majority of these people that they did not have diabetes. Slightly more than one out of 50 were advised to have further checks made because the individual test showed they might have the disease."

"Some of the persons whose subsequent tests showed they definitely had diabetes included people who had previously been diagnosed as diabetic," he said. "After exclusion of these, it was found that 806 new cases of diabetes had been discovered. With effective, simple control measures now available, these people can live virtually normal lives."

"Because the unknown diabetic is the one usually in greatest danger, we urge all Kentuckians to take the free tests during the week of November 11 to 17."

Local officials urge all motorists to remember that children, and more particularly small children, are not concious of danger as grown people and they urge all motorists to stop any vehicle they may be driving when they see a school bus in the process of loading or unloading children.

It is always much better to observe the law than it is to be the victim of an accident which the law is designed to prevent and perhaps live for many years with the memory of having caused the death of or injury to some small child who did not realize than an approaching motor vehicle could kill or hurt them.

Persons who fail to heed the law will be cited for prosecution.

Motorists warned about passing school buses

It has been called to the attention of local law enforcement officials that the law relating to stopping behind school buses or when approaching school buses that are in the process of either loading or unloading children is not being observed on some of the highways in Nicholas County.

Christian church revival ends Sunday night

The revival at the Carlisle Christian church is increasing in attendance and interest daily Dr. Ray E. Snodgrass is bringing sermons of power and each message is a challenge to higher and more consecrated living. "This series of services is proving to be just what we expected and wanted in that it is a real revival of our church people," J. J. Whitehouse, pastor, says.

Dr. Snodgrass has announced the sermons for the rest of the meeting as follows: Thursday, "Jesus at the Door"; Friday "Spiritual Security;" Saturday, "Mocker, Procrastinator, Believer;" Sunday morning, "The True Vine;" and Sunday night, "The Unpardonable Sin."

The services begin promptly at 7:30 each evening. The closing service will be this next Sunday night. Mrs. Snodgrass is directing the music of the revival and bringing impressive solo messages each evening.

The contest between the classes of the Sunday School is close one with the possibility of any of them receiving the special award to be given next Sunday evening. A special effort is being made for a record Sunday School attendance next Sunday morning.

For the fourth time in history, Kentucky voters broke tradition. President Eisenhower was given its 10 electoral votes, but traditionally Democratic Nicholas County remained loyal to the Democratic ticket.

In Nicholas Stevenson received a 668 vote majority, losing only one precinct, Mayors office by five votes.

The Prohibition party polled 19 votes; Socialist Labor, one, and States' Rights, nine.

Sen. Clements received an 817 vote majority over Morton and Weiherby a 668 majority over John Sherman Cooper. In the representative race John T. Watts, incumbent received an 860 vote majority, almost two votes as many as his opponent, Wallace "Wah Wah" Jones.

The road bond issue won by a majority of 924 and the health levy by a 409 vote majority. A total of 2,672 votes were cast in the county, 411 less than in 1952.

County Medical Society sponsors diabetics search

An extensive search for the undetected diabetics in Nicholas County will be launched during Diabetes Week, Nov. 11-17 by the Nicholas County Medical Society.

Sponsored nationally by the American Diabetes Association, Diabetes Week marks the renewal of the annual Diabetes Detection Drive and is observed each year during the week preceding Thanksgiving. Dr. J. T. Mortiord is Chairman of the local Diabetes Detection Drive.

A Testing Center will be opened at Nicholas County hospital beginning Monday, Nov. 12 until Saturday, Nov. 17. The Testing Center will be open for testing from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The tests are free to all members of the family. The tests are simple, don't hurt, and only take a few minutes. For further information about arrangements for being tested for signs of the disease, telephone these numbers: 441 or 456.

The usual symptoms of diabetes are excessive thrist, constant hunger, frequent urination, loss of weight, intense itching, easy tiring, failing eyesight, and slow healing of cuts and scratches. However, some people may have diabetes without any symptoms at all.

The most likely targets for the disease are persons who are overweight, past 40 years of age or related to diabetics. However, anyone can develop diabetes at any age.

