Iris Of The Year Named By Group

The Association of Iris Growers of America have selected five varieties of Iris as Iris of the Year, each one of which has won many awards and is outstanding in its color class.

Three of the Iris of the Year have won the Dykes Medal, which is awarded to only one Iris each year.

The five varieties are Blue Rhythm, a large silvery blue which multiplies rapidly and produces an abundance of bloom; Elmohr, a huge mulberry-red with the sheen of shimmering silk; New Snofla, mammoth blossoms as white as newly fallen snow; Ola Kala, a ruffled, intensely bright golden flower which is overlaid with bright orange; Pink Cameo, a new color in Iris—the most delicate pink cameo imaginable. They are all hardy and easy to grow.

Weights And Dates To Sell Livestock

The adult farmer's class of the Nicholas County high school will hold their weekly meeting on Thursday, May 12, at 8 p.m. C.S.T.

Topic for study will be: "Profitable Weights and Dates to Market Live Stock."

This is a most important lesson as all farmers depend largely upon the sale of the animals they produce for a high per cent of their income. This economic factor is quite variable and may decide whether or not our grains and forage sold through live stock show a profit or loss. Time and seasonable marketing are problems we must solve as well as feeds to use and the manner of use.

The lesson last week covered "Supplementary Crops for Forage and Hay" and featured such summer annual grasses and legumes as Sudan, Millets, Sorghums Soybeans, also Dwarf Essex rape and the drought resisting and grass-hopper proof Kochia, which is being used with success in recent years in the Dakotas and other states with arrial climates.

The course is being directed by A. J. Thaxton, instructor of the Veteran's Program in Agriculture.

Why Southern Bell Cannot Surrender To An Arbitrator Its Responsibility For A Vital Public Service

For weeks now officials of the CWA Union have been maneuvering to get the issues in the telephone strike turned over to an arbitrator for settlement.

There should be no misunderstanding about what this kind of settlement would mean.

It would mean that a third party would be called in to write a whole new union-management contract—A contract that involves every aspect of this business.

His decisions would be final and Southern Bell would be committed, in advance, to accept them, regardless of their effect on the cost and quality of telephone service—on job security and job opportunities of telephone employees.

We are not willing to subject this vital public service to so grave a risk.

In the telephone strike arbitration of the whole dispute, undoubtedly, would create more problems than it would solve.

PROPERLY APPLIED, ARBITRATION IS OFTEN A USEFUL TOOL

It has had an important place in our relations with the union for many years. In current bargaining, we have offered to expand its use as a means of settling differences that arise under the new contract once it is signed.

In fact, practically every provision of the new contract proposed by the company is subject to arbitration.

Let there be no misunderstanding then about Southern Bell's position on the principle of arbitration.

On the other hand, arbitration can be taken to extreme. When it is proposed, for instance, as a means for settling fundamental company policy matters—such as a whole new labor contract—it undermines the effective management of the business. It also invites serious risks that could do great harm to the financial integrity of the business.

The basic principle involved is that Southern Bell, which is charged with the sole responsibility for telephone communications in the area it serves, cannot surrender that responsibility to others.

Our obligation for service under the law cannot be delegated.

In the telephone strike arbitration would be just another form of compromise. The real issue at stake in the no-strike clause is assuring continuous service to the public, while the new contract is in effect. Certainly the public's right to continuous service should not be subject to compromise.

THREE QUARTERS OF CENTURY OF SERVICE TO THE SOUTH

Southern Bell has been privileged to serve the South for 75 years. It does not take lightly its responsibility for providing this necessary service.

The company pays good wages and is current bargaining proposal would make them better. The telephone pension and benefit plan long has been a model for other companies. It has been in effect since 1913.

Working conditions are second to none in all industry. We have offered many improvements in our labor contract and have accepted many union proposals.

Including all the changes we have proposed, the cost of providing telephone service would be increased by more than $7,000,000 a year under the new contract.

We are willing to guarantee these wages and working conditions. In return, all we ask of union leaders is that they accept their responsibility for agreeing to protect the public against quickie strikes for the life of the contract.

