Midway Junior College Offering Scholarships

Girl graduates of high schools who have given up hope of attending college this fall because of lack of finances are being offered scholarships at Midway Junior College.

Strange as it may seem Midway Junior College still has 80 scholarships open for girls. These can be a full or partial scholarship depending upon the financial situation of the individual girl and her family.

Scholarships are also open to girls who will be in their junior or senior year of high school at Midway College's high school division, Pinkerton High School.

In the case of a girl who is a junior in high school this fall, she could obtain a full four-year scholarship to see her all the way through two years of college at Midway.

Five courses of study are offered at Midway Junior College—liberal arts, teacher education, commerce, home economics, and nursing.

The one requirement for all scholarships is that the girl must be willing to work 12 hours each week at the college. Another requirement for the college students is that they must have maintained an average of C or above during their high school years.

Girls interested in scholarships should write the Office of Admissions and Financial Aid, Midway Junior College, Midway, KY 40347.

Registration is Aug. 29. High school classes begin Aug. 30 and college classes start Sept. 2, although Dr. Albert Cox, president of the 125 year old school, has stated that registration can be held open as late as Sept. 10 for those who must register late.

Miller Named Fish-Wildlife Commissioner

Arnold Mitchell, for the past 14 years director of Game Management for the Department of Fish and Wildlife and a career fish and wildlife man, has been named commissioner of that Department. The action was taken by the Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission after reviewing the 12 applicants for the position left vacant with the resignation of Minor Clark on July 1.

Mitchell, who has been with the department since his graduation from Purdue University with a degree in forestry and game management, is a native of Carlisle County. He served in the U.S. Air Force in the early forties after which he enrolled at Purdue. He came with the Department as a game biologist after his graduation and had served as biologist, District wildlife director, manager of Ballard Wildlife Management area, and as director of Game Management which position he has held since 1957.

Dr. Robert C. Webb, commission chairman, pointed out that the commission had given intense and conscientious study to the applicants and had come up with what the commission considers a man highly capable of administering the huge fish and game program of the state and he urged sportsmen everywhere to join in a sincere effort to assist Mitchell and the commission in making the Kentucky department one of the very best in the nation.

The commission, in its regular quarterly session, announced the waterfowl seasons for Kentucky.

The goose season opens Nov. 15 and extends through Jan. 23 while for the Ballard Management area the dates are Dec. 1 through Jan. 22. The limits are the same as for last season with five per day or five in possession.

For ducks the statewide season opens on Nov. 28 and extends through Jan. 16. On the Ballard area the dates are Dec. 1 through Jan. 15. The daily bag limit is four with a possession limit of eight. The daily limit may include four mallards, or four black ducks but no more than two wood ducks may be taken per day, nor may the hunter have more than four wood ducks in his possession limit. Under no condition may the hunter have more than one redhead or one canvasback in his possession. However, his possession limit may include eight mallards. Scaup and blue-winged teal may be added to the above limits as bonus under certain conditions and at certain times.

Two reappointed commission members, James McGlamery, Baxter, and Dr. C.L. Allen, Martin, were sworn in for four year terms.

Dr. Webb, Grayson, who has served the past year as commission chairman, was re-elected to that position. John Botts, Glasgow, was named vice chairman and Willy Riehemann, Ft. Mitchell, was elected secretary.

Younger Boys Eligible For Scouts

A boy who has completed the fifth grade or is 11 and with the approval of his parents or guardian is eligible now to become a Boy Scout, according to Marcus McDonald, Director of Field Service, of the Blue Grass Council, Boy Scouts of America.

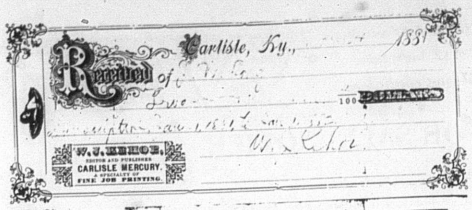
Formerly, boys had to be at least 11 years of age to join a Boy Scout troop, but the Executive Board of the national organization has changed the membership requirement so that a boy is eligible when he has "completed the fifth grade or is eleven," McDonald said.

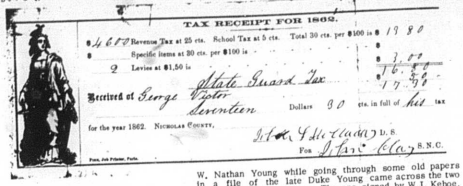
The Blue Grass Council, which serves 40 counties has 108 Scout troops. McDonald reported that the council also expects to organize about 25 new troops in the next three months during the annual fall roundup, a three-month membership campaign.

The Boy Scouts of America is in partnership with over 330 local schools, religious institutions, service clubs, PTA's civic organizations, labor unions, and other community groups that are chartered to use the Scout program.

Information about Scouting in this area is available from the Scout service center, 975 Liberty Road, Lexington, Kentucky, Phone 252-0329.

Old Papers





W. Nathan Young while going through some old papers in a file of the late Duke Young came across the two receipts reproduced here. The one signed by W.J. Kehoe, E&P of the Mercury in March 1881 is made out to J. W. Long for a $2 subscription. The other is a tax receipt showing that George Victor had paid his revenue, school, two levies and State Guard taxes. Both Long and Victor were great grandfathers of Nate's. All the various papers were well preserved considering their age.
