T. H. Brown, left last week for Europe for a three-year term with the U. S. Air Force, after a 30-day leave here.

To Get Discharge

A 1/c Robert Wood Pitman and Mrs. Pitman, who have spent the past 19 months in service in England, arrived Monday in New York, according to a message to his father, J. M. Pitman and Mrs. Pitman. They arrived in Carlisle Wednesday night. Robert is scheduled to go to Wright-Patterson Field, Dayton, Ohio, Friday to receive his discharge from service.

Honored By UK Men's Senior Fraternity

Everett Earl Plunsiel, who has not finished his junior year at the University of Kentucky was honored by election to Lamp and Cross, men's senior honor fraternity.

The purpose of Lamp and Cross is to recognize senior men who have displayed outstanding leadership throughout their college years.

He has served in various offices in YMCA, Alpha Phi Omega, Disciple Student Fellowship, Delta Tau Delta, was chairman of the 1954 Christmas parties for under privileged children, chairman A-Bomb Relief Fund, Funders Day program, and for two years has served as the Freshman Student Orientation Program.

He is a Math major in the College of Education.

Accepts Position At Lerman Store

M. H. Ruddell, recently returned from service in Japan, has accepted a position as floor salesman at Lerman Bros. department store and entered upon his duties Monday, according to an announcement this week by store manager Ed Indsko.

Indsko also announced that the store would begin a "bike contest" which was never started in the low hospital hill. Now a patient goes to the hospital to live. He stays about one week and is worthing again, often a few days after his discharge from the hospital. He has a hospital bill in proportion to service rendered, but he also has his health and is able to continue his everyday work with little loss of income.

An appreciable part of every hospital's service is donated "charity," for those unfortunate enough not to be able to pay more than the same care and treatment as those who can, or we have failed in our duty as a hospital. Without endowment, there is no provision or reimbursement to the hospital for these services. For example, during 1954 approximately one sixteenth of the total charges, $45500.00, was not collected and is uncollectable. This was our burden of charity patients, and represents a 250% increase in charity work over previous years. This deficit can only be paid by contributions.

A hospital is an institution which is always in the red, yet it is expected to meet it's commitments at the first of the month as is every other business. Without charity work, this might be done, but even then the absence of profits makes the purchase of new equipment, or of repairs, and depreciation difficult. During 1954 the average cost to the hospital per patient per day was approximately $15.50, but during that time, the average charge per patient day was $14.35. A loss per patient of $1.15 each day or about $14.00 each day. This loss can only be covered by a decrease in charity work or in increased contributions, and our charity work increased $4500.00 last year.

Aside from financial difficulties, we are faced with many other problems, one of which and the announced purpose of this dinner is the purchase of much needed equipment and repair of the physical plant. Only through contributions is this possible, since an institution operating at a deficit and without endowment cannot incur extra indebtedness.

Of the equipment most pressing need is for a fracture table and repair of the physical plant. Everyone who has visited the hospital recently has seen the cracked walls, falling ceiling blocks, and need of paint. These things are self evident and need no explanation. However, the value of a fracture table is recognized by only a few. It is, as the name implies, a special table, the aid of which facilitates the reduction and treatment of fractured bones. Especially in fracture of hips, femurs, and spines is this table of the greatest importance, and we in Nicholas County have had more than our share of these serious injuries. Not only in traumatic surgery, is this table important, but also in corrective surgery of the skeletal system. In order to continue to properly treat orthopedic patients and to give them every possible advantage of modern medical, this table must be the next piece of major equipment which should be purchased. It's value will not be as readily recognized as the awnings which were purchased last year and which have been deeply appreciated by all patients whose rooms were so much cooler since these awnings were installed, but it's value will be shown in the treatment of our orthopedic patients.

Again this year we are afforded the unique address given a community—that of honoring Dr. T. P. Scott who is completing his fiftieth year of medical practice. This is an honor seldom given a community or a man. Dr. Scott has formed many valuable friendships and has done immeasurable service for the people of Carlisle and Nicholas Co. Lets all shake his hand and give him our thanks for service so unselfishly given.

