Let's Get The Vaccine Into The Arms

For approximately twenty years, you and other volunteers have unselfishly given of your time, efforts and finances to help win the battle against polio. For these same twenty years (and many, many more years) mothers and fathers have offered fervent prayers that their children be protected against polio.

Your efforts have been rewarded. Their prayers have been answered. We have the weapon that will do the job—the polio vaccine. Unfortunately, too many parents are not "listening" while their prayers are being answered.

Physicians in a Southern city agreed to have their offices open on Saturdays (which other wise would be closed) for the purpose of giving polio vaccination.

An example how polio strikes. A family in North Carolina has eight children, two are out of the state. The remaining six at home have polio. None of the children have had a Salk vaccine shot. Remember—Vaccinations NOW will prevent paralytic polio this fall and next year. This is a plea and an urge to help keep polio from striking your children, friends and loved ones. Let's get the vaccine into the arms. — senalty set the Muskies too far back for the extra point.

Musketeers

The Stanford Wildcats, a much smaller team than the Musketeers made their only threat early in the second quarter when they drove to the Carlisle 13 yard line. A five yard penalty set the Wildcat attempt back to the 18, and some fine defensive play by Gaylor and Junior Wilson plus two incomplete passes killed the effort. Stanford's bulldozing half back, Ron Gilliam, looked at times as if he might give a repeat performance of last year's work against the Musketeers, but fell short in his attempts.

Statistically, the Musketeers came out ahead of the Wildcats. Also Carlisle first downs—10, passes attempted — 5, passes completed—2, yards gained by passing—88, passes intercepted—2, penalties—35 yds, fumbles recovered — 3, fumbles — 2, yards gained rushing — 174. Stanford first downs—6, passes attempted—5, passes completed—0, yards by passing—0, passes intercepted—2, penalties — 30 yards, fumbles—3, fumbles recovered—2, yards gained by rushing 125.

The Action

Thirteen plays and three first downs after the kick-off, Carlisle had crossed pay-dirt. The kick-off went to Stanley Wilson on the ten and was returned to the Carlisle 20. Gaylor Wilson smashed the center of the Stanford line to the 24, followed by another crack at centre by Stanley Wilson to the 31. An off-side penalty on Carlisle set the ball back five yards from the line of scrimmage to the 18. Gayle Wilson came back with two crack off right tackle to the 27 and 32 for a first down.

McGuffy went through centre to the 38. Gayle Wilson hit off left tackle to the 41, and Stanley Wilson bulldozed over the left side of the opposition to the 50 and 47, then around right end to the Stanford 39 for another first down.

With time for one play left, Wilson again moved left and tossed a beautiful pass to LeRoy Hawkins, right end who pulled down in style inside the double strips. The attempt for the extra point failed.

Much credit for the Carlisle victory belongs to the Musketeer line. The ends, LeRoy Hawkins, Billy Straw, right guard Ronnie Whaley and tackle Ray Gaunce played a much improved game. Gayle Wilson came through in great style in the backfield after looking off the game he had set last season.

Friday night, the Musketeers will meet the Elks of Elkhorn high school in a game to be played at Frankfort. The Elks walked over the Musketeers last year.

The Elkhorn squad has yet to taste victory during the '56 season. Friday night they dropped the game to Henry Clay 21-6.

Cover-crop time approaching

Cover the soil with growing plants in the winter to reduce erosion and frost damage says Lyle Leonard, Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service soils specialist. One such way is planting cover crops.

Sowing time generally is in September. Barley also is good for grain and cover and should be sown in September, particularly on very good land. Rye is good for late-seeding or on thin land.

Leonard recommends that cover crops follow cultivated crops. Lespedeza land calls for a cover especially after grazing. Likewise, "picked-corn" land can use cover.

Leonard says wheat as a cover crop gives a good grain crop. Vetch can be used on tobacco land that's furnish good pasture. It should be sown early in September particularly on very good land. Rye is good for late-seeding or on thin land.

Four issues affect Kentuckians

Four principal issues affecting Kentucky are being developed by Senator Earle C. Clements and former Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby, Democratic nominees for the U. S. Senate, as they carry their campaign over the state.

In talking with Kentuckians," Clements said, "Lawrence Wetherby and I find most of them are concerned primarily about the heavy decline in farm income, the high rate of Federal taxation on individuals and small business, a sound national program of conservation of natural resources with special emphasis on water development projects, and the way the cost of living keeps going up."

Roger Womack, Nicholas County chairman for the Democratic campaign announced Tuesday the selection of Democratic co-chairwomen. They are Miss Beulah Hughes and Mrs. Beulah Dollins. Chairman Womack further stated that boldly the campaign was getting under way and selection of precinct workers would be announced soon.