This they refuse to do on any reasonable basis. They say in effect, "We will take all you have offered and then we want an arbitrator to come in and decide how much more we can get." It is this attitude that is prolonging the strike.

Weekly Recipe

For a different taste thrill, try tasting broiled chicken with French dressing. The gravy, also, will have a delightful flavor, according to home economists at the University of Kentucky.

Broiled Chicken With French Dressing

French dressing: Mix 1 teaspoon of sugar, ½ teaspoon of salt and ¼ teaspoon of paprika. Add ½ teaspoon of minced onion, ½ cup of salad oil and ¼ cup of vinegar. Shake well until blended.

To broil chickens: Select chickens weighing about 1½ to 2 pounds. Set over regulator for broiling at moderate temperature. Dress chickens, then cut lengthwise through center breast and back. Wipe dry, baste with French dressing and sprinkle with salt.

Place pieces skin side down on the broiling pan so they are about 5 inches from the heat. Broil until brown, basting with French dressing if the pieces appear dry. When brown, turn skin side up, then baste and brown. Again turn skin side down and finish cooking until tender. Approximately 1 hour will be required for broiling.

Menu: Broiled chicken with French dressing, steamed rice, green beans, orange-grapefruit salad, biscuits, butter and rhubarb pie.

Ellisville Homemakers

By Mrs. Wm. Dollins

Our meeting this month was almost like a picnic. Altho we did have to work real hard to finish our planters, we had lots of fun.

We met at the Museum, with Mrs. Ovel Day as hostess. Our meeting was started an hour early, because of the work on copper planters, which took us all day.

Business was taken care of first. Roll call was answered with a nursery rhyme. We had fourteen members, two visitors, two children and Miss Emma Barnes. We also had one new member. We were very happy to have Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Herlin with us again.

We were all a little sad to learn that Miss Barnes is leaving us. We've enjoyed her so much, and she has certainly been a wonderful teacher. We wish her lots of happiness in the future.

Mrs. Ovel Day and Mrs. Pearl Shepherd gave the lesson on copper planters, and thirteen were finished. We were real proud of them and several more were ordered for the next meeting, which will be at the Museum again, with Mrs. Sue Wagoner and Mrs. Betty Moss as hostesses.

Hottest news in Hardtops is the 4-Door Riviera

Why take anything less than the sensation of the year?

WHEN you learn what's been done in the automobile pictured here, you can easily see why this beauty is winning rave notices coast to coast.

Buick engineers took the hardtop body design that has been growing tremendously in popularity over the past six years—and gave it four doors instead of two.

Simple? Sure—to all outward appearances.

But it took a brand-new kind of body with wholly new structural principles to do it—to bring this long-awaited new kind of automobile to the public in volume numbers and at popular prices.

For this is a true hardtop—with the sleek and racy look of a Convertible, because there are no center posts in the window area: on either side.

And now it has front doors for the front-seat passengers—and rear doors for the rear-seat passengers—plus room increased to the size of a full Sedan.

(It took some special kind of engineering magic, you can be sure, to hinge all four doors at their forward edges for greater safety, and more ease of entering and exiting.)

HOTTEST NEWS IN AUTOMATIC DRIVES IS VARIABLE PITCH DYNAFLOW

It's the world's first transmission with the switch-pitch principle of the modern airplane's variable pitch propeller. You get better gas mileage in cruising. You switch the pitch just by pressing the gas pedal—and get lightning-like response for passing, or for a performance thrill of the year. Standard on ROADMASTER, optional on other Series at no more extra cost than earlier versions of this wonder drive.

So it looks like Buick has scooped the industry again—and come up with the hottest news in hardtops since Buick originated the first two-door hardtop six years ago.

And you can have it now—in the low-price SPECIAL or the supremely-powered CENTURY—and either one at the modest extra cost of a 4-door model over a 2-door.

Drop in on us today—this week, for sure—and see how easily and how quickly one can be yours.
