Deserves Support

Nicholas Countains now have an opportunity to vote for a local man in the State Representative race at the forthcoming Democratic Primary August 6.

Joe Frank Conley, a native of Nicholas County, graduate of Carlisle High School and the University of Kentucky, filed officially last Thursday for the Democratic nomination for State Representative from the 67th District. This district is composed of Nicholas and Bourbon Counties.

With the exception of Joe Snapp's election to the office in 1949, Nicholas County has been unable to send a native son to the Legislature since it was re-districted and placed with Bourbon County.

To us Joe Frank deserves our support and yours.

The United States Poll

Ike's Popularity Continues At High Level—70% Approve

BY KENNETH FINK, DIRECTOR,

Princeton Research Service

Princeton, New Jersey—President Eisenhower continues to earn a vote of confidence from a solid majority of the nation's voters. His popularity index, as recorded in United States Polls, continues high. It is higher today than it has been at any time since March, 1954—15 months ago.

The lastest survey finds that 70 per cent approve of the way Mr. Eisenhower is handling his duties as the nation's chief executive.

Today's figure is just 4 points short of his all-time high of 74 per cent in April, 1953.

In conducting today's Poll on Mr. Eisenhower's popularity, a continuing feature of the United States Poll, staff reporters put this question to a cross-section of voters across the nation:

"Do you approve or disapprove of the way Eisenhower is handling his job as President?"

The nationwide results:

EISENHOWER POPULARITY BAROMETER

Approve	70%
Disapprove	23
No opinion	7

Ten weeks ago, the favorable vote was 69 per cent; the unfavorable vote, 21 per cent, while 10 per cent expressed no opinion.

Today's survey was conducted using methods which proved accurate within less than three-fourths of one per cent in predicting the outcome of last November's nationwide Congressional elections.

Survey findings show that an overwhelming majority of the nation's GOP voters—9 out of every 10—approve of the way the President is handling his job.

At the same time, 71 per cent of all independent voters questioned give the President a definite nod of approval.

Noteworthy, too, is that majority opinion among rank and file Democrats (55%) expresses approval.

The vote by political party affiliation:

	Rep.	Dem.	Ind.
Approve	90%	55%	71%
Disapprove	5	37	19
No opinion	5	8	10

During his nearly two and a half years in office, President Eisenhower's standing with voters has been marked by the absence of any wide fluctuations in his popularity.

The range of popular approval has been between the all-time high of 74 per cent and a low of 59 percent—a spread of only 15 points.

Here is the trend since March, 1953:

	Approve	Disapprove	No opinion
March, 1953	65%	6	29
April, 1953	74%	9	17
July, 1953	71%	18	11
October, 1953	73%	21	6
November, 1953	64%	28	8
January, 1954	69%	24	7
March, 1954	72%	22	6
June, 1954	66%	27	7
October, 1954	67%	26	7
December, 1954	59%	28	13
February, 1955	66%	24	10
April, 1955	69%	21	10
TODAY	70%	23	7

Carlisle is among ten Kentucky post offices to be changed from third to second class on July 1.

Prof. E. E. Plunkett was elected commander of Nicholas Post No. 17, American Legion, at the annual election of officers held last Friday night. Mr. Plunkett succeeds Frank C. Henry, who was post commander the past year.

S. Fisher Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Gaffin, of near Headquarters, was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree from New York University at the 103rd commencement exercises of the university held Wednesday.

Marie Shrout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rastus Shrout, suffered painful injuries last Thursday when she was attacked by a German police dog at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Clinkenbeard, in Liberty Heights. The child was bitten and scratched about the neck and back.

The local relief office has received notice that Nicholas county has been assigned a quota of 12 youths, with three alternates, for the next C. C. C. enrollment. All enrollments for the next camps come from families on relief rolls the order stated.

Letters to the Editor

The City Council
Carlisle, Ky.

It would be possible to construct a sewer system without using a bond issue and increasing taxes.

For instance, as a starter, the city could sell REVENUE BONDS for financing construction of a sewer main along Branch Street, from Second Street to West North Street, thence under Main St., and into Brushy Fork Creek.

Bonds would be sold locally without the usual 8% or more, for a fiscal fee.

Engineering to be done by city employees, with a day or two of help from a local surveyor to stake out the [illegible] and run the level; saving about 10% on the [illegible]. All work to be done under supervision of city employees and by local labor, with a saving up to 40%.

All users to construct individual or group drainage lines and tap them into the main sewer line at connections provided by the city when main line is laid.

A signed contract to be secured with each user to pay a fixed percentage, annually as "Sewer Rental" until bonds are paid off, same to be based on the assessed valuation of their property in the district served and collected along with City Taxes.

When new buildings are constructed in the drainage district require a like contract before a building permit is issued.

The drainage district now served by Walnut Street Sewer to be assessed for "Sewer Rental" as above to compensate for their sewer which has been paid for by all the citizens in the City, in the past 25 per $100 taxes which have been collected for many years.

