

CATTLE HEADS OF MISSOURI.
 The Missouri Cattle Raisers' Association has just published a report on the condition of the cattle industry in that state during the year 1914. The report shows a general decline in the number of head of cattle, and a corresponding decrease in the value of the herd. The principal cause of this decline is attributed to the drought which prevailed in the state during the latter part of the year. The report also shows that the number of head of cattle in the state at the end of the year was 1,000,000, as compared with 1,100,000 at the end of the year 1913. The value of the herd at the end of the year was $100,000,000, as compared with $110,000,000 at the end of the year 1913.