Mother finds missing tot dead in well

Freddy Warren Kelley, two-year-old son of Mrs. Christine Kelley and the late James Kelley of the East Union road, was found drowned in a well in the yard at the residence, about 11 a.m. Sunday.

The mother said she missed the child and went to look for him. She found the rock-weighted board over the well, had been removed and the child had fallen into the well and was dead.

Besides the mother, survivors are three brothers, Eugene, James Jr. and Donnie Lee Kelley, six sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Scott and Mrs. Juanita Walton, Maysville, and Christine Fay, Mary Brenda Jane and Wanda Kelley.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Monday in the Carlisle cemetery by the Rev. Gerald A. McNeely.

CUSTODIAL LABORER NEEDED AT POSTOFFICE

The U. S. Civil Service Commission announced this week, an examination for career-conditional appointment to the position of custodial laborer, FFS-2, in the Carlisle post office. This position is restricted by law to veterans entitled to preference under the veteran preference act.

Full information regarding the $3,000 appointment may be had at the local postoffice.

Wooden waterpipe found in county

An ancient wooden waterpipe was uncovered on the Bessie and Edward O'Neal farm last week during the digging of a pond at the site of an old spring and walled pool.

Joe Don Westfall, driving bull dozer owned by Clifton Waugh, was digging the pond from the pool on the O'Neal farm and found the wooden pipe. The wood appeared to be oak or walnut.

The "pipe" was 9 feet long and six inches in diameter. Extending from one end of the pipe to the other was a two inch hole through which water flowed from the spring to the pool.

Remembers Cleaning Pipe

O'Neal remembers having helped his father clean out the pipe during the past twenty two years. Robert Mayhriar, a neighbor, remembers that the spring existed in 1900 and he recalls subsequent groups during which time farmers hauled water from the spring. Such findings reveal interesting history.

O'Neal, cooperating with the Nicholas County Soil Conservation District, built a pond at the old spring site to permit better utilization and rotation of pastures.

Another progressive step was taken by this farmer a few years ago. To provide water for the household, a concrete water tank was built, a filter installed, and a barn was guttered. Other farmers planning to install a water system for home use may profit by visiting the O'Neal farm.

Realizing the importance of water control in soil and water conservation, O'Neal has one of the best diversion channel-waterways development systems in this county. All of this can be seen by driving along the Barverville road.

Council meets Monday night

For the first time in nearly three years the Carlisle city council resumed their first Monday of the month meeting date on Nov. 5.

Receiving council okays were two permits, the erection of a workshop by Eddie Barbee on McCracken street and authority to cross Spring street with a sewer line was given Bradley Dotson, provided the pavement was replaced in good condition.

Also getting council approval was the painting of a board fence between the city building and property of Dr. T. P. Scott, repair of wall in the city building apartment of Mrs. Katie Clark and repair of venetian blinds in the Hughes apartment.

On the motion of Councilman R. C. Stallsworth, seconded by Councilman Eugene Neal, council voted to give Oliver Vice a $30 increase in monthly salary making Vice's salary total $290.00. Discussion of a salary increase for City Clerk W. J. Greene was tabled until the December meeting.

Council also ratified the appointment of Eugene Purvis as Carlisle police chief, and Herman Curran as night man.

Adult class to meet Nov. 15

The second meeting of the adult class on Window Treatment and Care of soil and water conservation, O'Neal has one of the best diversion channel-waterways development systems in this county. All of this can be seen by driving along the Barverville road.

Christmas decoration training school

There will be a training school on preparing Christmas decorations in the educational building of the Methodist church Thursday, Nov. 15, presented by Henry C. Haggan, professor of agriculture at Morehead State college.

There will be two meetings, one at 1:30 p.m. which will be attended by 25 homemakers. The second will be at 7:00 p.m., attended by the Utopia club. However, anyone who wishes to attend is welcome to do so.

THE BIGGEST LITTLE FIRE in months hit Dorseyville about 5:30 p.m. Saturday when a small barn on the rear of the property of James Cray Marshall of Morgan street was destroyed. Nearby homes on both Morgan and McCracken streets were saved by the prompt, efficient work of the Carlisle fire department.—Campbell photo

Miss Mabelle Scott is honored on 94th birthday

Miss Mabelle Scott, a retired educator of Carlisle, celebrated her 94th birthday Saturday at the Nicholas County hospital where she has been a patient for the past three years.

