OFFICE CLOSED

The Nicholas County Public Assistance office in the courthouse will not be open for business on Tuesday, May 28. The office will reopen Wednesday at 8

It is a pleasure for me to be with you today to dedicate this area to the 4-H young people. This summer, the camp will be open for the first time. It will provide the 4-H youngsters of Nicholas county and 27 other counties with the best camping facilities available.

It is a tribute to the people of Nicholas county that the camp is here at all. They raised the money, and with one contribution from the 4-H, bought the 338-acre camp site. The land was deeded free.

The people of Nicholas county have built this caretakers lodge and erected the individual cottages for campers. They plan to put up more cottages this year and next until the camp reaches its full potential.

The people of Nicholas county came to us, at Frankfort, and asked the highway department to build a road to serve the camp. And they kept after Henry Ward until he built the road. At a cost of about $295,000.

Then, they came back to Frankfort to see me about a lake, to be developed under the Kentucky Small Lakes Program. We decided the camp would certainly provide better recreational facilities for the youngsters if there was a lake. Fortunately, it was possible to build, not only one, but two lakes under the Small Lakes Program. Using the road the highway department built as a dam.

The camp now has a 21-acre lake and a five acre lake for the use of the 4-H young people.

The state was happy to help out where it could. In order to develop this fine camp. We believe in the future of Kentucky's young people. Any time we are given the opportunity to provide a better future for them, we are going to take advantage of that opportunity.

I think Kentucky has proved this in the past few years, as we have launched the greatest education programs in this state's history. We are building more schools, providing better-qualified teachers and giving the best education that our young people have ever had.

Our children don't spend all their time in classrooms, however, and that is why I am pleased to see major projects like this to provide better summertime activities for them.

That is one of the reasons why we have embarked on such a strong parks-planning program—to give better recreational facilities to our youth. In many of our parks we have built or are building nature trails, so when the young people go there, they have the opportunity to get an education of another kind—an education in the natural phenomena of Kentucky.

That is the kind of education the 4-H'ers of Nicholas and these other 26 counties are going to get at this camp. It is an education that will stay with them all their life.