Bonds to mature annually for 15 years after issue, beginning 2 years after issued. All bonds to be callable after 2 years, which will provide for earlier retirement; if expected new buildings are erected in the district.

Three additional drainage districts could be set up and provide adequate sewer service for the entire city.

WASHINGTON—Hardly a week passes without new evidence coming to light at the Capitol of an ever-increasing participation by Big Union Bosses in politics. This is in line with a recent promise to a CIO convention by the President of the AFL, Mr. George Meany, that the merger of the two unions would be used politically.

The latest instance was an insertion in the Congressional Record by Senator Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) of a letter sent out by the California Industrial Union Council, a CIO affiliate. The letter in part reads:

"Dear Friend: We are inviting you, as a member of the articulate liberal community in your area, to take advantage of our Legislative Secretarial Service. This is how it works:

"You fill out the enclosed authorization card and drop it in the mail. From time to time, during legislative sessions, you will receive from our office an individually typed letter to your Congressman, Senators (United States or State), or Assemblyman. Your return address will be on the letter; all you need to do is sign it and place it in the envelope which will be enclosed. The envelope will be already addressed and prepaid, ready for you to mail. You will also receive a carbon copy of the letter to keep.

"This secretarial service will mean those letters on important issues to your legislators. It can be your way of letting your legislators know what you want done, as individual, are keeping abreast of the most important issues arising in Congress and in Sacramento. The only way your legislators will know how you, the voter, feel about a proposed law is through your telling him."

The postal card authorizing such action has this statement:

"I hereby authorize the CIO State Council to act as my legislative secretary on any state and national legislation endorsed or opposed by CIO. I understand I will receive an original and carbon copy of any correspondence typed for me by the council. I will mail my original copy to my legislator."

Another instance of labor activity in the political field occurred recently in Tucson, Arizona. While it attracted little national attention, it is worth noting as an attack at an AFL meeting on what Senator Goldwater, who described it to the Senate in part in these words:

"The convention of the Arizona Federation of Labor heard Mrs. Margaret Thornburg, of Washington, D. C., a director of the Women's Division of the Labor League on Political Education, hailed me as 'one of the most hated men in the United States;' and I understand that the convention itself is reported to have adopted a resolution calling for the end of my political career.

"What transpired in Tucson should be of great concern to all Americans. There, a representative of the bosses from Washington used the word 'hate.' Hatred is the weapon of revolutionists, and I don't believe that she spoke for the majority of people of Arizona or the United States.

"The meeting was interesting, too, because the political implications of what transpired in Tucson are pretty self-evident. It was just another clear indication that the professional labor bosses have taken over the Democratic Party and are calling all the plays.

"My sole objective in the field of labor legislation has been to preserve the freedom of the individual working man and woman and to protect them against abuse and coercion by either management or labor. To that end I favor and have favored what is commonly called 'right-to-work' legislation.

"'Right-to-work' legislation is simply a prohibition against compulsory unionism. It prohibits employers and unions from entering into contracts which make union membership a condition of employment. It places the right to earn a living above any obligation to pay tribute, compulsory or otherwise, to professional labor bosses. The professional labor boss 'hate' me for trying to deny him that compulsory tribute."

"AWARDS DAY"

I have just come from our college's AWARDS DAY, when all sorts of recognition are given for what our students have accomplished. It used to be overwhelmingly athletic in nature, but now it is pretty well balanced. There are awards for debating, oratory, reading, engrossing, lettering, music, and so on and on. And the whole program made the cons of you who were there very proud of students, who can still be induced to enter contests to try their skill or their native ability. As the various ones went up to be recognized, I began a long trip back to my earlier days, when there were other awards given out, probably not so expensive or so impressive as those today, but certainly very highly prized.

One of the great award days came at the end of the school year. There were not often tangible things like cups or letters or any such, but one's name was read off for having the most black marks in spelling, let us say. Now spelling was and is a very important part of an education. Maybe we should reintroduce awards for spelling; a good many of my present students would have difficulty in getting into the semi-finals. There were headmarks, in olden days, for all sorts of things: physiology, geography, history, etc., etc. Just about everything in our old country school had competitive sides to it. "What is ocean out of North America, Johnny?" "Don't know." "Next." "Atlantic." And you turned down poor ignorant little Johnny. By degrees you worked your way up to the head. If you were there at the close of the lesson, you got a head mark and proceeded to the foot of the class the next day, hoping to work back into the favorable position and its reward. There were rewards of some sort for perfect attendance and for just about as many things as there are now in my own college. We just called them by different names, but the meanings were pretty similar.