Prior to entering the local hospital she was ill at her home for about a year and spent two years in the Paris hospital.

For a number of years her eyesight has been failing, and many of her friends have visited her and read to her from the Bible and newspapers. She is a student of the Bible and a daughter of a Presbyterian minister.

Her birthday brought many flowers, cards, visitors, and a birthday cake and gifts from the Juniors in her church.

She formerly taught in the East, in Louisville and for a few years in the Carlisle high school.

Miss Scott has three brothers, Dr. T. P. Scott, Carlisle, Robert M. Scott, Milford, Ohio, and Lewis P. Scott, Lansing, Mich.

Community meeting called by local Chamber Commerce

After many months of planning and trips to Frankfort, the industrial division of the Carlisle-Nicholas County Chamber of Commerce announces a meeting for tonight (Thursday) 7:30 o'clock circuit court room with top representatives of state industries—subject "Does Carlisle and Nicholas County Grow? or continue in the doldrums?"

Over 160 persons in the county have received notices urging them to bring friend or neighbor and attend this meeting, the idea for which originated with the local Chamber officials following a meeting with Gov. A. B. Chandler and members of the Department of Economic Development Board. Many key men in this branch of the state government as well as representatives of the L. & N. Railroad, Kentucky Utilities Company, and the State Chamber of Commerce will be on hand to help diagnose our problems and lay out a pattern for future growth.

It is imperative that you be there!

Program to honor 4-H boys and girls at Carlisle high school tonight at 7

The Nicholas County 4-H Achievement Day Program will be held at the Carlisle high school auditorium tonight, Nov. 8, 7:00 p.m. according to Glenn Clay, 4-H Council president. Mr. Clay says that the Achievement Day program is designated to honor boys and girls who have done outstanding project work. It also will give other boys and girls and their parents an opportunity to see what they might do in club work.

Dress Revue medals and blue award medal winners will be presented in addition to the honoring of the County Project Champions.

The entire program has been planned and will be presented by the 4-H club officers according to Mr. Clay.

A movie, "Scenic South" will be shown by Everett Smith immediately after the awards program. He says the movie shows you about the same scenery you would see if you were motoring through the south by car. The public is invited.

CARLISLE P.T.A. MEETS WEDNESDAY, NOV. 14

The Carlisle P.T.A. will meet Nov. 14 at 3:00 p.m. in the school auditorium. Mrs. Charles Fox will be in charge of the program.

The speaker will be Kearny Campbell, Director of Guidance Service, Vocational Guidance Division, Dept. of Education, Frankfort.

Everyone is invited to attend.

EDDIE BARBEE MOVES IN—A draftsman with the Army Mapping Service in Louisville during the war, Eddie, an expert painter, carpenter and refinisher of furniture for about 25 years, sets up business in his newly-built shop on McCracken street. Barbee, who has been a Mason for more than 30 years, is Past Master of Dougherty Lodge, No. 65, F.&A.M. and Past Worthy Patron of Mayflower Chapter, No. 250, O.E.S. He adds that he is also a great lover of cats and dogs, has been a life-long Democrat and married a Republican.—Mercury photo

Five are named to Library board

County Judge Spencer Taylor appointed five persons Wednesday as members of the board of trustees for the Nicholas County Memorial Library. Those named and their terms are as follows:

Rev. W. B. Raborn, chairman, July 1, 1960; Mrs. Bess Brumagen, July 1, 1960; Mrs. Helen Hamilton, July 1, 1959; Mrs. James Parker, July 1, 1958, and Mrs. Henry Carter, July 1, 1958.

Appointments were made because of the expiration of terms of certain members of the old board and resignation of other members.

The Memorial Library was dedicated Sept. 20, 1947.

ROTARY CLUB MEET TONIGHT AT 6:30

The Carlisle Rotary club will entertain the local 4-H club tonight at their regular meeting at 6:30 o'clock.
