confidence to the Giver of all things. It is a custom of civilizations the mercy of God during Ramadan, to put aside the plants of the fields as increase.

All persons and religious groups are requested to participate in an effort during the month of May to offer gratitude to God for the promise of a bountiful harvest. Plans are being issued blessings from our fertile fields.

Many ministers have already expressed a desire to develop sermons on this subject. The district has obtained a supply of sermons on the Soil Stewardship delivered in the year 1953. Ministers desiring copies may obtain them from Lowell Hollar, or from W. J. Threlkeld of Soil Conservation Service with office in the Carlisle post office building, telephone 30.

The district has also obtained for distribution to churches, schools and business establishments, a supply of An Eleventh Commandment. All should read this and study it. It is practical and realistic message It reads, Thou shalt Conserve the Holy Earth as a faithful steward, conserving its resources and productivity from generation to generation. Thou shalt safeguard the fields from soil erosion, thy living waters from pollution and thy forests from desolation, and protect thy hills from overgrazing by thy herds, that thy descendants may have

Seed dusting recommended

A seed treating dust for garden and flower seeds is a wise precaution against losses from seed-rot seedling blight and damping-off according to Prof. L. Elbert Wood of the Department of Horticulture at the University of Kentucky. Such troubles are most likely to arise when soil temperatures are low, he said.

A simple way to treat the seed is to place a pinch of the dust in a seed packet and shake well before use.

Seed-treating materials are inexpensive and are generally available at seed stores. Among them are Arasan, Spergon, Tiuram, Dithane Z-78, Semesan, Fermate and Captan.

COMMENT

The following letter sent to Miss Nellie Craig has been referred to us for reply.

Dear Friend Nellie When requesting information concerning county burial grounds I wish to tell you of the place where some of my ancestors are. It is about three miles from Carlisle and back of the lower Jackstown place. Buried there is my maternal great grandfather Elisha Dunn Hamm, born Jan. 26, 1785, died Oct. 19, 1860, her husband John Hamm II, born June 13, 1782 and died May 17, 1867.

The graves are these stones in very plain, considering the length of time they have been there and there are four lines inscribed on my great grandmother's tombstone, which are legible. Also buried there are three of my kin folks family. Caleb and his wife, Angelina Jack Hamm, who was a bachelor and lived to be 90, he passed away in 1898. Bruce Willett, my mother's father—he was born July 21, 1824—died March 28, 1901 and his wife, Sarah Mann Hamm, born Feb. 20, 1843, died July 10, 1904. It is a small graveyard, a few others are interred there and it always received care, during the lifetime of my own aunts and uncles.

While they peeled potatoes, different members of the family and the possibilities of canning all kinds of fruits and vegetables were discussed. Notes of a planning projects have been popular in home demonstration work. Nutrition in present day life, Home Furnishings, work rooms with good and efficient arrangement. A step in that direction was taken in the family form home with an approved arrangement. Home demonstration has grown in numbers as well as in health of program. Mrs. Hendrix Clark acting state president that had year in the state. There were 1500 more than the year before, with approximate membership of 35,000 women. A total of 19,000 volunteer leaders related the lessons. They reached 10 home counties specialists.