Dr. T. P. Scott To Be Honored; Fracture Table Uses Explained

By Dr. J. T. Morford

We all know that the cost of hospitalization has doubled and tripled in recent years. Gone are the days when two or three dollars a day will pay for hospitalization; but we know, too that the cost of a car has risen from $600.00-$850.000 to $2500.00-$4000.00. In reality, the cost of hospitalization has not risen as rapidly as the expenses of the hospital.

A hospital, by definition, is an institution dedicated to the care of the sick and wounded. This could be amended to the best possible care of the sick and wounded, and in order to preform this care we must take advantage of all possible means to properly preform this service. This means new and modern equipment, much of which must be replaced every few years. It also means the use of costly new anesthetics and the hiring of highly trained personnel with the knowledge of the proper use and administration of such drugs and equipment. This, with the rise in cost of everyday living, has greatly increased hospital expenses.

However, this picture is not as black as it first seems. Many years ago, a patient went to the hospital to die. Not so many years ago, he spent weeks in bed, then possibly months convalescing, with resultant loss of income which was never caught in the low hospital hill. Now a patient goes to the hospital to live. He stays about one week and is working again, often a few days after his discharge from the hospital. He has a hospital bill in proportion to service rendered, but he also has his health and is able to continue his everyday work with little loss of income.

An appreciable part of every hospital's service is donated "charity," for those unfortunate enough not to be able to pay more than the same care and treatment as those who can, or we have failed in our duty as a hospital. Without endowment, there is no provision or reimbursement to the hospital for these services. For example, during 1954 approximately one sixteenth of the total charges, $45500.00, was not collected and is uncollectable. This was our burden of charity patients, and represents a 250% increase in charity work over previous years. This deficit can only be paid by contributions.

A hospital is an institution which is always in the red, yet it is expected to meet it's commitments at the first of the month as is every other business. Without charity work, this might be done, but even then the absence of profits makes the purchase of new equipment, or of repairs, and depreciation difficult. During 1954 the average cost to the hospital per patient per day was approximately $15.50, but during that time, the average charge per patient day was $14.35. A loss per patient of $1.15 each day or about $14.00 each day. This loss can only be covered by a decrease in charity work or in increased contributions, and our charity work increased $4500.00 last year.

Aside from financial difficulties, we are faced with many other problems, one of which and the announced purpose of this dinner is the purchase of much needed equipment and repair of the physical plant. Only through contributions is this possible, since an institution operating at a deficit and without endowment cannot incur extra indebtedness.

Of the equipment most pressing need is for a fracture table and repair of the physical plant. Everyone who has visited the hospital recently has seen the cracked walls, falling ceiling blocks, and need of paint. These things are self evident and need no explanation. However, the value of a fracture table is recognized by only a few. It is, as the name implies, a special table, the aid of which facilitates the reduction and treatment of fractured bones. Especially in fracture of hips, femurs, and spines is this table of the greatest importance, and we in Nicholas County have had more than our share of these serious injuries. Not only in traumatic surgery, is this table important, but also in corrective surgery of the skeletal system. In order to continue to properly treat orthopedic patients and to give them every possible advantage of modern medical, this table must be the next piece of major equipment which should be purchased. It's value will not be as readily recognized as the awnings which were purchased last year and which have been deeply appreciated by all patients whose rooms were so much cooler since these awnings were installed, but it's value will be shown in the treatment of our orthopedic patients.

Again this year we are afforded the unique address given a community—that of honoring Dr. T. P. Scott who is completing his fiftieth year of medical practice. This is an honor seldom given a community or a man. Dr. Scott has formed many valuable friendships and has done immeasurable service for the people of Carlisle and Nicholas Co. Lets all shake his hand and give him our thanks for service so unselfishly given.
