Special Notice To All Tobacco Growers In Nicholas County

It has been announced by Mr. John B. Chansler, District Supervisor for the Federal Corp Insurance Corporation, that the farmers in Nicholas County will have an opportunity this year for the first time, to insure their tobacco against all hazards, such as drought, flood, fire, hail, wind, frost, insects, plant disease, and house burn.

The program has been in operation in Kentucky since 1945, starting that year with two counties, one of which was Bourbon. New counties have been added until there are now 38 counties in the state in which the tobacco growers have this opportunity to insure their tobacco.

Mr. Harold C. Mann, Mr. Howard Allison Jr., and Mr. John E. Soper Jr. have been appointed to serve you in this program. Any information you might desire can be obtained from these men, or by calling Mr. Chansler at 408 Carlisle, Ky.

Mr. Chansler states that for this year they are only allowed to sell 400 farmers this insurance, and that near 100 have already been sold. Anyone that is interested should not put off getting in touch with one of these men.

The Federal Crop Insurance Program is a part of The Department Of Agriculture, and is backed by The United States Government. It is also a permanent plan of insurance for the tobacco grower.

Phone users total 1098

Looking back on the year 1956, Southern Bell Telephone Company today reported the largest expansion and improvement program in its history.

Clyde Watts, manager, of Southern Bell in Carlisle said that some 40 additional telephones were placed in operation in 1956. This brought to 1098 the total number of subscribers, and in addition, 52 customers were provided with a higher grade of service.

These improvements marked a continuation of the largest telephone program ever undertaken in Carlisle, Mr. Watts said. During the past ten years, the number of telephones has increased from 757 to 1207, a gain over 59 per cent.

State-wide Program

Carlisle's telephone expansion during 1956 was part of a state-wide program. Service was extended last year into a large number of rural areas of Nicholas County previously without telephones, and the biggest rural expansion in Carlisle's history will be completed in 1957.

"Southern Bell hopes to be able to continue with its broad improvement and expansion program during 1957," Mr. Watts said. "The end in view is to furnish telephone service at the earliest practical date to everyone within its area desiring it."

Kenneth R. Lynam USN aids in Pacific ocean rescue

Suva, Fiji Islands, Jan. 22 (Delayed) (FHTNC)—K. R. Lynam, quartermaster third class, USN, of Carlisle and son of Mrs. Minnie Lynam and the late Holman Lynam, was aboard the destroyer USS Higbee in the South Pacific when a distress message was received from the New Zealand merchantman Matua early this morning.

Capt. H G. Munson, Commander of Destroyer Division 31, ordered the entire division to reverse course and proceed at maximum safe speed to the rescue of the stricken vessel.

Having been notified by radio that the destroyers were on the way, the master of the Matua started transferring his 126 passengers, including one American couple, to life boats to be ready for rescue.

All were safely rescued by the four destroyers of the division. The women and children were immediately checked for injuries by the medical personnel aboard the ships. Cigarettes were issued to those destitute of them and breakfast served to all hands.

Lynam said, "We went alongside the merchant ship and rescued 18 passengers. They didn't seem to be in any immediate danger as there was a fairly calm sea."

In the meantime Navy divers from the Flagship USS Kyes had gone under water to check the hull of the ship and the reef. They reported the hull to be sound and the reef sandy. The decision was then made to tow the ship off the reef.

Was Signalman

Lynam continued, "From what I saw, I believe the commanding officer of the Kyes should be lauded for the expert handling of his ship in towing the Matua off the reef. Expert seamanship was also evident. I was signalman and radio operator in our whaleboat."

"I believe we were the only ones with direct radio communications to the Matua."

After the Kyes had towed the ship off the reef, the Matua proceeded to Suva under her own power. The passengers remained on the destroyers during the passage to Suva. They were furnished the noon meal and disembarked here this evening.

During the trip native Samoan and Fijian women passengers sang native songs, played ukuleles and performed dances on the weather deck to the great delight of the officers and crew.

Busy Bee 4-H club wins again

The Busy Bee 4-H Club of Carlisle was selected this week as the most outstanding club in the annual 4-H Achievement Contest sponsored by Kentucky Utilities Company. This is the second straight year the Carlisle club has won the grand prize over the more than 1,000 Kentucky 4-H Clubs eligible in the competition.

K. U. awards almost $1,000 in cash prizes each year to winning clubs in the counties where it supplies electric service. First prize is $50.

County winners were selected by the County Agents and Home Demonstration Agents and the district and regional judging done by the 4-H Department of the University of Kentucky Extension Services.

Prizes will be awarded at a series of banquets and dinner meetings given by K. U. to honor the winning clubs.

The judges reported that the Carlisle Club was particularly outstanding in community activities, its safety program and the number of projects completed. The 40 members of the club completed 113 projects during the year and earned an average of 6.000 points each in the rating system used in determining the outstanding club.

They also praised the direction and encouragement given the 4-H'ers by their leader, Mrs. Nelle Brayfield, fourth grade teacher in the Carlisle city school. She has been a leader in 4-H work for 27 years and also in the Carlisle club for the last 13 years.

BUSY BEES LEARN THEY'VE WON AGAIN—Four happy members of the Busy Bees 4-H Club of Carlisle group around their leader, Mrs. Nelle Brayfield after being informed they have been chosen as the most outstanding club in the annual Kentucky Utilities Company 4-H-Achievement Contest for the second straight year. Adult farmer course slated

Raymond J. Wesley, supt. of Nicholas County schools, has announced the opening of an Adult Farmer Class at the Nicholas County high school Wednesday, Feb. 6, at 7 p.m. This course will run for 10 sessions and will be conducted by John Adams, vocational agriculture teacher.

Bring A Friend

The dates and subject of the course will be decided upon by the group at this first meeting. Mr. Adams has expressed a hope that each of the 25 farmers enrolled last year will return and bring a friend or two along with him.

There will be no charge for the course since it is one of the services provided by the Nicholas County high school.