These are matters that hit home to the people of Kentucky. They are matters that involve their day-by-day efforts to make a decent living for themselves and their families. The people want action on these issues—the right kind of action in Washington—and they are looking to the two Democratic candidates for the Senate and the eight Democratic candidates for the House of Representatives to get action next year."

Both Clements and Wetherby have pointed to the records of the Republican nominees for the Senate to back up their contention that their opponents have failed to give attention to the stake of Kentuckians in these specific economic issues.

Elks hand Musketeers first defeat; Lancaster next conference foe

By Bill Woodall

Elkhorn Consolidated high school of Franklin county dropped the Carlisle Musketeers from the undefeated list Friday night at Frankfort by an easy 24-20 victory.

Scoring twice in the first quarter, twice in the second period and once in the third, the Elks resisted to the victory behind substitutions which would have been a match for the Carlisle squad.

The Musketeer scores came in the second and fourth quarters on a beautiful pass from Gayle Wilson to Le Roy Hawkins, and two short line plunges by Gayle Wilson. Asbury Asbury tallied the extra points on end runs.

Statistically the game went: First downs—Carlisle 7, Elks 5, yards gained rushing—Carlisle 123, Elks 268; yards lost rushing Carlisle 9, Elks 15; yards gained passing—Carlisle 27, Elks 16, passes attempted—Carlisle 7, Elks 3; passes completed Carlisle 1, Elks 2; passes intercepted—turns Carlisle 16 yards, Elks 35 yards; penalties, Carlisle 15 yards, Elks 50 yards; fumbles—Carlisle one.

Johnny Hearn, a little 145-pound back tallied all the Elkhorn touchdowns on end runs or off tackle plays.

After a drive from the Elkhorn 43 yard line in seven plays, Hearn scooted off tackle one yard for the first score early in the initial period. A pass to Billy Perkins was good for the extra point.

The Elk's second score came after the Muskies had failed to make a first down on the kick after touchdown. Carlisle punted to the Elk 37 and on the first play from scrimmage Hearn cut off right tackle to go the distance, Hutchinson pulled in a pass for the bonus point.

Carlisle's first score began on the Muskie 38 as the quarter ended. Gayle Wilson moved the ball in three plays to the Elk 28 and a first down McGuffy went to the 27. A pass was incomplete. Gayle Wilson then uncorked a beautiful pass to Le Roy Hawkins in the end zone for the score. The try for the point failed.

Again the Elks moved at will to eight plays the ball rested on the Carlisle five yard line

VISITING HERE

J. Patrick Conley, Canal Zone, is visiting his brother, Joe P. Conley.

OLD HOME—A picture of the Hugh Henry-Rachel Anderson Henry home, in which they were living in 1788, seven years before Kentucky became a state, is located on Boone Creek in Bourbon county just across the Nicholas County line. It is one of the oldest log houses still standing in this part of the country. Recent owners, the Wasson Brothers, had weatherstripping applied to preserve the logs but most of the interior is as it was in the 18th century. Hugh and Rachel Henry had seven sons and one daughter. Three of the sons fought in the war of 1812. Their youngest son, David, the great grandfather of Jesse T. Potts and Ernest Sharp and many others, was born in this house in 1798. Many descendants of Hugh and Rachel Henry through their son John's four sons, Volney, William, James and George live at Carlisle, Paris and Lexington, while others are scattered from coast to coast. John's two daughters, Nancy and Louise were the ancestors of the Tucker families. The Henry Family's eleventh reunion was featured in a recent issue of The Carlisle Mercury.

Two-day Youth Fair offers entertainment for all ages

The 19th Annual Nicholas County Youth Fair will be held on Friday and Saturday of this week with general exhibits being on display and judging to be completed by Friday noon, Ewell Clinkenbeard, Fair president, stated.

Committees on arrangements will prepare the Armory on Wednesday afternoon and Wednesday night, and the first entries will be received in home economics, Thursday afternoon and before 7:00 p.m. on Thursday when the judging of home economics will be done. Other judging of crops and tobacco will be done Friday morning beginning at 9 o'clock and entries of the items may be made either on Thursday or Friday morning. Fair enthusiasts throughout the county are urged to cooperate in entering exhibits along all lines that are offered in the premium list.

Expert judges have been secured in all divisions, to judge exhibits on a quality basis. President Clinkenbeard stated that since tobacco harvest is about complete that he hopes Nicholas Countians will have opportunity to enjoy an old fashioned County Fair with pumpkins, corn, tobacco, crops, flowers and many other items displayed in which Nicholas Countians take great pride.

Important Changes Are Announced