Sunday School had its awards, too. There were the cards that we got, tiny little fellows, for knowing a Scripture verse, the very kind, apparently, that Tom Sawyer got by trading rather than by earning. Do many little cards entitled you to a bigger card, and so on until you got a really beautiful card picture, which you could keep for your very own. Somewhere in my possessions right now is a little Bible that I earned at Sulphur Springs Church back now in my maybe a little before. It was given to me for knowing the memory verse for each Sunday for a whole year and for perfect attendance. I took that little Bible around with me for years before I felt able to buy a large one. It was the Bible from which I read the morning Scripture lesson when I taught my rural and village schools. Frankly, I felt much bigger when I received that little Bible than I felt when I was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, with its age-long honors to those who have shown themselves scholarly.

Sometimes these old contests brought some tangible decorative things. For some school honor my older sister received two vases, which set all my remembrancing childhood on the mantelpiece in our Trent room. I have forgotten whether she spelled or recited poetry or solved arithmetic problems to win that. But those were some of the achievements that brought awards and rewards. I think I felt a sort of reverence for those quaint vases, since they showed that my big sister was "smart." You see, the old-fashioned country school emphasized "smartness," a characteristic that is sometimes wholly forgotten in our more sophisticated days. Maybe the awards given out today will be indicative of a coming time when it will again be a great thrill to be rewarded for knowing how to spell or to read or to cypher or to name the bones of the body or the states bordering on the Atlantic Ocean.

KENTUCKIANS

IN WASHINGTON

By Gil Kingsbury

Small Towns:

Broadcasting people from all over the country gathered here in Washington recently to talk over problems and Mark Ethridge, the newspaper and broadcasting man from Louisville, made the principal speech in which he paid tribute to small towns.

Big town radio station operators, Mr. Ethridge said, are having their troubles but the small town owner and operator is getting along just fine. Small town operators, he explained, live closer to their people and know their problems better.

Taxes And Taxes:

Kentuckians are talking a lot about taxes these days so it might help them to know that Washington is talking about the same problems, money and where to get it. It seems the city fathers here in the capital are going to increase income taxes and put a new tax on meals, real estate, beer and wine.

On top of all that, Washington also wants Uncle Sam to kick in about two million dollars more to help pay the bills.

This item might give comfort to those Kentuckians who believe our state is the only one pressured by money matters.

Getting Late:

Kentuckians have their mind on the gubernatorial race this year but politicians here in the capital are getting steamed up already about next year's presidential race.

In fact, this Kentuckian is a member of a radio and television committee planning coverage of the two national conventions. We are leaving for both Chicago and San Francisco to look over the situation in those convention towns. Plans must be made a year in advance and now is the time to see that all newsmen, broadcasting and newspaper, have enough space in which to operate.

Mailbag Matters:

To Bracken County winner: We predict no tax decrease this year. Next year looks better . . . To Pendleton County student: Thanks for your letter on our commencement talk at Morgan High School. Edmond Pendleton is an inspiration to all Kentuckians . . . Reply to Greenup County man: Hapes Chandler left the senate in October of 1945 . . . Memo to Lawrence County man: Judge Stanley Reed is the only Kentuckian on the Supreme Court. Judge Wilbur Mills, also of Kentucky, is a member of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, one of the highest federal courts in the country.

CHARM TIP of the WEEK!

by Charlotte Ferrell

"May I present . . ." is a more formal way of introducing and should be reserved for more formal occasions. "May I introduce . . ." is easy and acceptable, but even simpler and just as correct is the pronouncement of both names, such as, "Miss Smith, Mr. Brown". Teen-agers are young enough to abide by first name introductions, or first and last name introductions without "Miss" and "Mr."

You are invited to write directly to Carolina Leonetti,6207 Sunset Blvd., Hollywood 28, California. Please include self-addressed and stamped envelope for analysis and suggestions which will be sent by return mail.

Henryville News

By Mrs. Aurelia Hamilton

Those who attended the commencement exercises at Western High school Thursday night in Paris, were Mrs. Maggie Sharp, Mrs. Maggie Davis, Mrs. Leona Evans, Rev. H. H. Wright and Mrs. Clarene Livas.

Rev. and Mrs. B. M. Rankins, of Mt. Sterling, were in town Saturday for the day.

Mrs. Carrie Johnson — recently moved home from the Lexington hospital and Mrs. Jessie Owens at a Cincinnati hospital is reported doing very nicely.

Mrs. Carrie Ecton and son Harold Ecton were here Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Annie Vice and Mrs. Katie Davis were in Paris Saturday.

The Immanuel singers that had a date Sunday afternoon at the Christian church, failed to come, but a little short song service was carried out by the girls choir. We had a few remarks by Rev. Wright the new pastor of the C.M.E. church, who recently came here. A nice crowd was present, and seemed to enjoy themselves. Also Rev. H. T. Wilson offered remarks. Mr. Kenneth Hale, one of the young men of the town, took an active part in lifting the offering.

In all of our understanding in life of the Master's Will, one person won't, the other person will.

All day's District Meeting will held at the High School Christian church Saturday. The public is invited to attend. It is the regular District Institute.
